JAPAN BACKS DOWN ON CHINA 'FREEDOM' PLAN

Tokio Fears Reprisal at Naval Parley.

BULLETIN.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21.—(Thursday.)—Maj. Gen. Rensuke Isogai, Japanese military attache in Shanghai, said today there was a "strong possibility" that autonomy agitation would subside in north China, with the Nanking government taking independent action to "improve conditions."

BULLETIN.

NANKING, China, Nov. 21.—(Thursday.)—(AP)—A high official of the government said today the "sudden release" of Japanese pressure in north China resulted from apprehension that autonomy agitation would prejudice Japan's case in the forthcoming London naval conference.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21 [Thursday.]—Owing to sudden "illnesses" of various descriptions afflicting the chief Chinese officials scheduled to participate in the north China autonomy declaration at Peiping yesterday, the entire scheme is in abeyance.

Maj. Gen. Kenji Doihara, chief intriguer for the Kwantung branch of the Japanese army in Manchukuo, who had worked for several weeks on the scheme to separate Shantung, Hopei, Chahar, Shansi, and Suiyuan provinces from the Nanking control, quietly left Peiping for Tientsin and is not expected to return soon.

What actually happened is not known, but Gen. Han Fu-chu, war lord of Shantung, at the last minute refused to proceed to Peiping despite the strong pressure exerted by Lieut. Gen. Hayao Tada, commander of Japanese north China garrisons and other high Japanese officers who visited Han's headquarters in recent days.

Others Grow Cold.

The Japanese had expected Han Fu-chu to take a leading part. When Han failed to appear in Peiping, other Chinese generals involved immediately developed illnesses. Shang Chen, head of Hopei province, went to a hospital at Paoting, while Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, commander of the Peiping-Tientsin area, suddenly went to Tientsin to visit his aged mother and refused to see visitors.

Among numerous rumors circulating here regarding failure of Doihara's scheme, it is reported that Tokio, due to adverse sentiment of London and Washington, lost enthusiasm and informed Nanking that Japan would not assist the secessionists. Chinese officials declared Doihara had proceeded too rapidly and lacked the support of the Tokio war ministry. Although the autonomous movement was slowed up, reports indicated it is inevitable that it will be carried through to completion.

Subordinates to Continue.

Akira Ariyoshi, Japanese ambassador, was in Nanking for a long interview with Dictator Chiang Kai-shek yesterday. Afterward Gen. Chiang informed the press that he had told Ariyoshi of "certain measures shortly to be put into execution in Hopei and other northern provinces which are expected to relieve the Japanese anxiety."

Then Ariyoshi stated to the press he had received assurances that the Chinese government was adequately prepared to cope with the situation in north China. Ariyoshi said he had also received assurances that Nanking desired to continue friendly relations with Japan. In addition to Ariyoshi and Gen. Chiang the meeting was attended by subordinates of both sides, who will continue the conversations.

Militarists Displeased.

TOKIO, Nov. 21.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Japanese military authorities are "highly displeased" at the definite setback to the north China autonomy movement, the Rengo [Japanese] News agency reported today from China.

Japanese sources said the "machinations" of the Nanking government were responsible for the attitude of the Chinese generals.

SUPER-CHIEF'S ENGINE BURNS; 2 ARE INJURED

Gallup, N. M., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The new Super-Chief train of the Santa Fe railway, which left Chicago at 7 p. m. Tuesday for a fast run to Los Angeles, was halted six miles west of Gallup tonight when the front half of its 3,600 horse power Diesel electric engine caught fire and was disabled.

V. H. Wilson, a division superintendent of the railroad, and Louis W. Goodrich, Diesel engine supervisor, were burned when they went into the machinery compartment of the locomotive to investigate the blaze. Both were brought to a Gallup hospital, where it was said their condition was not serious.

Fire Department Called.

The Gallup fire department went to the scene and extinguished the flames after a short battle. The other half of the Diesel power plant, which was built in two identical sections, then backed the train into the station here.

After a three hour delay a steam locomotive was pressed into service and the coaches were started again toward the Super-Chief's destination, Los Angeles. It was announced, however, that the effort at a speed run had been abandoned.

The passengers aboard, including Gen. Charles Gates Dawes of Chicago, other business leaders, railroad officials, and newspaper men who had been invited to ride on the new train's public test trip, were unaware of what was wrong when the train stopped. Most of them stayed aboard to continue into Los Angeles, but the technical experts remained to make an official investigation of the fire today.

Will Go On with Plans.

President Samuel T. Bledsoe of the Santa Fe, a passenger, declared that ill fortune on this trip would make no difference in the road's plan to inaugurate a much faster service to the coast, with Diesel motive power. The present Chief requires 55 hours.

At the time of the disablement of the locomotive the Super-Chief had made almost a sensational run from Chicago. The 451 miles to Kansas City had been made in 420 minutes. Its average speed to the point of the enforced halt was figured at 58.25 miles per hour and it was figured that if this average had been maintained the Super-Chief would have arrived in Los Angeles at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow with an elapsed time of 39½ hours.

Aimed at 43 Hours.

It had been assumed when the train left Chicago—no official announcement on this was made—that the Santa Fe officials had aimed at a 43-hour journey, but would not object to a much faster run.

The big Diesel locomotive had already made a westbound trip, with nine full coaches in tow, in a little over 41 hours, and had gone east from Los Angeles to Chicago in the record breaking time of 39 hours 34 minutes. It was more than two hours ahead of the planned schedule.

C. F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors corporation; Joseph E. Otis of Chicago, George W. Young, vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and L. S. Hungerford of the Pullman company were among those aboard.

Pennsy Train Derailed.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Lives of several score passengers on the Pittsburgh-Chicago express of the Pennsylvania railroad were imperiled tonight when the train was derailed at Loucks Crossing, two miles west of here, after hitting an automobile driven by Bernard Rose, athletic coach at Wheeler High school. Rose and a companion jumped to safety before the crash.

Husband Loses Meal Ticket and Wife Who Went with It

Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort granted an uncontested divorce on the ground of cruelty yesterday to Mrs. Pauline Debs, 19 years old, 4239 Fillmore street, from Louis Debs, 18 years old, 827 Eastwood avenue. When Mrs. Debs filed her suit last June the court suggested that she attempt a reconciliation with her husband. Yesterday, under questioning, Mrs. Debs testified that Debs ate his fill at the tavern of her parents in Lyons during the summer, but made no effort to adjust their domestic difficulties.

Bare 'Miser' Will Jury Plot; Three Seized

Two men and a woman were arrested last night and were questioned at the state's attorney's office in regard to jury tampering which resulted yesterday in the declaration of a mistrial for Julius P. Waitches, attorney charged with conspiracy to forge a fake will to the $100,000 estate of James Thomas Kelly, so-called flophouse miser.

Those held are John J. Bagdonas, undertaker at 2506 West 63d street, who has already been sentenced to a year in the Bridewell for contempt of the Probate court in connection with the Kelly fortune; William Burchard, 31 years old, 9800 Aberdeen street, and Mrs. Anna Malloy, 56 years old, 1130 East 47th street.

Both Men Make Admissions.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin, both the men have admitted tampering with jurors in the hope of getting Waitches off.

The jury to try Waitches was chosen Tuesday and the members allowed to go home that night. Yesterday one juror informed Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, presiding, that he had been approached and urged to give Waitches "a break." After a consultation with Mr. Sherwin and the defense attorney, Ode Rankin, a juror was withdrawn and the mistrial declared.

On information furnished by the juror, Burchard, an ex-bartender, was seized. He readily admitted that he had urged the juror to help Waitches. He had been asked to do this, he added, by a friend. The name of the friend was not disclosed.

Later a woman was questioned [her name was withheld] and told of hearing Bagdonas and another woman discussing plans to approach others of the jurors. This brought the arrest of Bagdonas, and he, according to Mr. Sherwin, also made damaging admissions.

Woman Seized Leaving Court.

Mrs. Malloy was taken into custody as she left the courtroom in the morning. Mr. Sherwin pointed her out when he remembered that she had once approached him with a plea in behalf of Waitches. In her possession were found slips of paper containing the names and addresses of jurors.

The forged will of Kelly was produced soon after his death last March.

TWO U. S. PLANES CRASH IN JUNGLE; SIX FLYERS SAFE

PANAMA CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A triple death threat to a group of American flyers in the interior of Panama today failed to claim a single victim.

One engine of a large army plane went dead near the village of Ocu, and Maj. R. D. Prescott, American director of communications in Panama, Capt. L. M. Boswell, and Sergt. W. R. Tanner of the American army bailed out.

They floated safely to earth in their parachutes while Capt. J. H. Wallace and Capt. F. A. Armstrong brought the crippled plane safely down to a hazardous jungle landing.

Another plane, piloted by Maj. F. O. Hunter, went to assist the grounded flyers. It turned over as it landed, its brakes failing to hold.

Col. Roosevelt's Son Held for Shot at Autoist

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Cornelius Roosevelt, grandson of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, was arrested tonight, with a companion, after they shot a motorist, police reported, with a weapon described as "an imported air rifle."

Roosevelt and the companion, Peter Deflorey, were booked on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Newspaper Man Struck.

They were arrested by Patrolmen Hugh J. O'Neil and William P. Crowe of the Metropolitan district police almost at the minute John Barry, Boston newspaper man, was reporting he had been struck on the neck by a small leaden slug as he passed a fraternity house on Memorial drive. The two officers reported their car had been struck by pellets at the same spot. They took the two men, students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, into custody before they knew of Barry's complaint.

The officers reported that the pellets did little damage to the police car, but just then they were confronted by Barry, who had reported being struck just a few minutes before. The boys had fired from an upper window of the Delta Psi fraternity house.

"The Other Roosevelt."

"Which Roosevelt?" O'Neil said he demanded.

"The other Roosevelt for a change," he quoted Cornelius as retorting.

The students were not able to arrange bail immediately. Cambridge police declined to accept a check tendered by young Roosevelt, and the cash assets of the two, they told police, were 15 cents. They spent this for cigarets.

Several hours later the students were released in $500 bail each, furnished by "a friend of Roosevelt's father."

Dog Barks Bass; Mumps of His Master Blamed

Jefferson, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Freckles, a 5 year old black and white fox terrier, was barking bass tonight. Dr. William Storch, a veterinarian, said the dog had the mumps. Freckles had refused to leave the bedside of his 9 year old master, who was confined recently with the ailment.

Perjury Bared in Rappaport's Trial; 4 Held

After a dramatic trial, during which one witness, recalled to the stand, admitted that he had given perjured testimony for the defense, a jury in the court of Judge Joseph Burke last night found Joseph Rappaport guilty of murder and fixed his punishment at death in the electric chair.

Rappaport, who is 30 years old and lives at 3430 Douglas boulevard, was described by the state as a dope peddler. Testimony was produced to show that he shot and killed Max Dent, 30 years old, a government informer, on Oct. 8 near his home at 1859 South Lawndale avenue.

Gives Movie Show Alibi.

The state claimed that Dent was slain because he was to have appeared as a witness against Rappaport in the federal court, where the latter was to face a charge of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law. Rappaport offered an alibi that he was in a picture show when the shooting occurred.

The disclosure that perjury had been committed was made in the afternoon, shortly after the court had overruled a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. The admitted perjurer is Joseph Edward Schufeldt, 27 years old, 1838 Laflin street, a handbill distributor, and his false testimony was given when he was called as the first defense witness.

First Story Aids Defendant.

He testified he saw the shooting and described the killer as a short, stout man wearing a shabby sweater. Rappaport is of medium height, slim, and is a natty dresser. Shufeldt's testimony was regarded as a blow to the state's case and during the noon recess he was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle, who was conducting the prosecution.

At the beginning of the afternoon session Shufeldt was recalled to the stand by Prosecutor Boyle.

Q. [by Boyle]—Did you see the shooting on Oct. 8? A.—No.

Q.—Who asked you to tell the story you did this morning? A.—Joe Rappaport's sister, Martha.

Q.—Where were you on the night of the shooting? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Then the whole story you told this morning is untrue? A.—Yes.

Simon Herr, defense attorney, then reminded Shufeldt that he had been requested to advise Herr if his story was true or not at a meeting in the attorney's office last Saturday night.

Four Taken in Custody.

"And you still persisted in lying to me and to this court and jury despite the harm you may have done to the defendant's chances?" Herr asked.

"I did it as a favor to the family," Shufeldt replied. "I was told to say that."

Following his testimony, Shufeldt and Martha Rappaport, 31 years old, the sister who he said persuaded him to tell the perjured story, were taken into custody. Later state's attorney's police arrested Rose Rappaport, 23 years old, another sister of the defendant, and Mrs. Estelle Cohen, 3346 Douglas boulevard, another defense witness. Toward the close of the day's testimony Mrs. Cohen told on the stand a story almost identical with that of Shufeldt. Rose Rappaport is to be questioned to learn whether she had any knowledge of the perjury plot.

No charges were placed immediately against any of the quartet.

ETHIOPIA HURLS ENEMY BACK ON SOUTHERN LINE

Crack Riflemen Stop Italian Advance.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 21 (Thursday).—Emperor Haile Selassie returned unexpectedly to his capital by plane today after an aerial tour of strategic Ethiopian points confronting the Italian invaders on the southern front.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Slashing Ethiopian victories at the cost of hundreds of casualties were reported tonight from the southern battle front while Emperor Haile Selassie personally urged on the defenders of his ancient empire.

The successful ambuscade of a train of 72 Italian trucks, carrying Somali warriors and munitions, was described in unofficial reports from Harrar.

More than 150 Somalis were killed or wounded, while Ethiopian casualties were estimated in excess of 300. The battle, south of Sasa Baneh on the east bank of the river Fafan, was waged without quarter.

53 Trucks Captured.

Several Italian officers were wounded, but escaped, and 53 of the trucks were believed captured, the Harrar dispatches stated.

At the same time it was reliably reported 1,000 of the empire's crack marksmen, under Fitaurari [commander] Bakala Ayela, had halted an Italian push in an important pass in the Radowa hills, inflicting heavy losses.

[These hills are about 50 miles southeast of Sasa Baneh, to the east of the River Fafan, and about 175 miles southeast of Jigjiga, key Ethiopian city of the south. Because of the similarity of the locale of the two reported battles, the reports possibly refer to the same engagement.]

The "Conquering Lion of Judah," who left his capital by airplane yesterday for an unannounced destination, was reported to have passed through Harrar by automobile, en route to Diredawa, on the Franco-Ethiopian railway.

Movements Well Guarded.

His movements were closely guarded, but it was believed he had inspected the headquarters of Ras Nasibu, Ethiopian commander on the southern front, and had visited hospitals at Jigjiga.

In contrast to Italian reports of the slaughter of 2,000 Ethiopians in an aerial bombardment south of Makale, the Ethiopian government announced 10 Ethiopians had been slain and 30 wounded when a military detachment was attacked in that vicinity Monday by 15 or 20 planes.

Wolde Giorgis, commanding Ethiopian troops which, an announcement stated, captured six Italian tanks and killed six Italian officers at Anele on Nov. 12, arrived in Addis Ababa and said:

"We do not fear tanks. Once we are near them they are lost."

He said the six tanks were captured by cutting them off from the infantry. Then the Ethiopians poured gasoline over them and set them afire, "the heat forcing the occupants to surrender."

Italians Face Counter Attack.

MAKALE, Ethiopia, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Italy's strongly entrenched northern army prepared tonight for an Ethiopian counter attack.

Headquarters officers said from 15,000 to 20,000 warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie are massing south of Makale and may attack at any time.

Another official report said a strong column of the enemy was marching on Selicot, only eight miles from Makale.

This movement, an Italian spokesman said, was being made despite the terrific defeat administered the Ethiopians by an airplane squadron two days ago in a valley ten miles south of Selicot. He said apparently the advancing force is not the one routed by the Fascist bombers.

Report Massing at Tzellemti.

A large group of the enemy was reported to be massing at Tzellemti, in the Tembien area, which faces the Italian right flank. Forces of Ras

Flying columns from Hauzien, it was learned tonight, encountered strong groups of enemy warriors in the Tembien zone on Sunday and Monday, and dispersed them with heavy losses.

On the southern front cloudbursts were reported to be impeding the Italian operations.

Ethiopian Bodies Removed.

Scouting planes which flew over the scene of Monday's fierce battle said only a few Ethiopians would be seen and that the bodies of hundreds of warriors had been removed from the battlefield. Italians estimated 2,000 Ethiopians were killed.

Three Italian flyers who made a forced landing in a mountain valley after the fight were rescued today by a squadron of Italian native troops. They were injured slightly in the crash.

FIVE CONVICTED OF POLL FRAUDS GAIN NEW TRIAL

Convictions of five election officials on contempt of court charges growing out of alleged ballot frauds were reversed and remanded for retrial yesterday by the Illinois Appellate court. The court held that intentional fraud had not been shown.

The defendants are Harold N. Cohn, Bertram H. Kohn, Betty Fabish, Elizabeth Heller, and Fannie Hochstadter, all of whom served as polling place officials in the 36th precinct of the Fourth ward in the election of Nov. 8, 1932. They were found guilty of contempt of court by Judge Win G. Knoch of Du Page county, sitting in the County court here, and in April, 1934, Cohn and Kohn were sentenced to sixty days each in the county jail and the three women were sentenced to thirty days each.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday issued a capias for the arrest of Reginald M. Franklin, a Democratic election judge charged with fraud in the Fifty-third precinct of the Twenty-seventh ward in the 1934 primary. Judge Jarecki specified that the capias be served by a deputy sherif. Franklin was freed last Monday in Superior court on a writ of habeas corpus on the technicality that the writ of attachment was served upon him by a special officer instead of by a deputy sherif.

DONOVAN URGES REGIONAL VIEW ON SOCIAL LAWS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Means to avoid further federal legislative encroachment on states' rights were discussed today before the Wisconsin Bar association at the Elks' club here.

William J. Donovan of New York, an assistant U. S. attorney general in the Hoover administration, declared regional compacts could be reached that would enable states to enact laws of their own on labor and social matters. He believed that such action would be better than national legislation.

Attorney Donovan said he would not favor a U. S. constitutional amendment to give congress power "to regulate, without restriction, all industries over any territory, with regard to all subjects which it might consider related to social welfare." He added that "an amendment permitting the adoption of social legislation by the states by means of procedure already available . . . would be another matter."

300 Italians Return from War with Eye Ailments

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Reuter's News Agency reports from Italy's Dodecanese islands, via Athens, say 300 Italians suffering from eye trouble—some of them blind—were landed at Carpathos from East Africa. The islands are under strict military surveillance by sea and air, the dispatches state.

MOTORIST SENT TO BRIDEWELL.

George Sapikas, 19 years old, 736 West 35th street, was sentenced to 15 days in the Bridewell and fined $50 by Municipal Judge J. M. Braude yesterday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

MUSSOLINI LAYS DOWN CROP RULES IN BOYCOTT FIGHT

Satisfied That Italy Can Feed Itself.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 21 (Thursday).—Italian authorities today gave recognition to new Anglo-French negotiations for pease in east Africa, asserting they watched to see whether an acceptable basis for discussion would be forthcoming from Paris.

This source said that Premier Mussolini would watch as a spectator the Paris negotiations between Premier Laval, Sir George Russell Clerk, the British ambassador, and Maurice Peterson, head of the London foreign office Ethiopian department.

Il Duce, the spokesman said, awaited anything in the nature of an acceptable offer to resume direct dealings.

ROME, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini satisfied himself today that Italy can feed itself regardless of the economic siege laid down by fifty-two nations opposing his war in Ethiopia.

He approved regulations to limit certain crops whose exportation has been halted by sanctions and to grow others which formerly came from sanctionist countries. The plans affect every one of Italy's 3,646,000 farms.

Details of the program were carefully withheld.

"If sanctionist countries knew everything we did they would know where to put on the pressure," said an official.

Three Objectives Outlined.

The farm plans were made at a secret meeting in the office of the premier between Il Duce and high officials of the agricultural federation, one of the twenty-two bodies of the Fascist corporate state which comprises all Italian farmers. A few specialists and government officials also were present.

Three big objectives were outlined: First, to maintain and increase where necessary production of foodstuffs and fodder.

Second, to increase immediately production of certain things needed by Italian industry in the manufacture of substitutes for articles formerly imported.

Third, to limit certain products, some of which have been exported in the past, and devote the land thus released to crops for home consumption.

Sees No Food Shortage.

The conclusion of the farm leaders and experts, which Mussolini accepted as proved, was that "agricultural production can meet the country's food requirements under present regulations and those to be announced later."

The conferees agreed more alcohol can be made for industrial use, probably in automobiles. The experts said there should be prompt action in order to supply the raw materials for making cloth. A recent announcement revealed wool was being made from casein taken from milk.

Royal Family Leads Campaign.

[Special to the London Daily Telegraph and The Chicago Tribune.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 20.—Sanctions are now the one topic of conversation in Italy. The royal family is leading the economy campaign.

Ladies and gentlemen in waiting have been told they must use carriages instead of cars. The crown lands as well as the estates privately owned by King Victor Emmanuel and Crown Prince Humbert will grow wheat, sunflower seed, Indian corn, and other cereals instead of roses and oleanders.

The famous lawn in front of the crown prince's summer residence at Racconigi, Piedmont, is fast disappearing under the shovels of an army of workers. It is to be sown to provide food.

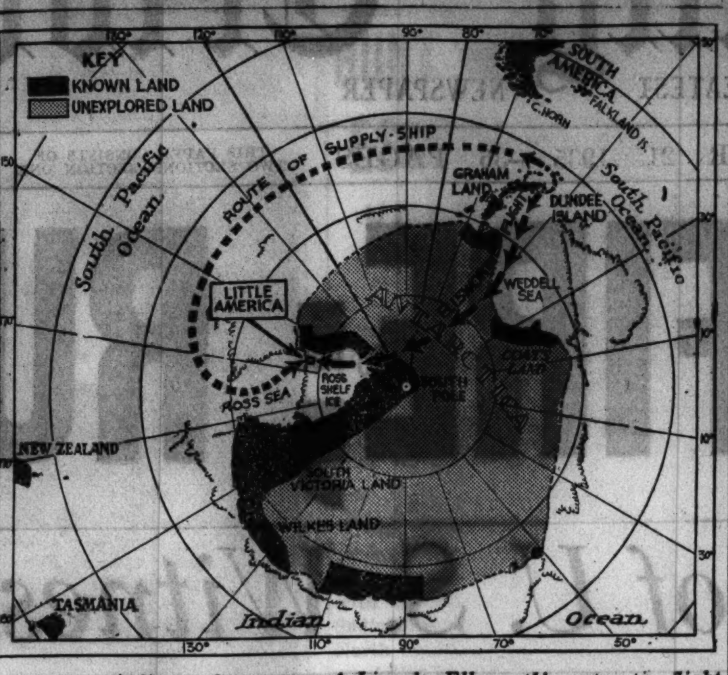
The appeal for gold and other metals has been answered in Turin with the greatest enthusiasm. Nearly twenty tons of base and precious metals were sent to local Fascist headquarters today. This includes, it is claimed, eighty-two pounds of gold and jewelry. The donors are rewarded with state securities according to the market value of the offering.

So many people have put their cars away until better times that the streets of Rome are as safe now for pedestrians as the parks.

Beginning tomorrow the streets of the capital will enjoy only half the usual lighting. The lavish illumination of the road to the Lido at Ostia will be no more. There will be no more joy rides or night racing along what, until now, was the most brilliantly lighted road in Europe. The Lido itself will only be lighted at rare intervals.

The public parks, thrown open all night with a flourish of trumpets some months ago, probably will be closed from nightfall to sunrise.

ELLSWORTH ROUTE OVER ANTARCTIC



Arrows indicate the course of Lincoln Ellsworth's antarctic flight from Dundee Island to Ross sea. The dotted line indicates the course his supply ship, the Wyatt Earp, expects to take to "Little America." On his 2,140 mile flight Ellsworth hopes to map by camera the unknown area. Eight hours after taking off Ellsworth indicated by radio he was having difficulty with his fuel flow gauge. He has not been heard from since.

Arab Brigands Battle British Police in Palestine; 7 Killed

JERUSALEM, Nov. 20.—(AP)—One British policeman was killed and one wounded today in an encounter with Arab brigands near Jenin in the Gilboa hills. Six Arabs were killed.

The Jewish telegraphic agency said the Arabs in the fracas were members of the gang suspected of having murdered Sergt. Moshe Rosenfeld, Jewish policeman, on Nov. 7 when he was tackling grapefruit thieves.

The Palestine government stated that five of the Arab gang had been arrested.

DAY OF MOURNING IN EGYPT

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 20.—The Wafd Nationalist party leaders today announced tomorrow will be observed as an Egyptian "harkal"—day of mourning—on which no work will be done.

The grief is not only for the students killed by the police in last week's anti-British riots but the injustice which the Egyptians claim British rule is doing their country.

There is little likelihood that the mourning will tie up the public services, but the student leaders are trying to make their strike—the secondary schools, unlike the university, are still open—complete and force all stores to keep closed.

Authorities Worried.

The latter attempt is giving the authorities worry, since most of the merchants in the center of Cairo, outside of the native bazar, are foreigners and indifferent to Egypt's struggle for independence. They have refused to take part in the harkal and if the indignant Egyptians damage their property complications with foreign powers are feared, something the British wish to prevent at this moment.

The native bazar is expected to observe the day of mourning completely.

The local Arabic press decided to join the movement by not publishing. The gesture was intended also as a protest against the stringent press regulations now in force against the publication of "false or even exaggerated news."

Lawyers Strike, Too.

The lawyers also decided to strike, not only in the ordinary but also in the "Shari" courts. The latter interpret the Koran and canonical law on personal questions like marriage and divorce.

The harkal also will be the occasion for prominent Egyptians, leaders of parties and officials to snub the British Admiral Fisher, who invited them to be his guests at the grandiose naval maneuvers beginning off Alexandria tomorrow.

Most of the cabinet members are reported to have accepted, but the others have answered that they regret they will be unable to accept courtesies from the commander of the fleet of a nation which is being unjust to Egypt and refuses to grant it independence.

FUEL LINE BREAK PERILS POLE HOP BY ELLSWORTH

May Turn Back from His Antarctic Dash.

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Eight hours after taking off on his projected flight over the "great unknown" portion of Antarctica, Lincoln Ellsworth wirelessed the New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance today that the fuel flow gauge on his plane had broken.

In the absence of further details it was assumed here that if the gauge could not be repaired Ellsworth and his pilot, Herbert Holick-Kenyon, would be forced to turn back.

Route 2,140 Miles.

In an article copyrighted by the New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance the explorer said his proposed route would take him over 2,140 miles, of which 1,300 miles would be over territory never before seen by man.

The flyers hoped to keep in communication with their supply ship at Dundee Island and with New York. If Ellsworth reaches the Bay of Whales the supply ship will sail, expecting to reach there in five weeks.

Cites Dangerous Stretch.

He predicted that the tenth and eleventh hours of the flight, which he expected to require about 14 hours altogether, would be the most dangerous in event of an accident, "for then we will be more than 400 miles from the estimated coastline."

In his article he said he would claim for the United States the unclaimed territory from the 80th meridian to the 120th meridian and call it James W. Ellsworth Land after his father.

NATIVE OF CHICAGO.

Lincoln Ellsworth was born in Chicago in 1880. His parents lived for many years in a mansion at 1820 Michigan avenue. James W. Ellsworth, a millionaire coal operator, moved his family from Chicago in 1899 to escape the smoke nuisance which was damaging his famous collection of books, paintings, and art objects.

The elder Ellsworth furnished two planes which were used by Lincoln Ellsworth and the late Roald Amundsen in a north pole flight in 1925. The senior Ellsworth died in Italy the same year, while his son was lost in the arctic.

BATTLE FASCISTS IN MEXICO CITY; 5 SLAIN, 50 HURT

Radicals Attacked During Revolution Celebration.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—A pitched battle between Fascist Gold Shirts and a Labor group aided by communists in downtown Mexico City marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Madero revolution celebration today. At least five were killed and 50 wounded. One of the victims was a small girl.

The Gold Shirt leader, Gen. Nicolas Rodriguez, was seriously wounded. He was stabbed in the abdomen.

Three Battles Rage.

Three separate battles raged in Constitution square when Gold Shirts, led by horsemen and with women followers barricading and temporarily preventing police intervention, harged the crowd of leftist celebrants assembled in front of the national palace. As they opened fire they received a shower of rocks in reply.

Hundreds of shots were fired, endangering government officials, including Luis Rodriguez, private secretary to President Lazaro Cardenas, who looked on from the central balcony. The president was absent.

The trouble had been anticipated for several days. Labor leaders ordered all workers in the various industries to report at 9 o'clock this morning to prepare resistance against the Fascist group.

High Significance Seen.

The Gold Shirts recently have been outwardly inactive following a definite leftward movement of the government, but it is believed the outbreak has high political significance.

The anti-Cardenastas have struck at a time when the country is experiencing general unrest.

Labor organizations telegraphed President Cardenas that unless the Fascist groups are immediately disbanded a nation-wide general strike will be launched.

COMMUNITY FUND NEAR GOAL WITH $2,703,114 TOTAL

The Community Fund drive for $3,200,000 advanced yesterday to $2,703,114. Reports at today's meeting of workers at the Palmer House are expected to bring the campaign near to its close. Among yesterday's receipts were $3,411 in pledges obtained by heating and plumbing workers under the leadership of J. Beach Clow. This made the heating and plumbing group's collections $20,032, more than $3,000 above its quota.

Other pledges listed yesterday included $3,150 from employés of the internal revenue agent, United States treasury department; $2,200 from employés of Rand, McNally & Co., and $1,430 from employés of the Dole Valve company, plus $500 from the company.

POLICE ALLOW ANGLE PARKING; CITE DEAD LAW

Police of the Fillmore station have been permitting angle parking in Madison street between Pulaski road and Austin boulevard for the last several months under the terms of an ordinance which has never passed the city council, the records of City Clerk Peter J. Brady revealed yesterday.

The records disclosed yesterday that such a temporary order was offered to the council by Aldermen Thomas J. Terrell [29th] and Edward J. Upton [30th], but it was referred to the trafic committee and was never passed. Consequently an ordinance passed by the council in 1917, requiring parallel parking on Madison street, is still in effect.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's Condition Is Improved

Glen Cove, N. Y., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of President Theodore Roosevelt, was said to be "more comfortable" tonight at the hospital where she is a patient. Danger attending a heart attack, which she suffered after entering the hospital for treatment of a fractured leg, appeared to be past, attendants said.

BRITISH MINERS' VOTE THREATENS TIE-UP STRIKE

93 Pct. Ballot Balks Wage Demands.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Great Britain is faced with the threat that the 500,000 men employed in coal mining, a key industry, will be called out on strike before Christmas. The ballot just completed among the miners overwhelmingly authorizes their executive committee to call a strike unless the miners are awarded two shillings [50 cents] per day increase in pay.

The result of the ballot, announced today, shows 409,351 voted for striking while 29,215 voted against—a majority of more than 93 per cent.

The miners' leaders said they would ask for an immediate conference with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin to learn if the government will do anything to aid the miners before strike action is taken. A national delegate conference will be held in three weeks and the miners will take final decision whether to call the strike.

During the election campaign the Baldwin government made promises to give immediate attention to the miners' difficulties.

Mine owners in Great Britain say they cannot grant the pay increases demanded because the mines at present do not make enough money to justify raises. The miners' leaders assert that thousands are working now on wages of less than forty shillings [or $10] a week.

Close Randolph St. Bridge Until Monday Morning

The Randolph street bridge will be closed to trafic from 9 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock Monday morning, Nov. 25, so that repairs may be made to the machinery, it was announced by Thomas G. Pihlfeldt, city bridge engineer, last night.

FIND STAINED AUTO AND OTHER CLEWS IN CESARE DEATH RIDE

Mystery surrounding the death of Vincent Cesare, 35 years old, 1444 North Luna avenue, a plasterer, whose body was tossed out on Spring road near Elmhurst in Du Page county after he was shot last Thursday, deepened yesterday after a blood-stained auto was found in Oak Park.

The auto was owned by him but title was in the name of his sweetheart, Miss Pearl Zumpf, 30 years old, 2586 Lawrence avenue. In it were found handprints of a man and woman, a bullet-torn hat and a grip bearing Miss Zumpf's initials and containing a revolver.

Sherif Arthur Bennett of Du Page county announced Miss Zumpf told him she had overheard a conversation between Cesare and an unidentified person indicating Cesare had planned to go to Buffalo, N. Y., to dispose of $80,000 in jewels stolen in Chicago. Police here said they knew of no such theft.

Later Sherif Bennett asked Oak Park police to remove a floor mat in the blood-stained car. They did so and found five $10 bills.

Cesare's uncle, Joseph Marabito, 49 years old, 1043 North Monticello avenue, was jailed in Wheaton Tuesday on a murder warant sworn out by Miss Zumpf, who said Cesare told her Marabito had threatened him. Cesare's estranged wife, Mrs. Jennie Cesare, 1456 North Keating avenue, has been questioned.

Police Seek Truth About Fatal Ride.

Police and coroner's assistants yesterday were hunting a man identified only as "Walter" in connection with the mysterious death of Miss Sadie Mitkowski, 19 years old, 4508 North Pulaski road. Miss Mitkowski was killed by the automobile of Joseph Disciano, Elmwood Park fire and police commissioner, as she wandered dazedly on Harlem avenue, near 42d street, in the early morning.

Miss Mitkowski's friends last saw her alive in the company of the mysterious Walter, from whom she and two other girls accepted a ride late Tuesday night as they were leaving the Riverview Park Roller Skating rink. The other two girls are the Misses Josephine and Ann Smith, 1515 South 48th court, Cicero. They testified yesterday at the inquest, conducted at undertaking parlors at 3419 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn.

Card Only Clew to Man.

Police meanwhile had only one clew to the identity of Miss Mitkowski's last known companion. In her purse was found a card bearing the name of Walter McDuffy. There was no address on the card. Disciano was held on a technical charge of manslaughter pending resumption of the inquest on Dec. 3.

The first part of the evening which ended in the Mitkowski girl's death was described at the inquest by the Misses Smith. They said they and Miss Mitkowski were skating at the Riverview rink when Walter, whom they believed Sadie had met previously, volunteered to drive them all home.

The Smith girls said the man took them to their home, then drove away with Miss Mitkowski. Shortly aftervard the girl was struck by Disciano's machine.

Hunt for Walter Redoubled.

At the close of the hearing efforts to find Walter were redoubled. Police were determined to learn what happened between the time Miss Witkowski left her friends and her death.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Beck, 8007 Edgewater road, Riverside, whose car was immediately behind Disciano's, said that he was traveling between forty and forty-five miles an hour. Police said Disciano first told them the girl was hurled from another car, but that he later admitted he did not know how the young woman happened to wander into the path of his car.

SCRATCH IN AUTO ACCIDENT TAKES LIFE OF WOMAN

Wreck Fatal to Kane County Supervisor.

A slight scratch on the right leg incurred in a minor automobile accident two weeks ago became infected and caused the death of Mrs. Sarah Fleck, 62 years old, 4750 Throop street, in the County hospital yesterday. She was struck at 47th street and Ashland avenue.

Percy Werthwein, 53 years old, of Burlington, a member of the Kane county board of supervisors and manager of the Burlington Milk Products company, died during the day in the hospital at Waterman, in De Kalb county. He was injured Saturday when the automobile in which he was riding skidded into a ditch two miles south of Leland on route 23. Surviving are the widow, Alice, and eight children.

Policeman Is Killed.

Policeman Michael Maye, 40 years old, 5130 Pensacola avenue, was killed early yesterday when he drove his automobile into a concrete safety island at Milwaukee and Medina avenues. Albert Rettke, 35 years old, 4404 Milwaukee avenue, a passenger in Maye's automobile, incurred serious injuries.

Other Cook county deaths:

John Dorn, 58 years old, keeper of the hotel at 154th street and Broadway, Harvey. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday night when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Park avenue near 152d street in Harvey. The driver was Stanley Wolbach, 17756 Howe avenue, Homewood.

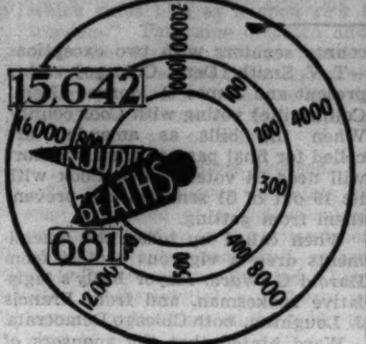
John Corrigan, 66 years old, 325 North Central Park avenue. Died last night in the Blaine Ramsay hospital, 35 South Hoyne avenue, of injuries incurred Saturday when he was struck at Campbell avenue and Madison street by the automobile of William Grummel, 31 years old, 2724 Rosemont avenue.

Mrs. Margaret McCann, 65 years old, 4907 Melrose street, a widow. Fatally injured last evening when struck at Irving Park boulevard just east of North Lavergne avenue by an automobile driven by Dr. Samuel H. Leavitt, 6221 Roscoe street, a dendist, who hurried her to the Belmont hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 876 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In that period 681 were killed and 15,642 injured in trafic crashes within the Chicago city limits.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

PRESIDENT OPENS DRIVE TO REDUCE ACCIDENT TOLL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A drive to reduce the nation's annual accident toll—a hundred thousand killed and nine million injured—was initiated today by President Roosevelt.

In a letter he authorized Secretary Roper to call a conference of leading citizens to form plans for controling "this distressing situation." The commerce secretary coincidentally announced the names of a committee which will meet within two weeks.

The group will be headed by Senator Moore of New Jersey. Other members will include Senators Capper of Kansas and McAdoo of California.

While it was emphasized that highway and other transportation accidents would receive a major share of attention, Roper said other types would be considered.

DRIVER LICENSE BILL SURVIVES HOUSE ASSAULT

Now in Position to Pass; May Be Voted On Today.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.] —Surviving an assault intended to kill it, Mayor Kelly's drivers' license bill was sent to third reading in the house today, and now is in position to be passed tomorrow. Today's battle was on the issue of striking the enacting clause. Proponents of the measure were victorious, 67 to 25.

Whether the bill is called tomorrow depends upon two factors: First, the number of members present, and, second, whether another bill, favored by many downstaters, gets first call on the calendar.

This second measure, sponsored by Thomas P. Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island] and Charles H. Weber [Dem., Chicago], has no licensing provision, but seeks to reduce automobile deaths and injuries by giving the secretary of state power to suspend registration cards for serious violations.

Bills Need 102 Supporters.

The mayor's bill, which was introduced by Majority Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski and Edward P. O'Grady, Chicago Democrats, had strong support from the Chicago bloc on both sides of the house.

Both bills carry an emergency clause and need 102 votes to take effect immediately.

Although it overrode opposition today and kept on the calendar, the Kelly bill has many enemies who would vote for the Sinnett-Weber bill. These include Speaker John P. Devine of Dixon and Republican Floor Leader Le Roy M. Green of Rockford.

Green's opposition is directed at the $500,000 appropriation to administer the act and the fact that it would be supervised by the secretary of state's office. Devine long has fought licensing.

Asks Human Life Be Valued.

"I don't know what value you place on human life, but if you will read the article 'And Sudden Death' which has been so widely circulated lately, you will learn that the automobile is as deadly a weapon as a gun. Visit the morgues and the hospitals and see what terrible injuries people suffer from auto accidents! And if you'll visit the police courts you will find that most defendants in auto cases would have their licenses revoked if this bill was law."

Frank Ryan [Dem., Chicago] declared that the same persons opposing the licensing also fought this bill a few years ago for certificate of title, which he claimed has cut down auto thefts and reduced insurance rates. "That bill saved property," Ryan argued, "while this bill will save lives."

45 Mile Limit is Killed.

At its afternoon session the house adopted the amendment proposed by Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] striking from a bill introduced by Frank B. Wilson [Dem., Woosung] the provision that forty-five miles per hour would be prima facie evidence of reckless driving.

Schnackenberg declared that such a law would "put Illinois in the backward states, and is not a rule of reason." Republicans backed Schnackenberg and there were only a few Democrats present to side with Wilson. The amendment passed, 58 to 38.

Then, as the Democratic side filled up, Sinnett introduced an amendment making 55 miles per hour prima facie evidence and above the objections of members who sided with Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Libertyville] in calling all such limits "asinine," and as "permitting a policeman to become a Jesse James," the amendment was adopted, 46 to 39.

House Republicans Force Hike in Aged Pension Fund

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.] —House Republicans tonight forced the Democrats to raise the appropriation for old age pensions from 5 to 9 million dollars.

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] put the majority side on the "spot" during routine consideration of a bill which would change the name of the act passed last June so that it would comply with the New Deal social security law. His amendment would have raised the appropriation to 10 million dollars.

Calls Amount Insufficient.

Schnackenberg declared that with an anticipated fifty to sixty thousand aged in the state expected to come under the pension 5 million dollars was not sufficient for its operation from Jan. 1, 1936, to July 1, 1937. The Democrats admitted this, but said that when it had been clearly demonstrated how much the dole to the indigent would cost another special session would be called to appropriate whatever additional funds were necessary.

F. W. Lewis [Dem., Robinson] declared that he thought 9 millions instead of 5 millions would be about the sum needed and Schnackenberg accepted the change. There was much debate, but the amendment was finally adopted. Some Democrats privately expressed the opinion that the action was outside the scope of the call for the special session, and others predicted that it would be rescinded next week.

Downstaters Win Skirmish.

Downstate senators were successful in a preliminary skirmish today in their attempts to saddle additional taxes of about 7 million dollars on Chicago for poor relief and to make Chicago directly responsible for the care of its resident poor.

Their temporary victory was in the adoption of amendments to a number of bills that reshape the poor relief systems in downstate counties. Among amendments was one giving to Chicago the care of its poor, now handled by Cook county levies and state and federal funds, and empowering the city to levy 30 cents on each $100 valuation for this purpose.

Kelly Spokesman Protests.

The amendments were adopted by a vote of 24 to 17, with a strict division between downstate and Cook county senators with two exceptions —T. V. Smith [Dem., Chicago] voting present and James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville] voting with Cook county. When the bills as amended are called for final passage their sponsors will need 34 votes, which Cook with its 19 out of 51 senators can prevent them from getting.

When called up today the amendments drew a vigorous protest from Harold G. Ward, Mayor Kelly's legislative spokesman, and from Francis J. Loughran, both Chicago Democrats.

Ward hinted that the sponsors of the amendments, W. H. Hickman [Dem., Paris] and Simon E. Lantz [Rep., Congerville], might be trying to embarrass Chicago's mayor by thrusting more taxes on Chicagoans.

"Cook county has taken care of the poor in that area since the civil war and has an administrative setup for that purpose," said Ward. "You are trying to break down that system now and return it to Chicago. It will cost Chicago about seven millions.

"After the death of Mayor Cermak a new leader arose in Chicago, a two fisted, he-man, a statesman, a great executive—the greatest executive we have in Illinois today. That is Mayor Kelly. The large vote he got in the last mayoral election attests the respect and affection Chicago has for him.

"Now I wonder what motives are behind these amendments. Is it the intention to embarrass Chicago's leader or the people of Chicago with this large additional taxation? If so, it is a sorry mistake.

Cites Political Hopes.

"Are the motives political? I don't know much about politics. I know there are several members of the legislature who would like to be the Republican candidate for governor, but I don't know who the Republican candidate will be. I don't even know who the Democratic candidate is going to be.

"Tell us what you want and we'll try to help you. But Chicago doesn't want this, and you shouldn't try to force it on us. The people of Chicago won't stand for this additional taxation."

Senator Lantz argued that downstate counties are forced to levy more in proportion to their population than Chicago for poor relief. He was reminded by Senator Loughran that Chicago pays 64 per cent of the sales tax, but doesn't get that much back.

JUDGE CITES OWN ERROR AND FREES GUILTY SLAYER

Dual Jeopardy Law Balks New Trial.

A murder defendant who was convicted of manslaughter last week in the Lake County Circuit court at Waukegan was freed yesterday by Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, the trial judge, who set aside the jury verdict and ruled that a new trial would be illegal.

As a result of the ruling, Luther Turk, 34 years old, a colored resident of Waukegan, cannot be tried again for the slaying.

Judge Cites Own Error.

Turk was tried for killing Columbus Coleman, 21 years old, colored, during a dice game on Sept. 15. The state showed that Turk went to his home, got a revolver, returned and shot Coleman. Turk testified he brought the gun for barter purposes, and that it was accidentally discharged.

"In including among my instructions to the jury a possible verdict of manslaughter, as requested by State's Attorney Charles E. Mason, I erred," Judge Shurtleff declared. "There was absolutely no evidence of manslaughter. Turk was either guilty or not guilty of murder. Accordingly I am setting aside the verdict.

Assails Prosecutor's Remarks.

"I cannot grant a new trial. The jury in effect acquitted Turk of murder, but convicted him of manslaughter. If a new trial was granted it would have to be for manslaughter, but as I explained, there is no evidence of manslaughter. So I must discharge the defendant.

"Even if a murder verdict had been returned, I would be forced to free the defendant because of the grossly inflammatory remarks made to the jury by the state's attorney."

Mr. Mason expressed surprise at the judge's decision. He said he thought he would not ask for an appeal.

APPEALS COURT RULES OUT BOTH OF GARVY SUITS

A decree of separate maintenance, awarded in 1934 to Mrs. Frances R. Garvy of the Edgewater Beach hotel, was reversed and dismissed, and the dismissal of a divorce suit filed by Dr. Andrew C. Garvy, 6000 Sheridan road, a physician on the staf of the John B. Murphy hospital, was sustained by the Appellate court yesterday in an opinion written by Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

The opinion condemned the acts and allegations of both the husband and wife as insincere, and held that incompatibility of temperament, which appeared to be the cause in the case, was not a ground for divorce or separate maintenance in Illinois.

HUNT 3 AFTER $120 HOLDUP.

The Chicago Avenue police were searching last night for three men in an automobile who held up Stanley Biliki, 50 years old, 747 North Clark street, on De Witt place between Pearson and Chicago avenues and robbed him of $120.

NEW DEAL SNARL MAY MAKE U. S. PAY OWN TAXES

Levies on Railroads Cause Financial Tangle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—A financial snarl which may force the treasury to pay its own taxes has been caused by the New Deal's old age and unemployment insurance taxes on railroads, it was disclosed today.

The government may find itself in the position of lending a majority of the country's railroads 54 million dollars a year so the roads can repay to the government this same 54 millions in the form of social security taxes, official estimates revealed.

Railroads already in debt to the Reconstruction Finance corporation will be required to pay an additional $54,723,189 to the government in 1938 under taxes imposed by the New Deal's social security and railroad retirement laws, according to computations based on the roads' 1934 operating statements.

May Be Forced to Borrow.

Since many of these roads barely are earning present expenses, they may be forced to borrow the tax money. If they do not pay the taxes, they can be forced into receivership, thus jeopardizing loans which the RFC already has made to them. The RFC, therefore, is in the position of having to advance the roads money if needed, to pay the taxes or of seeing its outstanding loans jeopardized by receivership proceedings.

Jesse H. Jones, RFC chairman, today said the RFC would be willing to lend railroads money with which to pay these taxes, provided they presented acceptable collateral.

Money which the RFC lends is borrowed from the treasury department. Thus the treasury will be put in the position of lending money to the RFC, which the RFC will lend to the railroads, and which the railroads then will repay to the treasury as pension and unemployment taxes.

Estimate 57 Million Tax.

Officials already have drawn up estimates showing that the taxes under the railroad retirement law alone will amount to 57 million dollars a year for all railroads. In addition, the social security law taxes, which begin at 3 per cent of the total pay roll in 1936 and increase to 9 per cent in 1938, will cost the railroads another 16 millions in 1936 and 48 millions in 1938.

Some of the hardest hit roads follow:

Baltimore and Ohio, $2,882,569 in 1936 and $4,178,814 in 1938; Chicago and North Western, $2,283,990 in 1936 and $3,303,570 in 1938; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, $1,571,353 in 1936 and $2,276,267 in 1938; Illinois Central, $2,202,416 in 1936 and $3,191,005 in 1938; Missouri Pacific System, $2,118,673 in 1936 and $8,066,091 in 1938; New York Central, $6,862,028 in 1936 and $9,933,244 in 1938, and Southern Pacific, $2,699,840 in 1936 and $3,912,998 in 1938.

SENATE DELAYS DEBATE ON NEW INSURANCE CODE

Foes Are 'Outsiders,' Backers Assert.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Adjournment of the Illinois senate tonight until Monday postponed an expected bitter fight on the proposed new insurance code which is on second reading—the amendment stage—before the senators.

The code was one of the few bills introduced in the senate that was sent to committee. Its sponsors interpreted this as an indication of hostility. While little has been done openly to stop the course of the code through the early legislative stages, the opposition is expected to show itself more vigorously now that it has reached a prominent position on the calendar.

Despite evidence of an undercurrent of antagonism, Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance, was staunch in statements today that he believes the code has an "excellent" chance of adoption.

Barely Beaten Last Session.

He recalled that the measure was defeated in the last regular session by only four votes.

"All Illinois fire, life, mutual, and casualty insurance companies are for the bill, and have so stated in public hearings," said Palmer. "In addition a large group of organizations in the state have expressed approval.

"The opposition comes from outside Illinois. It has been expressed in these public hearings by the eastern fire and casualty insurance companies as represented by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives.

Illinois Vs. "Outsiders."

"These foreign companies have been doing a large business in our state. They have the gravy and want to keep it. There is nothing in this code that will hurt them. The fact is they don't want any regulation.

"It is down to this—a case of Illinois or outside. The facts are clear. This code is a fair revision of Illinois' antiquated insurance laws. The present laws are a hodgepodge. This bill gives Illinois the regulation it needs."

Director Palmer said he could not understand, in view of these facts, why Chicago senators oppose its passage.

RIVER VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

The body of a woman that was taken from the Des Plaines river at Irving Park boulevard on Nov. 2 was identified yesterday at the county morgue as that of Mrs. Katherine Stachowski, 66 years old, 1145 West Superior street, by her son Felix.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Stacks of Records Placed in Evidence at Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The astonishing "will to believe" of the American people, in anything from a new religion to a new economic cult, is shown in the stacks of records of investors in the nonexistent estate of Sir Francis Drake. These records were identified yesterday in Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan's court, where 41 defendants are on trial charged with using the mails to defraud.

More than 70,000 persons donated or invested in the latest wave of this great international swindle, according to statements made by defendants in the trial, which has as its chief figure a convict from Leavenworth prison, Oscar M. Hartzell. Despite his social status Hartzell is still looked upon by his followers and dupes as the martyred heir of nonexistent billions of money in England.

They Still Believe Him.

"I am practically Sir Francis Drake," he told his followers, and they believed him and still believe him with the faith that clustered around the late John Alexander Dowie.

Detective James Zegar of the Chicago police was the first witness for the government in this prosecution yesterday. Even as late as last April, he testified, after Hartzell had been sent to prison and the whole sad fraud had been exposed in court in Sioux City, Ia., the people still insisted on sending in their money to the promoters who carried on after Hartzell had left.

At the moment of their arrest at 844 Rush street two of the defendants, Delmer C. Short and Lester Ohmart, were counting money that had come in from country victims. They had $7,174 on hand as the result of hundreds of donations in small amounts. The records of the donors were seized.

Story of Detective Zegar.

Zegar told an interesting story. Assigned to the case by Lieut. Edward Kelly, head of the confidence detail, who had had a letter of complaint concerning the scheme, Zegar posed as Ralph Schoen, a Beaver Dam, Wis., investor. He first went to the Croydon hotel at 616 Rush street last April 6 and hunted up Otto G. Yant, another defendant.

Yant, a former banker of Iowa, had taken over the thriving business of "Hartzell Financial Transactions." He signed notes by power of attorney from Hartzell. The notes gave the investors a supposed claim on the billions which Admiral Drake, the sixteenth century sea raider, supposedly had taken from Spanish galleons or colonies.

A "Red Hot" Investment.

"I asked Yant about my investment," said Zegar, the supposed Beaver Dam investor, "and he told me that the thing was red hot now and they were going to close it up soon. I asked him what to do to get money and he told me to go to room 420 at 844 Rush street.

"I walked in there and found Short and Ohmart in a small room with desk, typewriter, card index system. I told them I was Schoen and wanted to see the records to see if my notations corresponded. They got out my card and then I asked them when I would get some money. They said they didn't know, that they were winding the thing up and were taking no more donations and in July or August I would hear from them."

Arrests were made on April 8 at the Croydon and at the other Rush street address. With Yant, Short, and Ohmart, Joseph H. Hauber, alias C. W. Williams, was arrested. He was the man, according to the prosecution, who posed as a department of justice agent and assured people that the whole thing was legitimate. When first arrested, Zegar said, Hauber said that he was merely an investor come to see Yant.

"They were counting the money that had just come in when the police arrived," said Zegar. "In Hauber's room at the Croydon were trunks and suitcases which he admitted belonged to Hartzell."

The records were carried away in a trunk.

Wheel Removed from Her Throat

Mother Acts Promptly

The prompt action of a mother, who became alarmed when her baby daughter coughed violently, was credited yesterday with saving the child from probable death by strangulation. The mother, Mrs. Edna Boyd, 2850 Abbott court, hurried to the Children's Memorial hospital Tuesday with her 13 month old Lenora. Physicians examined Lenora's throat and removed a tiny cogwheel. Mrs. Boyd then remembered that she had given the child an old watch to play with. Lenora was recovering yesterday.

Ex-Union Officials Freed on Machine Gun Charge

William Schaaf, 3607 West 67th place, and Thomas Harcharick, 3630 North Leavitt street, former officials of a local of the painters' union, were acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Russell Whitman's Criminal court on a charge of unlawful possession of a machine gun. The men were arrested last August when police summoned by an anonymous informant found the gun in Harcharick's car, parked near the union headquarters at 5434 Wentworth avenue. The men charged the gun was "planted" in their car.

16 ARE SENTENCED TO CZECH PRISON AS GERMAN SPIES

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Sixteen persons, convicted of espionage for Germany, were sentenced today to from 12 to 15 years' imprisonment by a secret court. Among them was a 68 year old woman, given 12 years. Another was an engineer named Meyer, the son of a colonel in the old Austro-Hungarian army. He was sentenced to 14 years. Others are yet to be sentenced, including Anna Dienal, accused of leading the recently bagged spy ring.

DRIVER FOR BANK RAID GANG FACES U.S. PROSECUTION

Young Hoodlum Identified by Holdup Witnesses.

Mike Detente, 22 years old, 624 South May street, was identified yesterday as the driver of an automobile used by nine robbers in a raid on the University State bank at 1354 East 55th street on Sept. 30.

The identification was made by bank officials before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court, where Detente was arraigned on another charge.

U. S. Warant Sworn Out.

After Detente was taken to the county jail, special agents from the department of justice, who were present at the identification, went before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and obtained a warant charging him with attempting to rob a bank which is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

The agents said it was the first time such a warant had been issued in the Chicago area and it is believed to be one of the first issued anywhere in the country. It has been made a federal offense to rob or attempt to rob such a bank, with a penalty of a penitentiary sentence of 5 to 25 years, or a fine of $1,000 to $10,000, or both.

Detente Seized as Suspect.

Detente was arrested on Monday as a suspect in the bank raid. He was arraigned before Judge Hartigan yesterday on a charge of robbery growing out of a holdup at the International Register company, 15 Throop street, last May 28, in which $250 was taken. That case was continued to Nov. 27 and the identification of Detente in the bank case was then made in the judge's chambers.

A woman and three men were shot in the robbers' raid on the bank. The bandits were routed, however, without any loot when clouds of tear gas were released by bank employés.

The federal warant will be served on Detente as soon as the state has finished its robbery case against him.

Legislators Condemn Parole Expert's Use of Convict Staf

Legislators at Springfield yesterday became severely critical when they were told that Prof. Ferris Laune, technical expert for the state board of pardons and paroles, is aided in his work of forecasting the possible actions of paroled men by a staf of eight convicts. One member of this staf is Nathan Leopold, who is serving a life term plus 99 years for the murder of Bobby Franks.

An Associated Press dispatch from Joliet said that Leopold hopes for good fortune in "his latest experiment—a parole forecasting system which rates him as a good risk for freedom." The same dispatch added that the forecast study, based on thousands of actual cases, shows that killers other than those who slay during robberies are apt to go straight if they get out of prison.

State Legislators Aroused.

"It is absurd even to think of a man convicted of a vicious murder having a position in the crime laboratory of the penitentiary," asserted State Representative Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Libertyville]. "There are learned bodies that ought to do that kind of work.

"Why should any murderer have the slightest degree of judgment over his fellow convicts? This is another reason why I intend to introduce a bill in the next session, if I am reelected, to abolish the state parole board."

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] was another of the critics.

"This story astounds me," he declared. "It is inconceivable that Leopold should have any part, no matter how small, in considering parole matters. His reported capacity is comparable to the trial of a criminal with two or three convicts on the jury."

Laune Tells His System.

Prof. Laune, reached at the Joliet penitentiary, declared that Leopold and the other inmates were used only as clerks. While he talks with them at times, he added, it is only in general terms about criminology. They are not consulted on specific paroles, he said.

His work, according to the professor, is designed to take into consideration a prisoner's mental reactions to social conditions, environment and family connections and other factors scientifically determined. Although Prof. Laune's recommendations are not always followed by the parole board, he said, his forecasts in 650 cases were 90 per cent correct.

BLAME MACARONI MAKER'S SLAYING ON GANG'S LEVY

Racketeers killed Samuel Incandela, owner of a macaroni factory at 3825 West Chicago avenue, because he refused to pay them a toll of a quarter of a cent a pound on each day's production, it was indicated yesterday at an inquest into the murder. Incandela was shot to death by a lone gunman Tuesday evening in the office of the factory.

The coroner's inquest was continued at the request of Capt. Willard Malone of the Austin police station after members of Incandela's family told of the terrorism to which they had been subjected by trade association racketeers. Police and the state's attorney's office will continue their investigation, pending resumption of the inquest Nov. 29 at the county morgue.

Frank Cataldo, brother-in-law and business partner of the slain man, testified that the Incandela factory, owned by Cataldo, Incandela, and his father, Joseph Incandela, a wholesale grocer, was bombed in 1933. Cataldo himself formerly conducted a macaroni plant at another address, but abandoned it after he was beaten by sluggers.

He testified that he and Incandela had belonged to the trade association until the state's attorney's office denounced it as a racket a year ago and said it had been disbanded.

RELIEF CLIENTS JINGLE DOLLARS; CAN BUY PIE!

Experiment Lets Dolers Do Own Shopping.

Relief clients of Cook county jingled real cash in their pockets yesterday instead of shuffling disbursement orders, and many of the families sat down to evening meals selected by themselves from store shelves rather than from an official relief agency list. Checks were issued to 4,753 persons on relief and the total was $52,562 for the first day of the experiment conducted under direction of Leo J. Lyons, county administrator for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

The prospect of receiving cash for the first time brought early arrivals to the relief centers throughout Chicago and the county. Clients are permitted to use their own discretion in spending their money for food, clothing and other necessities. The IERC will continue to issue disbursing orders for coal and shoes because these had been contracted for previously.

"Just Like Pay Day Again."

Employés of relief centers professed to see a "better morale" among the persons who lined up before the cashier for checks. "It's just like pay day again," said one of the clients at the relief center at 1501 Frontier avenue. John Cavanaugh, 58 years old, 27 West Grand avenue, received a check for $4.60 and said: "I think I'll eat in a restaurant tonight, just to see how it feels." On disbursment orders all food had to come from grocery stores.

Frank Carrington, 76 years old, 46 West Erie street, another client, expressed the desire to celebrate by buying something "that's restricted on the old disbursing orders." His check for $4.60 was accompanied by a printed form telling him the amount was for food over a two week period.

Advantage to Clients.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the IERC, said of the cash relief experiment: "I think the client will get more for his money using cash than with disbursing orders. The chief advantage is that he can shop around and take advantage of bargains. Then, too, it relieves us of a great deal of work."

Mr. Reynolds was of the opinion that few of the persons receiving relief will spend their cash for liquor or luxuries.

"Then, too," he added, "when we catch them spending money for anything except the designated purposes we'll put them back on disbursing orders."

Will Get More Sweets.

Among the articles clients were previously forbidden to buy with their disbursing orders include ice cream, candy, sweet rolls, prepared cereals, sliced bacon and pies. County IERC headquarters announced last night that the cash plan was started without demonstrations or objections for those calling for their money. Today 6,121 checks will be distributed. By Nov. 27 the system is expected to be in full operation in the county.

Payment of cash was authorized by the IERC, Gov. Horner and the Federal Emergency Relied administration in Cook county. If the experiment is a success here cash probably will be paid in the other twenty-one counties of the state in which federal funds are available for relief.

Two Members of British Cabinet Made Viscounts

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Two members of the British cabinet were made viscounts today by King George. They are: Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, secretary of air, and Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty.

WPA TO UTILIZE RADIO IN DEFENSE OF BOONDOGGLING

Funds Already Set Aside for Broadcasts.

When the federal government's four million dollar recreational program gets under way in Chicago within the next ten days the door will be opened for a defense of boondoggling via the facilities of a local broadcasting station, according to plans of the Works Progress administration brought to light yesterday.

The application for $4,092,026 in WPA funds for recreation plus a contribution of $699,523 by the Chicago park district was approved by President Roosevelt recently and confirmed by Controler General J. R. McCarl.

Plan Weekly Broadcasts.

In the park application $1,320 was earmarked to pay the salary of a radio director and $346 for his office furniture. The program contemplates weekly radio broadcasts from a local station concerning Uncle Sam's recreational program and the eventual extension of the broadcasting to a national chain.

WPA funds are also set aside for publicizing the program by show-cards, motion pictures, photography, and pamphlets. Among other jobs, provision has been made for "journalists," the term used to designate newspaper reporters in England.

WPA to Make Play Equipment.

The WPA will enter into the manufacture here of new recreational equipment, such as swings, slides, teeter-totters, gymnastic apparatus, and ping-pong tables, as well as building miscellaneous equipment for use on the bathing beaches and lake front facilities. Persons employed by the government will do the work and funds have been provided for materials—down to the last tack or drop of paint.

A formal order directing that only American citizens be given supervisory and administrative positions in the WPA administration in Illinois was made public yesterday by Ralph H. Burke, deputy administrator for the state. Burke said that aliens could be enrolled on WPA labor, but that a national recovery program should be directed by Americans.

FIRE AND POLICE STAFS SET MARK IN 'DEPORTMENT'

Chicago's policemen and firemen have been so well behaved that for the last month not a single case involving them has come before the civil service commission, John P. Harding, president of the commission, said yesterday. The record is the best in the forty year history of the civil service department. Ordinarily we average about twenty trial board cases involving policemen and firemen each month," Mr. Harding said.

COLLAPSES ON JOB AND DIES.

Sinne Hall, 44 years old, 5404 Vincennes avenue, a laborer in the plant of the Sherwin-Williams company, paint manufacturers at 115th street and Cottage Grove avenue, died in the Roseland community hospital yesterday shortly after collapsing at work.

2 PARK DISTRICT REQUESTS AWAIT ICKES' DECISION

Ask U. S. Agency to Buy $6,000,000 in Bonds.

Two Chicago park district requests, one for a $2,200,000 Public Works administration grant to be used for the completion of the outer drive bridge and the other for the sale of $6,000,000 in park bonds to a government agency are now awaiting decisions by Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, according to Robert J. Dunham, park president, who returned from Washington yesterday.

Under the terms of the $2,200,000 grant request, the PWA would provide 30 per cent of the funds necessary for completion of the outer drive bridge, the remainder to be paid outright from park district funds. It has been estimated that it will cost $6,700,000 to complete the project. Dunham said yesterday that the bridge work can be financed and will proceed whether or not the federal grant is received.

The sale of $6,000,000 in park bonds to federal agencies would permit the park district to continue with Works Progress administration projects planned for the park district. "In all probability the bonds will be offered to the Reconstruction Finance corporation," said Mr. Dunham.

WPA TRAINING MAIDS TO DO HOUSEWORK FOR MOTHERS ON RELIEF

At the expense of the federal government, fifty women were busy yesterday in the Dante school, 840 South Des Plaines street, being trained in the art of sewing, nutrition, budget planning, the care of children, laundering, ironing, and house cleaning.

They are part of a group of 350 widowed mothers who will form a corps of "supermaids" to take the burden of housework from sick and needy mothers on relief, whose children have been forced to stay out of school to help them. The new "visiting housekeepers," many of them colored, have been transferred from relief rolls to the Works Progress administration. They receive a monthly salary of $55.

Miss Frances Swain, head of the home economics department of the board of education, and Miss Katherine Allen, WPA clinician, are in charge of the training. The school board is coöperating with the project so that children will not have to stay out of classes to help at home.

Twenty of the newly trained domestics have been assigned to "emergency" cases this week, Miss Allen said.

Woman Finds $4,350; Gives It to Police, Despite Debt

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anne O'Shea, wife of a policeman, found a pocketbook containing $4,350 as she walked to mass this morning. Her husband turned it over to police, who announced there were no claimants tonight. The O'Sheas have a debt of several thousand dollars as the result of an operation.

HEARING TO BARE TYPICAL STREET NAME TANGLES

Public to Get Voice in Simplification Plan.

The first public hearing on the proposal to simplify Chicago's street name system by eliminating duplicate names and broken link streets was set for 10 a. m. Monday, Dec. 2, in the city council chambers by the council's special committee which met to study the proposal yesterday.

The hearing will involve five streets, all of them important thoroughfares, and all of them considered typical examples for any discussion of street name confusion. The committee believes that a hearing on proposed name changes for these streets, affecting a large number of persons, will clear the way for the adoption of the entire simplification program, which would affect 300 streets and benefit the entire city.

A Typical Name Tangle.

Among the streets to be considered in the first hearing is Lincoln, which name is now duplicated in Lincoln avenue and Lincoln Park West. A choice of two new names, Grant street or Ellsworth street, is proposed.

The second thoroughfare to be considered is Loomis street, extensions of which are known as Southport avenue and Glenwood avenue. It is proposed to adopt one of these street names for the entire length of the thoroughfare.

Third in the list of proposed key changes is Irving avenue. It is proposed that a new name be selected to avoid confusion with the better known Irving Park boulevard. Similarly, it is proposed to eliminate the name of St. Lawrence avenue, on the south side, to avoid confusion with Lawrence avenue on the north side.

The Case of Orleans Street.

The fifth street which will be involved in the hearing is Orleans street, lengths of which are known as Shaughnessy street, Hammond street, Commonwealth avenue, Lane court, and Market street. It is proposed that Orleans be adopted as the name for all of the thoroughfare, as Orleans represents the longest segment. This is the only key thoroughfare which touches the loop area, involving Market street from Madison to Van Buren streets.

The campaign for simplification is being led by Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th], chairman of the special committee, and Dorsey R. Crowe [42d]. Both aldermen pointed out that the entire street name program will be submitted to the public in hearings, but that the first streets have been selected as a starting point for discussion and planning.

In 1913 the city council changed the names of several hundred streets as a means of speeding deliveries of purchases and mail and avoiding confusion. The plan now before the council will complete this program, it is pointed out.

'JAFSIE' HOLDS LINDY KIDNAPER WILL TELL HIM YET OF CRIME

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—(AP)—John F. Condon, "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh kidnaping, predicts Bruno Richard Hauptmann will confess the crime to him.

The former New York educator told the Professional Women's club he was still working on the case, explaining there were still some things "we wish to clear."

Dr. Condon said he was convinced Hauptmann, convicted of the crime, was ready to make a full and complete confession.

"As a matter of fact," Dr. Condon said, "he has already sent for me three times, but as yet I have not gone to see him."

Is Your Boy Too Weak to "Play the Game"?

Does it wring your heart to see the longing in his eyes? You would give anything to strengthen the weak bones, to give him more flesh and muscle and a richer flow of blood through his starved veins.

Perhaps his appetite is good and he seems to be eating plenty of food but doesn't thrive. Lack of Vitamins A and D may account for his pale face, and thin, delicate body. You can start today to correct the deficiency. It is a simple way to health—but very important—yet it only costs a few cents a day.

Vitamin A is the essential element used in building and repairing the outer skin and the inner linings of the body. It builds definite resistance against colds with their tendency to cause lung, throat and sinus infections. A deficiency of it retards growth, may cause stunted bodies and certain skin and eye diseases.

Vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin, builds and repairs body, bone and teeth, while a lack of it means soft, crumbling, decaying teeth, weak, deformed bones and rickets.

Now you can give your child plenty of vitamins without a special diet because a new U. S. Patented Scientific Process extracts Vitamins A and D from cod liver oil. These vitamins are sealed in gelatin capsules called I. V. C. Vitamin Pearls; odorless, tasteless, easy to take.

Insist on the only one genuine I. V. C. Vitamin Pearls. All good drug and department stores sell I.V.C. Vitamin Pearls on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. International Vitamin Corp., 50 East 42nd Street, New York City.

"How'dja make it do that, Charlie?"
FASTEST-STARTING GASOLINE IN STANDARD OIL HISTORY!
35% QUICKER WARM-UP WITH NEW STANDARD RED CROWN

Charlie Chase and Joyce Compton, stars of Charlie Chase Comedies, had good reason to be surprised when his faithful Model T started like a jackrabbit. It had never happened before—so it's a safe bet that they had Standard's new double-quick-starting gasoline in the tank.

DON'T think for a minute that this new gasoline is so fast that your car is liable to take off before you're ready. It's not that lively. But it is a remarkably fast-starting gasoline. And by that we don't mean a gasoline that simply gives a flash of action and then sputters and chokes when you try to drive away. We mean a gasoline that, even in bitter winter weather, responds to the first kick of the starter, catches hold at once, and gives you full steam ahead in regular mid-summer form.

That's promising a lot. But this gasoline has fully 35% greater warm-up speed, in zero temperatures. So get some of this new Standard Red Crown . . . and SEE WHAT HAPPENS next time you step on the starter!

TRIBUNE TO OPEN WOMEN'S PRESS MEETINGS TODAY

Club Leaders Will Attend Two Day Sessions.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

The road to newspaper publicity on women's activities will be sketched by a dozen TRIBUNE writers today at the opening session of a two day press conference for more than 600 presidents, program chairmen, and publicity chairmen of various women's organizations. The conference will open at 1:45 o'clock in the main studio of the new W-G-N radio building, adjoining Tribune Tower.

Except for the entertainment program, the second day of the conference tomorrow will be a repetition of the one today. Originally only a single day's conference was planned, but the requests for tickets were so numerous that it was found necessary to hold a double session.

Purpose of the Conference.

The fundamental purpose of the conference is to inform executives of women's organizations what part of the doings of their organizations constitutes news in the eyes of the newspaper editor, and to give them helpful hints on the best way of submitting their information for publication.

Miss Ruth De Young, woman's editor of THE TRIBUNE, will preside during the sessions today and tomorrow. Each meeting will last about two hours.

Requests for tickets have come not only from Chicago organizations but from scores of cities and towns in the Chicagoland area. Women's clubs, charity boards, American Legion auxiliaries, parent-teacher associations, and patriotic societies will all be represented.

Club Leaders to Attend.

Among the leaders who will attend are Mrs. William F. Farrell of Chicago, Illinois director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Edward J. Lehman of Sidney, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Arthur R. Williams of Normal, president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Fred R. Lufkin of Elgin, newly appointed vice chairman of publicity for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has canceled a scheduled state meeting of club publicity chairmen and has asked that these officers attend THE TRIBUNE press conference tomorrow afternoon.

Headliners on today's program include Philip Kinsley, who will discuss "The Education of a Reporter," and John Charles Thomas, baritone, who will talk on "Newspaper Publicity: Its Value." The entertainment program will feature Jean Tennyson, soprano of the Chicago City Opera company; Bob Elson, W-G-N announcer, and Lawrence Salerno, baritone; the Doring Sisters, Esther Tarler, mimic, and Bob Trendler and Bob McDonald, accompanists, all stars of W-G-N radio programs.

Tribune Film to Be Shown.

The inside workings of a metropolitan newspaper will be portrayed in the motion picture film, "Trees to Tribunes," with an accompanying narration by John M. Flynn of THE TRIBUNE'S business survey department.

In addition to Mr. Kinsley the roster of TRIBUNE writers who will give brief talks today include Phil Maxwell, who will welcome the clubwomen; India Moffett, society editor; Edward Barry, music critic; Nancy Cabot, quilt editor; Sally Joy Brown, conductor of the "Friend in Need" department; Herma Clark, who writes "When Chicago Was Young"; Irene Steyskal, Metropolitan section reporter; Virginia Gardner, news writer; Eleanor Nangle, editor of "Through the Looking Glass"; Rhea Seeger, fashion editor; Edith Weigle, interior decoration editor; Fanny Butcher, literary editor, and Mae Tinée, movie critic.

Program for Tomorrow.

On the program tomorrow Greta Stueckgold, German concert and operatic soprano, will replace Mr. Thomas in the discussion of publicity and its value to the artist. Miss Phyllis Hammond will speak for the Metropolitan section of THE TRIBUNE, and the entertainers will include Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Tom, Dick, and Harry, singing comedians; Sally Jo Nelson, ballad singer, and Carl Hoefle, accompanist of the W-G-N staf of stars.

Christmas Toys Celebration Opens with Parade Saturday

Chicago's official "opening day" for the sale of Christmas toys has been set for Saturday of this week, according to an announcement yesterday. In the loop, as well as in thirty outlying business districts, the day will be marked by parades, carnivals and feature sales.

"This year's earlier celebration, heretofore held on the Saturday following Thanksgiving, has been justified by early public interest in Yuletide buying," said Paul Kunning, of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Buyers Throng Toy Sections.

Toy ailes thronged with cheerful buyers have convinced the State street merchants that it's going to be an old-fashioned Christmas, with the most liberal buying in several years.

Eager children who surge daily to the display counters of loop stores are assured of more than their usual choice of toys. Trains this year are equipped with sirens, a new feature in miniature railroading, and the youthful engineer can blast his own signals of warning. Tin soldiers are popular.

So conscious are manufacturers of streamlining that sports goods, skis, skates and mechanical toys are sleek and slim in keeping with the current mode.

Quintuplet dolls and perfect likenesses of Shirley Temple adorn the doll display, and in one department diminutive houses furnish the problem for aspirant interior decorators, with custom built doll furnishings.

The Hobby Horse Returns.

Hobby horses, the oldest toy on display, once outworn and outmoded, have returned to favor. Especial tribute will be paid to Santa Claus in the loop parade next Saturday, according to an announcement yesterday by the State Street council. Displays will be set on platformed cars and cabooses which will run over street car tracks drawn by miniature locomotives emitting sparks and steam. The caravan of flat cars will appear on South state street at 11 a. m. and will travel northward to State and Madison, pausing there for brief speeches and proceeding north to Kinzie street.

Evanston Votes Bonds for Resurfacing Streets

By a vote of 1,528 to 1,142, residents of Evanston yesterday aproved a $200,000 bond issue for resurfacing and repaving streets in the suburb. To complete the project a grant of $190,000 has been promised by the PWA, subject to the passage of the bond issue.

THOMPSON FLOOD FUND HANDLING IS TRACED BY COURT

But Vanished $72,794 Still Is Unexplained.

An Appellate court ruling yesterday disclosed that more than a year ago William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, disgorged $31,131.17 from a charity fund to which he had clung for seven years. He paid that amount to the American Red Cross on July 19, 1934.

The ruling of the Appellate court was in the suit brought by Attorney General Otto Kerner in connection with the $139,772 contributed in 1927 for the relief of victims of a Mississippi flood in that year. Action to compel surrender of the entire sum except $35,846 which was actually spent for relief has been pending in the courts since 1931.

The Court's Decision.

This latest decision was that the Appellate court could not review the decision of the Circuit court concerning the use of $72,794 of the fund which had been spent for purposes other than relief because there had been an acceptance of the $31,131.17 remaining unspent when the lower court passed on the case.

This was the first public disclosure that the former mayor ever had given up a penny of the balance of the big fund placed in his hands for charity purposes. Inquiry disclosed that he signed a check for the balance on hand made payable to the Red Cross in conformity with the Circuit court decision. That was all that was left after the expenses of various waterway meetings and conventions had eaten up over half of the total.

Kerner May Go to High court.

The Appellate court held that the acceptance of the payment foreclosed the state from contesting that part of the Circuit court decision which held that the vanished $72,794 had been properly spent—that the plaintiff could not accept part of a decree and contest another part of it.

Attorney General Kerner, however, said he is considering carrying the point to the Illinois Supreme court. James G. Skinner, his assistant who handled the case, pointed out that the Circuit court decision specifically provided that the payment to the Red Cross should be "without prejudice" to the attorney general's right to appeal from any part of the decree.

G.O.P. PICKS 16 TO RAISE FUND FOR '36 BATTLE

Four Chicagoans to Aid Finance Drive.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The formation of a committee of sixteen nationally prominent industrialists and lawyers to raise a big fund for the Republican presidential campaign in 1936 was announced today by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee.

WILLIAM BROWN BELL.

At the same time, Fletcher issued a call for the Republican national committee to meet here Dec. 16, to fix the time and place of the 1936 Republican convention. The apportionment of delegates and the manner of their selection also will be considered at that time. Chicago is reported to be strongly favored by the committee as a convention city.

Many Never Before Active.

The committee of sixteen, Fletcher pointed out, includes many men who never before participated actively in politics. Remarking that he was delighted that those named had accepted the duty of financing the campaign "against the alien doctrins and maladministration of the New Deal," Fletcher declared:

"These are outstanding men of achievement, vitally concerned over the welfare of the country. Realizing that the American system is threatened and that the future of the country is seriously menaced, they have agreed to put their shoulders to the wheel."

William B. Bell of New York, president of the American Cyanamid company, will be chairman of the committee, and Charles B. Goodspeed, assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee, Chicago lawyer, will be vice chairman.

Sewell L. Avery, president and chairman of the board, Montgomery Ward & Co.; Edward L. Ryerson, president, Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, and Silas H. Strawn of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw are other Chicagoans on the committee.

Others on Committee.

The remaining members:

Wallace M. Alexander, San Francisco, Cal., chairman of board, Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd.

J. F. Lincoln, Cleveland, O., president, Lincoln Electric company.

A. W. Robertson, Pittsburgh, Pa., chairman of board, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Henry D. Sharpe, Providence, R. I., treasurer, Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co.

Operations in Open.

Fletcher declared that the operations of the financing committee would be out in the open and that there would be no secrecy about the collection or disbursement of funds for the national committee.

"The spirit in which these men have joined the committee indicates clearly their convictions," he said.

"They believe in a government of laws, not of men. They believe in preserving for the younger and future generations the same opportunities for advancement which they themselves enjoyed. They believe that if full employment is to be attained there must be both a recovery of basic industrial activity and a revival of agricultural income on the basis of plenty—not on the basis of scarcity. They believe that recovery of agriculture and industry and full reëmployment go hand in hand.

"In these circumstances the only effective method of preserving the American system is, so they are convinced, national political action. To this end they have pledged their aid to the Republican party.

"These men are strong in the conviction that the Republican party is the only political organization to whose support there must be rallied those of the north and of the south, of the east and of the west—of whatsoever political faith—in short, those throughout this nation who believe in preserving the American system.

"There will be no secrecy about the collection or the disbursement of funds for the Republican national committee. The provisions of the federal corrupt practices act will be observed.

"While I do not expect to raise a sum which can match the billions of the people's money the administration is now using in many flagrant instances for purely political purposes, I hope we can raise enough to defray the legitimate expenses of a straight-out fight against the New Deal."

INDUSTRIAL LIFE HARMS WOMEN, WARNS DOCTOR

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A gynecologist today warned that women are not biologically adapted for the "serious burdens of gainful occupations and the demands of drinking, smoking, and other pastimes."

Dr. Elbert Dunlap, Dallas, Tex., told the gynecology section of the Southern Medical association convention here that the added strain placed upon women in industrial life had taken severe toll of feminine health.

Dr. Dunlap urged physicians to exercise care in indorsing legislation for legalized abortions, sterilization, and eugenic marriages.

ARREST OF TWO IN POISON SODA DEATHS ORDERED

Police Doubt Theory of Mass Murder Plot.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Warants for the arrest of two men were issued here today as officials began an investigation into three deaths and 13 severe illnesses attributed to poison baking soda.

A warning also was broadcast to hundreds of housewives who purchased the soda, distributed by a retailer in a bargain sale.

City Health Officer J. C. Geiger said that twenty deaths from gastro-intestinal disturbances during the last two weeks might be traceable to the soda.

Apparently paying little attention to theories that the soda was deliberately poisoned by some one bent on massmurder, authorities nevertheless could not understand how so much virulent poison could have been put in the compound accidentally.

Warants were issued for the arrest of Morris Rosenthal, described as a department store executive, and Nick Manno, a wholesaler in whose establishment the soda was barreled. The two were charged with violating an ordinance against distributing contaminated goods.

Freed on Bail.

Later Joseph Rosenthal gave the information that Morris Rosenthal was dead.

"Morris was my father," he said, "and he is no longer living. I want to give myself up in response to the warant."

He accepted service of a corrected warant and was released under $250 bail.

Officials today hunted for the source of the poison at the wholesale establishment where the soda had been dumped from broken retail packages into barrels for bulk sale.

72 Prisoners Ill.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Seventy-two prisoners in the county jail today became ill immediately after the noon meal and five of them were taken to the city hospital suffering from ptomaine poisoning.

Dr. R. N. Harger, toxicologist at the Indiana university school of medicine, said that apparently tainted flour used in the gravy served at the noon meal had caused the sickness.

WILEY POST'S PLANE WILL START JOURNEY TO MUSEUM TODAY

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The old "Winnie Mae of Oklahoma," monoplane in which Wiley Post flew twice around the world, will start its last trip tomorrow, with nobody at the controls.

The low winged white and purple ship will go to a place of national honor in the Smithsonian institution at Washington, near the "Spirit of St. Louis."

Paul E. Barber, assistant curator in charge of aeronautics for the museum, on a visit here today said the Winnie Mae would be shipped by railroad from Bartlesville to Washington.

FINED $200 FOR STRIKING MOTHER.

Arthur Glassford, 27 years old, 2134 South Michigan avenue, who admitted striking his mother, was fined $200 yesterday by Judge Eugene J. Holland on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was taken to the Bridewell when he was unable to pay.

DECISION DENYING A JUDGMENT FOR DEFICIENCY UPSET

The Appellate court yesterday reversed a ruling made eighteen months ago in the Superior court by the late Judge Harry A. Lewis, in which Judge Lewis refused to allow a deficiency judgment in a real estate foreclosure in which the mortgage holder bid in the mortgaged property at a price less than the amount due on the mortgage.

The appeal in the case was taken by Joseph Eiger, real estate broker, who in 1926 sold the southwest corner of Lake Shore drive and Pearson street to Jarvis Hunt, architect, taking back a mortgage for $512,950. On default of payments Eiger foreclosed, bidding in the property for $500,000. He then sought a deficiency judgment against Hunt for $98,112 for unpaid principal and interest.

In denying the deficiency judgment, Judge Lewis said, he realized that his ruling "shocked our theory of contracts, upheld for centuries," but he asserted that "the courts should not fail to provide relief when the legislature has been remiss." The opinion reversing his ruling and granting the deficiency judgment was written by Justice Ross C. Hall and concurred in by Justices Oscar Hebel and Denis E. Sullivan.

REED STRIKES NAME FROM PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES' ROSTER

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Former United States Senator David A. Reed today eliminated himself as a presidential possibility with the candid explanation that he lacked "political sex appeal."

The Pittsburgher couldn't quite define political sex appeal beyond, "Roosevelt has it. But I discovered last year that I didn't. . . . I'm not a candidate for any public office."

It was last year that Reed was beaten for reëlection to the senate.

New York reports estimated that Reed was a 1 to 20 shot to win the Republican presidential nomination next year. But Reed said he's too busy enjoying himself to be a candidate, although as a national committeeman he's interested. But he won't discuss the potential Republican candidates "because it's much to early."

After a stretch in the army and more than 12 years in the senate Reed reports that he is finally enjoying life.

RYE AND WATER now the style!

America is developing a taste of its own. You'll hear folks who know ask for "rye-and-water."

Possibly some smart club served it first, and smart guests picked it up. Today it is everywhere.

And here's another tip. Rye-and-water fanciers are finding that Old Overholt is the real rye whiskey for their favorite mix. Aged 4½ years in wood and bottled in bond under U. S. Government supervision, this Pennsylvania straight rye whiskey has its own inimitable taste to turn plain rye-and-water into nectar.

Old Overholt's rich grainy flavor stands alone. Once you know it, no one can ever fool you on it. Try Old Overholt and find out for yourself what 125 years of leisurely and old-fashioned experience really mean when concentrated on real rye whiskey.

For Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy, at Home

Needs No Cooking! Big Saving!

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The pint thus made gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money, yet it is far more effective than ready-made medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This home-mixed remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes the irritated membranes, loosens the phlegm, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous for its effect in stopping coughs quickly. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

TREASURY HEAD TALKS ON TAXES BEFORE MAYORS

City Heads Ask for More Federal Funds.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Taxes and relief—those Siamese twins of government scheduled to play a feature part in the big political show of 1936—occupied the troubled attention of the administration today.

For many months the relief program has been much in the foreground with the subject of taxes carefully avoided by administration spokesmen. But Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, following the example of President Roosevelt, who remarked yesterday that "taxes have grown up like Topsy," today applauded the chief executive's plan for a national conference to study the tax problem.

Collection Costs Cited.

Addressing the 100 mayors meeting here, Secretary Morgenthau attacked "overlapping tax systems," which, he said, in many cases have made the cost of tax collection "far in excess of what we have collected."

The mayors then concluded their conference, taking no notice of the tax suggestion, but unanimously adopting a resolution demanding appropriations from congress and from state governments for additional funds to carry on "a planned and comprehensive program" for national unemployment relief during the fiscal year 1936-'37.

Favors Zones for Taxes.

In discussing the tax situation Morgenthau declared:

"I don't suppose there is a more important question facing government officials, municipal, state, or federal. There must be outlined certain zones of taxes, some exclusively for cities, some for counties, some for states, and some for the federal government."

La Guardia succeeds Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee.

The mayors recommended that the social security act be amended to include old age pensions for municipal employés and urged coöperation by cities with the department of justice for the suppression of crime.

ANDREWS URGES DOUBLED POWER FOR AIR FORCE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Strengthening of the general headquarters air force, striking arm of the nation's new air defense, by more than doubling its officer strength and plane power has been recommended to the army's chief of staf by Brig. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commanding general of the force, it was learned tonight.

Reporting on the first six months of experimentation with the unique mobile flying unit, combining tactical combat forces under one commander and staf, Gen. Andrews declared the development "sound," resulting in an "increase in the combat efficiency of the air force and in better control and supervision."

He asked that every effort be made to obtain, by legislation or from any other available source, funds sufficient to bring the air force up to its authorized airplane strength within the next five years. This would entail an increase from the present 371 ships to an ultimate total of more than 1,000.

The report asked that at least 477 regular army officers be assigned to the command, slightly more than the present strength, and that 550 reserve officers in addition be placed on extended active duty in the air corps. These would go to the G. H. Q. air unit. Andrews complained the uit is now undermanned.

ROOSEVELT SON QUITS AS HEAD OF YEAST FIRM

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—James Roosevelt, eldest son of President Roosevelt, today announced his resignation as president of the National Grain Yeast corporation of Belleville, N. J., as of Nov. 1.

The announcement, issued at Mr. Roosevelt's insurance office here, gave "the pressure of other business" as the reason, although reports from New Jersey had quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying he resigned because "of a disagreement with the board of directors."

Mr. Roosevelt became president of the corporation last July 1, succeeding Samuel Brass, and spent several days a week at the Belleville offices.

TWO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Walter Latkoff, 20 years old, 916 Noble street, and Joseph Bojacz, 22, of 1239 Cleaver street, were held to the grand jury on charges of murder yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Felix Kowalski, 41 years old, victim of a beating by robbers.

36 ALDERMEN OF 50 HAVE PERFECT MARKS FOR ANSWERING ROLL

Thirty-six of the 50 aldermen had perfect records of attendance at all meetings of committees to which they belonged for a period from April 15 to and including Oct. 1, according to a report prepared by City Clerk Peter J. Brady.

The record is an average of 72 per cent for the entire council, or 2 per cent better than the average attendance mark since Mr. Brady was required, by council order, to check on the frequency with which the aldermen answer the committee roll calls.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], who has had a perfect attendance record for the last three years, maintained it, attending all 25 meetings of his committee. Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], who missed an opportunity to equal Rowan's record in point of time when he left the council temporarily, attended all 48 of his committee meetings for another perfect score. The others with perfect records are:

Serious illness caused Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th] to miss ten of twenty-six meetings for the low average of 61.5. Similarly, illness caused Ald. James F. Kovarik [15th] to miss nine of twenty-five meetings for an average of 64 per cent.

ROOSEVELT OFF FOR GEORGIA TO SPEND 3 WEEKS

Plans Atlanta Speech on Nov. 29.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The President left Washington early tonight for his annual visit to Warm Springs, which has been a second home to him since he recuperated there from his attack of infantile paralysis. In an absence of three weeks from the White House he will divide his time among work, politics, and rest.

With the 1936 election less than a year away the President is following through the campaign he launched in his western tour last September. He is to make two speeches, which will be followed closely throughout the country—one at Atlanta, Nov. 29, and the other at Chicago, on his return to the capital, Dec. 9. In Chicago he is expected to carry his plea for a permanent Agricultural Adjustment administration to the American Farm federation.

Following his Chicago speech, President Roosevelt will go to South Bend, Ind., to accept an honorary degree and make a brief address at the University of Notre Dame. The acceptance of this invitation is seen as one of the President's most adroit political overtures in that it is a gesture to Catholic voters distressed over his failure to take a stand against religious persecutions in Mexico.

In the official papers the President will carry with him to Warm Springs will be a working draft of the 1937-'38 budget. His annual message on the budget also will have political implications, as it is reported that the message will carry a gesture toward balancing the budget in the hope of silencing criticism of New Deal extravagance.

TEAR GAS BOMBS SCATTER PICKETS IN AKRON STRIKE

Akron, O., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Tear and vomiting gas bombs today dispersed 150 men and women strikers who picketed gates of the Ohio Insulator company plant at Barberton, near here, after the pickets jeered at orders from city authorities and deputy sherifs to scatter. The strikers stumbled through the gas fumes after the bombs were set off, deserting their posts but reassembled two blocks away.

There the pickets were joined by a crowd of 600 spectators and sympathizers. The deputy sherifs advanced again and warned that they would employ additional gas shells if the crowd failed to disperse.

The strike began on Sept. 17, when 250 employés walked out to enforce demands for a 20 per cent wage increase, a pledge of time and a half for overtime work in excess of 40 hours per week, and a working agreement. The plant has been idle since the strike, although four automobile loads of strike breakers entered the grounds today.

'BUILDERS' LASH BORAH, NEW DEAL AND ROOSEVELT

President Called 'Weak Puppet'; Ickes 'Stupid.'

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Sharp and detailed arraignment of New Deal failures and a personal criticism of President Roosevelt featured the first fall luncheon of the National Republican builders today. It was far from being a routine occasion. The addresses served to show emphatically the bitterness with which the coming national campaign is to be waged.

Mrs. Preston Davie, founder and a director of the Builders, charged that the New Deal low-rent housing scheme, as administered by Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, already has spent $19,153,665 and not a single family in the country is housed in a dwelling constructed with that money. She labeled the enterprise a stupendous failure due to "mismanagement and stupidity."

Hardly had the audience of nearly 200 men and women stopped applauding Mrs. Davie's striking address, which was read for her because of her enforced absence, when Demarest Lloyd, editor of the Washington Weekly Review, brought the gathering to its feet in an enthusiastic outburst by an assault on the New Deal and its chief exponents. He followed with a caustic criticism of Senator Borah which had the audience gasping.

Flays Borah As a "Red."

"I say quite seriously," Lloyd declared, "that I firmly believe the Republicans can win the next election if they will pay the price. What is that price? Borah for President?" At this point the speaker was interrupted by cries of "No," "no," "never."

"Some people think he is all right," continued Mr. Lloyd. "They would better look him up—his record in the senate, his speeches outside, and not omitting the who's who of the Red network with which his name is associated."

"A year ago Roosevelt was on top of the world, with isolated criticisms here and there," Lloyd said. "Last spring criticism began to be widespread and now it is a spontaneous, deafening—but as yet unorganized—roar.

"Roosevelt is not a bad man—just weak and somewhat shifty. He has played the rôle of a puppet. The international radical crowd really has been running things.

"The Roosevelt myth has exploded. All this piffle about more abundant life, New Deal, forgotten man, better social order, and that pious phase 'social justice' are seen for what they are."

"Measure of Ickes' Failure."

"The peak appropriations made since 1933 for this purpose amount to $390,825,000, and administered properly would have provided for 25,000 families now sheltered in homes which are a disgrace to America," she stated.

"This was the measure of Secretary Ickes' opportunity, as it also is the measure of his failure. At no point in the federal program have the hopes of more people been disappointed or deeper resentment aroused than in this field of low rent housing, nor has any one national activity done more to retard recovery of the durable goods industries."

PLOTTERS SHOUT IN POLISH COURT; LEADER EJECTED

Demand Ukrainian Language at Trial.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 20.—Stephen Bandera, a leader of the Ukrainian terrorist organization charged with plotting the assassination of Minister of Interior Bronislaw Pieracki in June, 1934, was carried screaming from the courtroom today.

Bandera was aroused when the court refused to conduct proceedings in the Ukrainian language, supplying interpreters instead. Bandera protested the court's ruling that the twelve defendants be tried separately and refused to let them communicate with each other during the proceedings. When the prisoners attempted to demonstrate the guards forced them into their seats.

Denounce Lithuania.

Bitter denunciations of Lithuania appear in the Polish press, following the prosecutor's declaration yesterday that the Kaunas dictatorship had given monthly subsidies to terrorists and provided them shelter and false passports when they were fleeing from Polish police.

The press called the defendants a group of gangsters with university educations who proved the willing dupes of Col. Konowalcev, who directed their activities, such as bombings and murders in Poland while collecting money for them from Ukrainians abroad.

Czech Legation Stoned.

The prosecutor declared today that the largest donations to terrorists came from Lithuania, which has maintained an unofficial state of war with Poland since 1920 because of the occupation of Vilna by Polish troops.

Tonight a mob of Poles, for the second time in a week, suddenly appeared before the Czechoslovakian legation, bombarding it with stones, breaking every window before police reserves could be called to clear the streets.

NEW SIKORSKY AMPHIBIAN HERE ON FLIGHT WEST

Destined to Fly Mail in Hawaiian Isles.

BY WAYNE THOMAS.

On a flight in which delivery and final acceptance tests are being combined, the new Sikorsky S-43, a twin motored amphibian plane purchased by Inter-Island Airways of Hawaii, landed at Chicago airport at noon yesterday. The big silver machine paused on the ground long enough for a brief inspection by airport officials, and then, fuel tanks having been refilled, it was headed for Kansas City by the pilot, Charles Elliott, chief of operations for Inter-Island Airways.

Destined to fly passengers and mail between islands in the Hawaiian group, the S-43 is on its way from the Sikorsky plant at Bridgeport, Conn., to San Francisco, where it is to be dismantled and shipped aboard a Matson line steamer to Honolulu. From Kansas City the ship will head to Albuquerque, N. M., and Los Angeles, before going to San Francisco.

First To Be Delivered.

The S-43, first of its type to be delivered by the Sikorsky factory, is a "baby clipper" plane, a miniature from the same brood as the famous Sikorsky S-42 planes, the giant four motored Brazillian and Pan-American clipper ships which opened the trans-Pacific airway. These big planes were flying boats but the S-43 can alight on land as well as on water, having retractible landing wheels fitted for this purpose.

This amphibian character, coupled with the fact that the S-43 is as fast as the best airliners flying the airlanes today and can carry a considerably larger load, places it in a class by itself. This amphibian, powered with two Pratt & Whitney Hornet engines each developing 750 horse power, has a top speed of 196 miles an hour and cruises at three-quarter throttle at 8,000 feet at 179 miles an hour.

Carries 16 Passengers.

Sixteen passengers and nearly a ton of mail and express can be carried by the plane non-stop for 750 miles at that cruising speed. This load is more than that carried either by the Douglas DC-2 or the Boeing 247D, which are the first ranking commercial planes used by the major transcontinental airlines. This equality of performance is maintained on virtually the same horse power as that of the land ships.

"The S-43 is extremely stable, a dream to fly, and lands with flap and undercarriage down at 56 miles an hour," said Pilot Elliott yesterday. "We've been cruising along easily at 165 to 175 miles an hour thus far."

First Concrete Poured in Tennessee Valley Dam

Pickwick Landing, Tenn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The first concrete was poured tonight at Pickwick Landing dam, the Tennessee Valley authority's great $22,000,000 navigation and flood control project. Under the glare of floodlights the concrete was poured into the navigation lock section.

OWENS ON STAND FOR BROTHER IN ASSAULT TRIAL

Gives Defense Version of Clash with Reporter.

Attorney Thomas L. Owens, 2052 Berwyn avenue, testified yesterday before a jury in Judge Eugene McGarry's Municipal court, where his brother and partner, Attorney John E. Owens, who has offices at 160 North La Salle street, is on trial, charged with assault and battery of Charles Purvis, a reporter for THE TRIBUNE.

Thomas Owens is defendant in a similar case brought by Charles Tyler, another TRIBUNE reporter. Because of the Municipal court rules the cases must be tried separately although the charges grow out of the same assault.

Thomas Owens testified that on June 29 when he and his brother were driving home in the brother's automobile, the car driven by Purvis scraped the front left fender of the Owens car in Sheridan road, just north of Belmont avenue.

Lawyer's Version of Affair.

"I was attracted by a blast of profanity," testified Thomas Owens. "Someone shouted 'get over.' We paid no attention and went ahead. A little further down the street the other automobile contacted us and there was another burst of profanity."

"I saw Tyler shaking his fist at us as the Purvis car was moving away. I told my brother they were running away. As we pulled up beside the Purvis car, which was stopped by a trafic light, I saw Tyler with a club in his hand. He said, 'I'll beat your damn brains out.'"

Owens said that they pulled ahead of the Purvis car and that he went back to the car. As he did so, he said, the door opened and Tyler kicked at him with both feet. Tyler, he said, still had the club in his hand.

"As I grabbed Tyler's feet I looked over and saw the driver [Purvis] bringing up a club, and my brother, John, then struck him.

Charges Purvis Attacked Him.

"We started back to our car and Purvis came running up swinging his fists at John, who parried the blows or took them on his shoulder and then he struck Purvis with a left in his right eye. Purvis had no glasses on at that time. Purvis continued to swing at John and finally John hit him on the chin with another left and knocked him down."

Owens testified he did not strike one blow during the affray. On cross-examination Prosecutor Charles Dougherty tried in vain to get Owens to give an explanation as to why if Purvis and Tyler were armed with clubs in the car, as the witness contended, they did not use them outside the car.

The defense also called character witnesses for John Owens. Among those testifying for him were Judge Joseph Burke and Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court. Emil Rothe, a teacher of physical education, was the only character witness cross-examined by the prosecutor. Under Dougherty's questioning Rothe said that John Owens was one of his pupils and that he "some times gives the classes boxing instructions."

MRS. MURPHY'S TASTE IN HATS FINDS DEFENDER

Jury in Estate Battle Gets New Slant.

BY KAY HALL.

An explanation of why the late Mrs. Charles Webb Murphy, widow of a former owner of the Chicago Cubs, wore hats described by a witness as "freakish" was offered yesterday in the hearing of the suit to set aside her will.

Mrs. Murphy died in 1933 at the age of 62, leaving an estate estimated at $300,000 to $600,000. The will is being contested by a brother, George Krumdick, and a sister, Mrs. Millie Fry, who were not among the eight principal beneficiaries. They contend Mrs. Murphy was of unsound mind when she made the will in 1932.

The reason for Mrs. Murphy's choice of headgear was adjudged not legally competent by Circuit Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, but the jury in the case appeared relieved to hear it after having listened to considerable testimony about hats.

The witness who offered the explanation was Mrs. Peggy Vaughan, 6165 Winthrop avenue, wife of Irving Vaughan, sports writer for THE TRIBUNE. Mrs. Vaughan said she knew Mrs. Murphy because she and Mr. Vaughan visited frequently in the Murphy home while Mr. Murphy was owner of the Cubs.

Objections Interrupt Witness.

"What about the hats Mrs. Murphy wore?" Mrs. Vaughan was asked by Attorney John S. Hummer, representing the beneficiaries of the will.

"She wore becoming hats——" began Mrs. Vaughan, but the answer was stricken from the record because it was a conclusion. Mrs. Vaughan tried again:

"She had long and beautiful hair——" [objected to and stricken]. "Well, she had a lovely head of hats——" [objected to and stricken]. "It was rather difficult for her to get hats——" [objected and and stricken]. "She couldn't wear a small hat because——" [objected to and stricken].

After this stream of objections from Attorney C. Helmer Johnson, representing Krumdick and Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Vaughan said simply that Mrs. Murphy wore medium sized hats of small brim and that they were of the fashion prevailing for women of her age.

Attorney on the Stand.

Patrick L. McArdle, attorney for the Northern Trust company, who drew up the will, testified that Mrs. Murphy asked him about the value of her estate in 1931.

"I told her it was at least $500,000," he related, "and she said: 'That's all I want to know.'"

McArdle and Attorney Johnson got into a spirited controversy on cross-examination.

Q. [by Johnson]—You say you did not always smell liquor on Mrs. Murphy's breath? A.—I didn't say anything about liquor on Mrs. Murphy's breath. If you want to ask me a proper question I shall be glad to tell you that I never smelled liquor on her breath.

Q.—Can a person who has been drinking himself smell it on another? A.—You ought to know that very well, Helmer.

Both attorneys smiled and the questioning went on.

Q.—Of your own knowledge, do you know about Mrs. Murphy drinking? A.—No, but I had hearsay knowledge since the summer of 1933.

Mrs. Marguerite Krumdick, widow of Mrs. Murphy's brother Walter, testified that in her 30 year friendship with Mrs. Murphy she had never seen her under the influence of liquor.

Short Circuit Causes Fifth Fire for 'Jubilee' Company

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—While "Jubilee" played a matinée today in the Imperial theater a short circuit caused an outpouring of smoke near a reflector about fifty feet above the stage. The fireman detailed in the theater halted the fire by cutting off the circuit in the wire. The show went on uninterrupted. This was the fifth fire threat experienced by the "Jubilee" company since it went into rehersal last September.

St. Lawrence Waterway Supporters Meet in City

The executive committee of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association met in the Stevens hotel yesterday to plan a new campaign for the St. Lawrence seaway treaty. The treaty was signed by the United States and Canada in July, 1932, but was defeated in the senate in March, 1934. Officials of the association said they hoped President Roosevelt would introduce the treaty again at the next session of congress.

How Commercial Credit Company Serves Buyer and Seller

Commercial Credit Company purchases instalment lien obligations from responsible Manufacturers, Distributors and Dealers. Financing plans are provided to cover the time payment sale of automobiles, refrigerators, oil burners, engines, machinery and equipment, air conditioning units, heating plants, store and office fixtures, and a score of other such broad classifications, including hundreds of individual products.

Founded in 1912 with $300,000 capital, Commercial Credit Company is today one of the largest institutions of its kind. It operates through more than 2,200 employees in 154 local offices in the United States and Canada, and is owned by nearly 15,000 stockholders.

With more than $45,000,000 capital and surplus, and a volume of more than $465,000,000 for the last twelve months, it offers large resources to promote local industrial activity.

IF people couldn't buy on "time", what a terrific set-back business would get!

In the past year, Commercial Credit Company has placed more than $465,000,000 of credit assistance at the disposal of millions of families, merchants and manufacturers.

How American Home Life Has Benefited

On the domestic side, its range of operations has covered the purchase of automobiles, refrigerators, oil burners, air conditioning systems, electric ranges and many other desirable things which have contributed to the comfort and happiness of the American family. At least half of all such purchases are made by wage and salary earners of moderate means and thrifty habits. "Time" buying has been a boon to them.

Financing for Merchants and Manufacturers

Naturally all the family purchases referred to meant sales and profits to merchants and manufacturers. But there was an equally important phase of Commercial Credit service which extended them additional benefits on a vast scale. By the purchase of current open accounts and notes owing to them, millions of dollars of resources were released for new operations. By financing the purchase of motor trucks, Diesel engines, time and labor saving machinery, power plants, store and office fixtures, vital replacements of old or obsolete equipment were made immediately possible without drain on working capital or reserves. In many cases, the economies thus effected more than paid the entire cost.

Safety in Time Payment Financing

Reputable and experienced institutions like Commercial Credit have helped industry to expand physically and market-wise; have improved industrial economy and efficiency. They have aided mass production and created jobs for millions of workers. They have enabled American families to enjoy the highest standards of living any people have ever known.

Time payment financing is a highly specialized business involving problems not only of finance, but also of law, insurance, merchandising, credits and collections. The right kind of service is safe and economical. An inexpert, poorly administered credit or collection service can be troublesome and expensive. Before you conclude any time payment purchase, investigate carefully the reputation and experience of the proposed financing company.

Insist on Official Commercial Credit Plan

It took years to perfect the Official Commercial Credit Plan, with its safeguards for buyer and seller, and with cost reduced to the lowest level consistent with such safety. But results have proved the inherent soundness and economy of the planning. The wonderful growth of the company in twenty-three years and its national reputation for faithful and efficient service to millions are your guarantee of safety, reliability and low cost. In any time payment transaction, you will be wise to insist on the OFFICIAL COMMERCIAL CREDIT PLAN.

FARM TARIFS AND THE RUBBER STAMP CONGRESS.

Many congressmen who had part in the great absconding now have something to explain. They made congress a rubber stamp. They changed their legislative body into a parliament of Paris to receive decrees and enter them on the books. They made the legislative function, one of the three branches of government, a rudimentary appendage. They abdicated in favor of the executive branch and tried to leave the judicial out of account. They delegated their own authority, transferring legislative power to the President and to boards, commissions and administrators.

In one such delegation of authority congress gave the administration a tarif-making power larger and more complete than the executive ever had exercised. One consequence of this grant, in which the congressmen gave up their responsibility and authority in tarif legislation, is the tarif treaty with Canada opening the American farm markets to Canadian products.

The American farmers are properly astonished. They have been taking quotas, reducing their acreage, killing their stock and in various ways cutting down their output in accordance with a New Deal scheme to increase their market prices. Now the New Deal opens their markets to a new competitor by revising the tarif under authority delegated by congress.

New Deal congressmen who made light of invalidating representative government in the Hitler manner will now do the explaining to angry farm constituents. The Canadian treaty was not submitted to congress. The revised schedules were not considered by congressional committees or submitted to the houses. They were prepared in secret. They were withheld even after announcement of the negotiation of the treaty was made.

The American citizens affected were denied their day in their national legislature. Their national representatives had surrendered their legislative duties and had delegated them to the executive branch. From such delegation of authority comes autocratic action. The protest should have begun when the New Deal began to make over the American form of government. It was made then but not heeded. Americans who do not like the Canadian treaty may learn to be fonder of the old form which was so lightly set aside.

HORRORS OF WAR.

A pamphlet on "The Horrors of Modern War," published by Digest and Review [not the Literary Digest] of New York, is a characteristic contribution to the pacifist effort to frighten the American public out of preparedness for war. Offered as "the result of long and painstaking research," it presents nothing that has not been widely published and discussed in newspapers, magazines, and books. There has, in fact, never been a war the horrors of which have been so widely advertised as those of the late war and no country in the world where the glorification of war is more negligible than in America.

The pamphlet ignores this and seeks by an accumulation of incidents of the sufferings of soldiers, without regard to proportion or the experience of the overwhelming majority of men in war, to create a state of mind in which no other rational consideration than physical comfort and safety can influence individual judgment or public policy.

This is pacifism gone gaga, hysterically demanding peace at any price, including the price of making Americans a race of terrorized weaklings, predestined victims of any encroachment or imposition. That this effort makes for our peace and escape from the horrors of war is the worst of pacifist fallacies. If it succeeded in shaping our national character and policy it would make certain the well deserved loss of the independence all self-respecting peoples cherish or aspire to and insure defeat in any war intolerable aggression forced upon us.

The notion that a people afraid to face the sufferings and sacrifices of war and unprepared to deal with its responsibilities can hope to escape war or subjection can only be held by minds oblivious of experience, past and present. It is the defeated nation that suffers the worst in war and peace.

Today the savage nations are armed and arming, are organized to the limit for war. Russia, under a régime built on violence, has the largest army in the world, and nothing in the moral code or past methods of this despotism offers any reason to doubt that whenever it seems expedient it will resort to any savagery. The military rulers of Japan, Italy, and Germany have no observable reservations for the use of brute force and no delusions of pacifism. The weak peoples who stand in the way of the strong are not saved by the horrors of war, never have been and never will be. The best protection from the horrors of war is the moral and material preparedness which the neurotic pacifism of this pamphlet seeks to prevent.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR SERVICE.

After sifting the facts to the bottom it was a relief to learn that no affirmative action had been taken on a proposal as reported from Ottawa that British, Canadian, and American air lines had united to conduct experiments that would develop trans-Atlantic air service via Ireland, Newfoundland, Montreal, and Toronto to connect European air service with the substantial existing network in the United States. The scheme has been proposed but practically nothing but promotional activities has yet been attempted.

Notwithstanding the apparent lack of substance behind the report that emanated from Ottawa, it must be admitted that there is a real threat in the possibility. Steamship passengers and freight are solicited and have moved via this route for years. Why not air service? Marine experience has taught us that when once a foreign line becomes established it is most difficult to dislodge because of the homeland subsidies that it is able to secure. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE urges air interests of the United States to speed up their activities. Trans-Atlantic flying is inevitable and the first in the field will have all the advantage.

BLANK CHECK, UNCOLLECTIBLE.

A cable to the New York Times reports that Senator King of Utah, speaking at a dinner given in Manila to the congressional junketeers, declared that the United States will always owe a moral obligation to defend the Philippines from external attack. "Great enthusiasm," says the dispatch, greeted this announcement.

And no wonder. Senator King is a veteran of the United States senate whose utterances are supposed to carry the weight of elder statesmanship. He spoke to a gathering of members of congress, apparently without spoken dissent and probably with applause from his associate junketeers. Making all allowance for the conditions which tempt the indiscreet utterance of banquet oratory, the Filipinos are excusable if they take Senator King's assertion as responsible and authoritative. At the present stage of our relations it will encourage in them the notion that independence means freedom to manage their own affairs, with the United States sharing the consequences. On that plausible assumption the Filipinos might well think the two hundred thousand appropriated to entertain the junketeers the most profitable expenditure they are ever likely to make in their public finance.

Unfortunately this blank check is a fraud. The American people will not send their sons to die for the defense of the Philippines when the Philippine people have, by their own election, taken independence from our hands. Senator King's theory of our moral obligation after the severance of political ties is nonsense and no conceivable American government would dare to act upon it. We took over the government of the Philippines to their great benefit. Their people demand independence. When they receive it we have no more obligation to defend them than we have to defend any other nation independent of our control and no American will ever be called to fight or die for their defense.

The mischief of Senator King's declaration is not that it will ever bind the American nation to a responsibility no sane government would acknowledge. It is poison for the Filipinos, to the extent they find in it encouragement to adopt responsibilities which their politicians are inclined to underestimate or ignore. It is deplorable also from the American viewpoint as seeming to promise what we shall not fulfill, thus giving color to future charges of repudiation.

The Philippine junket was a discreditable incident in the record of the American congress, a source of humiliation to every self-respecting American. Senator King's declaration is an expectable folly in such an enterprise, but it is so flagrant as to call for prompt repudiation on behalf of honest relations with the Philippine people.

Editorial of the Day

AN ASSIGNMENT FOR MR. MICHELSON.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

The most uncompromising and vigorous critic of the New Deal's fiscal policies perhaps is Lewis W. Douglas. Yet, strangely enough, Mr. Douglas is the one critic whom the administration consistently ignores. A vast silence settles over official Washington whenever President Roosevelt's former budget director launches a barbed shaft in the direction of the New Deal. Even in the offices of Charles Michelson, director of publicity of the Democratic national committee, the clacking typewriters are hushed after Mr. Douglas has his say. Mr. Michelson's weekly publicity release entitled "Dispelling the Fog" has never yet attempted to dissipate the mists which swirl around this erstwhile New Dealer.

But it is perfectly obvious that Mr. Michelson, as the fog dispeller par excellence of the Democratic party, will sooner or later have to bring Lewis Douglas into the open and let the clear white light of truth beat down upon him.

The need for some such service to the American public is made all the plainer by Mr. Douglas' latest attack on the administration's fiscal policies delivered in the current Atlantic Monthly.

In this article the former director of the budget lambastes the administration for resorting to government spending as an instrument of recovery. Such experiments, he points out, have been attempted by many governments and they have "invariably led to debasement of the currency, the destruction of savings, the ruination of the middle classes, and the impoverishment of the entire people." Mr. Douglas can discern no exception to the general rule in the present instance. He is depressed by the thought that the federal debt has been increased by more than $12,000,000,000 since 1931, and that the government is still spending more than twice as much as it receives. Out of this situation, he fears, there may develop another which will impoverish the nation through currency depreciation. He concedes that such spending may give a temporary appearance of recovery. "But it has no solid foundation. For it disappears when government spending stops. And sooner or later government spending must stop."

As for the question of ordinary vs. extraordinary budgets, Mr. Douglas says:

"Many other governments in South America and Europe have at various times deluded the people with this device of the extraordinary budget. In all cases in which it has been resorted to a collapse of the currency and the destruction of people's savings have resulted."

The time is ripe, quite obviously, for Mr. Michelson to perform his fog dispelling act with Lewis Douglas.

I wish I didn't have so darned many conscientious scruples.

IT LOOKS HOPELESS! In spite of all warnings, safety campaigns, and the horrible spectacle of death and disaster before them motorists keep driving into trees and telephone poles. The only answer seems to be to cut down all trees and telephone poles within a half mile of every road. But shucks! What's the use? Some motorists would travel miles off the highway to find a tree to bump into.

CHRIST IN MEXICO.

On top of a mountain of granite,
Where eagles and gray vultures fly,
I saw a cross silhouetted
Against the Mexican sky.
The years have corroded the mountain,
Its jagged rock edges are bare,
The rain and the wind sweep the climbways,
Not even coyotes home there.
They told me a priest climbed the mountain
Three hundred or more years ago.
But what was his name or his purpose
The natives somehow do not know.

No path now leads to the cross.
Only the eagles can reach it . . .
(Only the heart knows its loss!)
And I shall remember that mountain
Where eagles and black vultures fly

THE TEMPERAMENTAL THYROID.

WHEN the glands of the body burst into flower, as it were, at the period of adolescence [the change from childhood to youth] the thyroid may fail to measure up to the demands made upon it and become a source of discomfort or even of actual ill health.

We have no accurate means of measuring the secretion produced by the gland as its products are poured directly into the blood. We do know, however, many of the constituents of this important fluid and, of these, iodine is regarded as indispensable. We ordinarily assume then that goiter is the result of iodine deficiency. In other words, that there is not quite enough iodine in the body to maintain the gland at its normal functioning level. Furthermore, we recognize the presence of more thyroid disease in some parts of the country than in others. This means that food, water, soil, and general climatic conditions probably play an important rôle in the occurrence of the disease.

The thyroid gland forms an important link between the sexual system and the nervous system. When goiter appears in youth we are sometimes prone to disregard its significance until middle life when the peculiar changes occurring in the gland may upset the entire economy of the body with disastrous effects upon the heart. Unless critical observation is insisted upon we may find that, although there are only minor goiter symptoms, serious constitutional changes have occurred.

Those who have studied extensively enlargements of the thyroid gland believe that there is no such thing as an innocent goiter. It may be innocent for years and the type that comes on at puberty may recede completely. But goiters must be watched and, after the age of 40, periodical checks should provide a safeguard against the encroachment of toxic secretions. We must not fail to recall that the enlargement of the thyroid gland that comes and goes during the menstrual cycle is without significance unless the recessions month after month are somewhat less.

One of the earliest indications of a toxic goiter is a loss of weight that cannot otherwise be accounted for. If a goiter has been present for some time this symptom may mean that it is slowly passing into a toxic stage. If there is much interference with breathing or with swallowing the tumor may be pressing upon the trachea [windpipe] or the esophagus. A gland that rapidly increases in size may do so as the result of hemorrhage into its structure. However, changes in the thyroid are slow and in but few cases will operation be demanded because of some acute sudden symptom.

When it is certain that a goiter is not receding the time for treatment is before important symptoms such as heart damage manifest themselves. In most instances a gland that has affected the heart will, if carefully removed, release that organ from a distressing state and recovery is often spectacular. Fortunately, by means of the basal metabolic rate test we are able to detect excess activity of the thyroid even before enlargement is discernible. Once it has started on a rampage the symptoms proceed with increasing severity and with only occasional remissions.

In the early period of toxic goiter many, if not most, of the symptoms may be controled dramatically through the administration of iodine. It must be emphasized, however, that iodine is never curative in these cases. It brings about an abatement of symptoms for a limited period of time.

It is well that iodine has the effect of causing a remission of symptoms because after it has been used for awhile the diseased gland may be removed with comparative safety, whereas it would be exceedingly dangerous to attempt surgical intervention with the patient in a highly toxic state. Under the influence of the drug the acutely ill, toxic patient may find the basal metabolic rate lowered forty to fifty points with a corresponding drop in the pulse rate from 135 or 140 to 80 or 90. Great care must be exercised in the administration of iodine to adults, as its indiscriminate, unsupervised use may stimulate a relatively harmless goiter to become perniciously active.

LIVER SPOTS.

D. C. B. writes: What is the remedy for brown spots, commonly called liver spots, on the back of the hand?

REPLY.

Chloasma, or "liver spots," is an abnormal pigmentation of the skin. The treatment depends on the cause. If it is the result of a systemic disease it is likely to improve or disappear entirely if the health is regained. Peeling the epidermis with lotions containing salicylic acid may be required, or strong soaps or bleaching preparations may be used. A competent dermatologist should be consulted.

SORORITIES AND THE SOCIAL WHIRL.

Berwyn, Ill., Nov. 18.—On Sept. 15 your editorial page carried that fine article by Dean Fred Turner of Illinois. It has been commented upon and quoted widely. I have quoted from it at fraternity meetings in four states since then.

Then, on Sunday morning, Oct. 20, I sat in the lounge of our Illinois chapter and read with distaste your "antidote" in the form of a decidedly unfair [to sororities] article by some one posing as an authority on women's life in the University of Illinois. At noon of the same day I sat at dinner with my daughter in her sorority house and wondered. Of course the girls had all been too busy with Dad's day aftermath to have yet read the paper, but it was pleasing to note that the sorority members themselves indicated by word and deed that they do not share your feature writer's notion that no one but a sorority girl can do or be anything.

As I have read succeeding articles about the society or social monopoly at Chicago and Northwestern I have been more or less amused, but as I read the latest attack upon the University of Wisconsin I cannot refrain from voicing the protest of one who may have been a fraternity man before your writer was born, and whose close acquaintance with sororities and their membership dates even farther back. LEW T. SKINNER.

INTERRUPTED SERMONS.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—For a long while I have wondered why the program coming from the Sunday Evening club is cut off right on the dot when their half hour is used up and often before the speaker has quite finished what he had to say. It is like a stab with a knife to be so intent on what is being said and drinking in hungrily every word, when click goes the old radio and that's the end of that.

The reason I am mentioning this is that if it was a baseball or football game being broadcast, every other program would be set aside until the game was finished, even if it took an extra hour. We all want to hear the finish of the game, certainly, but we also would like to hear the entire sermon; and which, I would like to know, is the more important? E. PATERSON.

PAVEMENTS.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—I noted with considerable interest the picture in this morning's TRIBUNE of the breaking up of a perfectly good street located at 107th street and Avenue G.

I don't believe it is necessary to spend money on streets of this sort, as Emerald avenue between 98th and 99th streets is impassable except in summer.

I understand that Emerald avenue between 99th and 101st streets is to be repaired while the street between 98th and 99th is not to be repaired.

There are two or three houses between 99th and 101st streets on Emerald, while there are ten houses in the 98th to 99th street block. Are these conditions fair to the taxpayer? NORMAN S. WELSH.

THE SWEITZER VERDICT.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—The constitutional right to a jury trial should, in criminal cases, be changed to read: ". . . except where the defendant be charged with the embezzlement of public funds, in which event he shall be tried by a court of one judge appointed from without the county by the governor of the state." After the Sweitzer verdict it is plain that the ordinary jury believes that the defalcation of public moneys by a public official is not really a crime. LAWRENCE L. COWAN.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—What's all this hullabaloo about Sweitzer and the shortage? Divide the shortage over the period of years he has been in there. Was that really all he got out of it? I always thought they got more. I know I would have if I'd been in there. PAUL SMITH.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The acquittal, in my opinion, is due to the fact that the jury and defendant were of the same caliber.

EUGENE LAMPARTER.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—I think each person on trial for murder should confess the crime and promise to restore life to the murdered person. Then the jury, following the precedent established in the Sweitzer case, would be forced to return an acquittal; and the prisoner could comply just as much with his promise as Mr. Sweitzer has complied in returning the money he confesses he embezzled.

ARTHUR J. MATENKY.

THE BREAKS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Why all these sport writers favor Notre Dame is beyond me. If they win, it was because they played brilliant football; if they lose, it was because of bad breaks such as fumbles, penalities, etc., not because their opponents played brilliantly. But, then, why shouldn't Notre Dame have the advantage when they have four or five teams to send in to relieve the strain of playing the whole game? How many of the other teams have that many subs?

In the report of the Army-Notre Dame game your writer says: "Notre Dame was always the more dangerous eleven, but its attack was broken down by fumbles, penalties and the Army's alert secondary defense."

I revise that statement to read: "The alertness of the Army's secondary defense, the interception of three of Notre Dame's passes, the recovery of three of Notre Dame's fumbles and the yardage gained by the penalties inflicted on the Irish all combined to break down the intended march of Notre Dame."

In the last two seconds of play, the Army, finally worn down by facing constantly fresh teams, had the bad luck [it must have been that] to make it appear like interference with the receiver of a pass and Notre Dame got the break of the game and a break it was, not brilliant football. I don't expect to see this printed, but I had to get it off my chest.

ENID VAUGHN.

POISON.

Elmhurst, Ill., Nov. 17.—Front page advertising of Hoover is poison to most of us Republicans today. To run him again only means another term for raw deal. We are sick of the so-called New Deal, but not sick enough to vote for Hoover. We are anxious to vote for a good Republican, but no Hoover. W. SALAWAY.

COLD AND DARK.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Must the young people of high school age in Chicago be compelled to receive their education in dark, unheated buildings? I happen to live in the Senn High school district. So far this year we have had little if any heat. The students are forced to wear heavy winter coats to class or freeze. On a few selected days we have had heat, so much heat in fact that many classes abandoned their rooms and recited in the assembly hall.

On these dark days only every other light is turned on. Surely, such a lack of lighting is not conducive to study. I should certainly appreciate an explanation of these almost unbearable conditions. CAROL WILSON.

TAX TOKENS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Can any one tell me why merchants are now refusing to accept sales tax tokens? I have a mess of them which I have been carrying around in my purse for some time, hoping I would be able to use them somewhere. All the chain stores which so valiantly and enthusiastically insisted upon payment by tokens will not now accept them. Maybe they found they could make more money the other way. Even the children are turning them down for play money. Poker players won't use them for chips because they won't stack.

LIABILITY FOR NOTE.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I loaned $300 to my sister in 1927. In 1933 $100 was deducted from note for rent I owed her. 1. She made out a new note in 1933 for $200, but a month later died. The note was dated April 2, 1933, and she died in March. On June 28, 1934, my sister's husband signed his name on back of the note. Since then I received $92. This was taken out on the rentals, which leaves $108 still due. Received no interest since April 2, 1934. This was due April 2, 1934. 2. Please advise me what to do. I asked my sister's husband for the money and he refuses to pay me. E. C. J.

1. We would not anticipate great difficulty in proving the actual date of the execution of the note.

2. In order to collect by court proceedings, it would be necessary to force probate of the estate. If you wish to take such steps you should employ an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SIDEWALK DISPLAYS.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—As I live near Cicero avenue and do most of my shopping on that street, I was wondering if there was a law forbidding merchants putting their wares all over the sidewalk? The sidewalk is narrow since they widened the street, which makes it hard for people to pass when baskets and boxes clutter up the walk. If there is a law forbidding this why isn't it upheld? Cicero avenue looks like Maxwell street instead of a highway. F. H.

In our opinion such use of the sidewalk is illegal. You might first complain to the police and then to your alderman.

RIGA, Latvia.—Taking a bath in Russia continues to be a major problem, according to Michail Buhov, an architect, who writes an amusing description of the problem connected with the Saturday night tub in Russia in the publication Krokodil.

Buhov says Russia, after fifteen years of bolshevism, has not yet reached the zinc bathtub era which America has left a generation behind. Instead, the inhabitants are dependent upon state managed bathhouses.

"As it is known a bathhouse may be divided into clothes pegs, hot water and a scrub brush," Buhov says. "If you add to this a pan for water and a very small piece of soap, a human being can be washed, dried, and made temporarily happy. But just now there is something the matter with the soviet bathhouse.

"Take, for instance, the scrub brush. Our best scrub brushes are not being used by the English aristocrats in their family bathrooms. Neither are they being used in the hours of debauch of the American iron kings. We have not yet organized a ruinous dumping campaign abroad with the soviet scrub brushes. And neither do we receive from abroad scrub brushes wrapped in cellophane and heavily sealed with a booklet of instructions on how to use them.

"However, when I visited the town of Karaganda, which boasts of one small bathhouse to fill the needs of some 50,000 people living in this district, I found one scrub brush in the town.

"The prospective bather must first open negotiations with the management of the bath, who requires him to deposit his passport to insure the return of the brush. He carries it like a banner into the steamroom. There, under the envious eyes of less fortunate bathers, he scrubs himself luxuriously. Often he scrubs himself twice while the others watch with silent reproach. When he is finished the brush is dried and is rented again.

"There is another bathhouse in Vinitza where one must combine the agility of a monkey and the patience of a turtle. The water faucets are for decorative purposes only. One small shower decases you from the soap. After you soap yourself you stand in line for half an hour or more to get washed.

"In the Kamenevsk suburb of Moscow a great tragedy occurred. This bathhouse, being of pre-war construction, contained three bathtubs which were recently removed by some heartless thieves. The entire Moscow G. P. U. is searching for the tubs."

BONFILS 'DEAL' STORY RELATED TO TRADE BODY

$350,000 Payment Told by Oil Official.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The story of how an envelope allegedly containing $350,000 passed from Christy Payne, Standard Oil of New Jersey official, to the late Frederick G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, was related today in the federal trade commission's investigation of gas utilities.

After the alleged payment the Post switched its editorial policy and supported the Colorado Interstate corporation, a subsidiary of Standard Oil and Cities Service, in a gas rate fight in Denver.

Payne Verifies Requisition.

Mr. Payne himself appeared before the FTC today and verified a requisition which had authorized a check for $350,000. He told how he had sent the treasurer of the Colorado Interstate corporation to the bank to cash the check and how the cashier returned and handed him an envelope containing the $350,000 in cash.

This envelope, Mr. Payne testified, was handed over to George H. Shaw, Denver lawyer, and Mr. Shaw also appeared before the FTC today to testify that, without looking into the envelope to check its contents, he had taken it to Denver and handed it to Bonfils personally. The publisher of the Post went into another room before opening the envelope but returned to say that everything was all right, Mr. Shaw testified.

Mr. Shaw said that he assumed without looking that the envelope contained $350,000.

The Post, which had been opposing the natural gas rates for Denver which the Colorado Interstate corporation was seeking, switched over and supported the rates and the introduction of natural gas in Denver which the rate structure made possible. Previously the Post had supported Colorado coal interests, which had sought to force the rate structure down so low that the Colorado Interstate could not afford to bring natural gas to Denver.

Explains "Switch" by Strike.

In the editorial switching from one side to another the Post explained its action on the ground that a coal miners' strike then in progress in Colorado showed that Denver could not depend on manufactured gas, which in turn depended upon the production of coal.

The Post has submitted affidavits from the secretary to Mr. Bonfils and from the paper's auditor, declaring that no $350,000 was received by the deceased publisher. Treasury department officials have testified that the $350,000 did not appear in income tax returns, and there is a possibility that income tax action may be started against the Bonfils estate.

UPHOLD RULING FOR POEHLMANN IN INJURY SUIT

The Illinois Appellate court yesterday affirmed the ruling of Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh in vacating a $10,000 default judgment entered in April, 1934, against August Poehlmann, former president of the village of Morton Grove. The judgment was obtained by Shirley Hensius, 5050 Sheridan road, now 14 years old, for injuries incurred in November, 1930, when the automobile in which she was riding with her father and brother was struck by a car driven by Poehlmann.

The girl's brother, Lawrence, 18 years old, was killed in the accident.

AUTO SHOW NOTES

M. E. Coyle, president of the Chevrolet Motor company, and his vice president and general manager, W. E. Holler, addressed 1,200 dealers from the Great Lakes region last night at a dinner in the Palmer house. Before the meeting, both visited the automobile show in the International Amphitheater and pronounced the affair the greatest motor exhibition of all times.

William M. Purves, assistant general sales manager of Dodge, said the Chicago show, with its color, music, action, and lectures, has set a new style for motor exhibitions of the future. He spoke before a luncheon for newspapermen in the Palmer house yesterday noon. Presiding was E. J. Poag, Dodge director of merchandising and advertising. Others at the table included Forest H. Akers, director of sales, and J. D. Burke, director of truck sales.

Joseph B. Graham, president of the Graham-Paige Motors corporation, and Robert C. Graham, executive vice president, addressed a dealer luncheon in the Stevens hotel yesterday. Joseph B. hailed the supercharger as a major engineering advancement, delivering additional horse power per pound of engine weight.

FACKLER, FIGURE IN U. S. QUIZ, FILES BANKRUPT PLEA

Walter V. Fackler, an attorney involved in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' investigation of fraud in the filing of bankruptcy cases under section 77B of the bankruptcy act, yesterday filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in behalf of himself in the United States District court. He listed assets of $511,200, practically all of which is money he expects to win in litigation, and liabilities of $15,834.

During Federal Judge John P. Barnes' investigation of the charge that a ring exists to promote bankruptcy actions under the new 77B reorganization clause, Fackler was named by witnesses as having paid $8,000 for "data" in the Middle West Utilities company reorganization case. He filed an intervening creditor's petition in the case after paying the amount to James H. Benjamin, a promoter subpened in the investigation, according to Benjamin.

Fackler was also alleged to have been he payee of a check for $1,100 which was made out at Benjamin's suggestion by Edwin Carl Roth, a coal company salesman, who was promised some new business if he would finance the filing of ten 77B cases, according to testimony of Roth.

The principal liability listed by Fackler is for $3,120 owed to the Jefferson Trust and Savings bank in Peoria on a note to be repaid out of future fees. The next largest item is for $1,050 owed to Guy Anderson of Oklahoma City, Okla. Anderson is a friend of former Congressman Tom D. McKeown of Oklahoma, author of section 77B, who is now practicing law in Chicago, and who has also appeared in the federal court's inquiry.

ALL-TIME PEAK FOR 5 DAYS SET AT AUTO SHOW

Attendance Is 237,000; 3 More Days to Go.

BY HAL FOUST.

Attendance at the automobile show last night reached an all-time high of 237,000 for the five days. The annual event last winter drew 200,000 for the entire eight days.

With three more days to go [daily from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. through Saturday night] it seemed certain that the all-time record of 300,000 in the boom year of 1929 will be exceeded.

Buying Increases 30 Per Cent.

The gain in sales over last winter's show is likewise growing. Al Faeh, manager of the exhibition, last night estimated the increase at 30 per cent.

This is the first year that the new models were announced and the show held in the fall and, when the plan was first proposed to the manufacturers, there was some doubt that sales could be obtained in the heretofore dull months of early winter.

Hope to Stabilize Jobs.

The experiment, now promising success, was undertaken to level employment in what heretofore has been a highly seasonal industry. The production of automobiles with its allied activities engages a twelfth of the nation's gainfully employed.

It is now predicted in reliable sources that 1936 car production may reach 4,250,000 units as compared with a 1935 total of 3,375,000 vehicles.

ORDER RESTORING POLICE PAY CUT IS UPHELD IN APPEAL

A mandamus order of Circuit Judge George Fred Rush directing the city to pay fourteen days' salary which was deducted from policemen's pay in 1931 was affirmed yesterday by the Illinois Appellate court. The order affects 230 policemen, now retired, and will compel the city to pay $25,000, according to attorneys who brought the suit.

In the hearings before Judge Rush the policemen charged that a resolution by the city council on July 10, 1931, ordering the pay deduction was illegal because the money had already been appropriated. Appellate Judge Ross C. Hall in his opinion yesterday held that the city had the money and should pay it.

FIND SKELETON IN GALAPAGOS; MYSTERY GROWS

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ON BOARD THE S.S. SANTA MARGARITA, Nov. 20.—The finding of the complete skeleton of a man in Tostaga bay on Santa Cruz Indefatigable in the Galapagos Islands by the American scientist, Dr. V. W. Von Hagen, today added a chapter to the mysteries of the desertlike archipelago.

The skeleton is in good condition, with most of the teeth intact, showing fillings, and with a bit of pale blond hair adhering to the jawbone. It lay near the sea, as if the person in question had lain down exhausted and there died on his back.

Pair Disappeared.

As the discovery of the skeleton might solve some of the island mysteries of last year—the death of Dr. Friederich Ritter, German self-exile, and the disappearance of the Baroness Eloise de Wagner of Vienna and her companion, Robert Philipson, formerly of Paris—Dr. Von Hagen is bringing back the jawbone and pictures of the location and position of the skeleton. The skeleton itself was not disturbed.

Island inhabitants insist the skeleton is that of Philipson, the companion of Baroness de Wagner. As Charles Island, where they were living, lies in a direct line from Tostaga bay and both the strong currents and wind carry things directly from that Island, which is about 30 miles away, they insist that either he was killed and thrown into the water or put afloat in a small boat. But Philipson was a brunette.

Dr. Von Hagen believes the skeleton might be that of Camillo Ihle of Dresden, a young German naturalist who visited the islands in December, 1931. He went up into the mountains and was seen no more.

Two Bodies Found.

Nearly three years later the baroness and Philipson vanished from the island. In November, 1934, two bodies were found by the crew of a fishing vessel on the chalk-white beach of lonely Marchena Island. One was identified by Manuel Rodriguez, master of the fishing ship, as that of Arthur Wittmer, German adventurer. Rodriguez thought the other body was "probably that of a woman," but its condition was such that identification was impossible.

Later Capt. Fred Ostrem of the tuna clipper Northwestern said the bodies were those of Arthur Estampa, 34, a Norwegian resident of Indefatigable Island, and Alfred Rudolph Lorenz, 40, a former Parisian and one time companion of the baroness. Lorenz was the last man known to have seen the baroness and Philipson alive.

Jury Awards Girl $10,000 Verdict Against Naprapath

A jury before Superior Judge James F. Fardy yesterday returned a verdict of $10,000 damages, the full amount sought, against Dr. Perley W. Johnson, 69 years old, of Barrington, who described himself as a naprapath. The verdict was in favor of Marjorie Grace Baumann, 17 years old, of Mount Prospect. She testified that she suffered a dislocated neck three years ago while being treated by Johnson.

ARE GOOD ROADS A CURSE?
America leads the world in miles of hard surfaced roads and automobiles. Our highways and our cars excite the envy of visitors from other countries. But we also lead the world in number of persons killed and injured annually in auto accidents.
Safety experts predict that in 1935 more than 40,000 will be killed and 1,000,000 injured in automobile accidents on our fine streets and roads.
This motor massacre is caused by speed, over-confidence, carelessness and indifference to safeguards like Tire Chains in slippery going.

1. Reinforcing bars dig into sleet and snow covered highways like the lugs on a tractor.
2. Reinforcing bars project well above the level of the cross chain links, reducing side skid.
3. Reinforcing bars provide double the wearing surface.
4. Reinforcing bars are double-welded to the links of the cross chain—they can't come off.
5. Reinforcing bars are case hardened to just the exact depth that insures maximum toughness.
When You Buy Tire Chains insist upon those with BAR-REINFORCED CROSS CHAINS
● Don't be satisfied with ordinary Tire Chains when you can now get double mileage and double safety from the new type Bar-Reinforced Tire Chains. Think what a saving you make from double mileage!
And think what it may mean to you in extra safety, being able to stop in less distance when streets are treacherous under snow, sleet or mud!
36,000 persons were killed and 954,000 injured in automobile accidents last year. The Travelers Insurance Company reports that 93% of cars in accidents were in good condition. Then what caused the accidents? Carelessness, loss of control and indifference to safeguards like Tire Chains. Skidding causes many accidents—and Tire Chains greatly reduce the skidding menace. They give you control by giving you safe, sure traction in slippery going.

FOR THREE SUCCEEDING GENERATIONS the name of Mandel Brothers has been a guide to good values. Situated on the world's busiest corner, Mandel Brothers knows Chicago intimately—knows what it wants in merchandise and service.

Old in fine tradition, young in ideals, Mandel Brothers has grown with Chicago. Confident of the steadily growing buying power of its city, the store is expressive of the finest concept of modern merchandising.

Today great crowds ride comfortably on newly installed escalators. Spacious aisles and smartly appointed departments facilitate shopping. A new fleet of 46 modern trucks speeds up delivery service.

Aggressive Use of Advertising

In keeping with the spirit evidenced by merchandise and service policies Mandel Brothers is one of Chicago's most aggressive advertisers. This great State Street department store makes forceful use of advertising—and places the majority of it in the Chicago Tribune.

Year after year Mandel Brothers has secured greatest results by concentrating in Chicago's first newspaper. During 1934 this store placed 743,950 lines of advertising in the Chicago Tribune. This was 62% of all linage placed by Mandel Brothers in Chicago newspapers. During the first ten months of this year the Tribune's proportion was 66%.

This increasing use of the Chicago Tribune by Mandel Brothers is representative of the trend in advertising placed by all Chicago's Loop department stores. On the basis of day to day results—volume sales directly traceable to advertising in the Tribune—these eight Loop department stores last year as a group placed 17% more linage in the Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper.

Volume and Velocity of Response

During the first ten months of this year these same eight stores placed 31% more linage in the Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper. In season and out, for regular promotions and for special events, the Tribune produces more business because it reaches and influences more buyers.

Tribune news and features have a vitality that gets volume and velocity of response for advertising. The Tribune exercises a decisive influence on Chicago affairs. "What does the Tribune say about it?" is the first question heard in Chicago when important matters are discussed.

It is this leadership, this acceptance by its community, built by 88 years of fearless public service, which enable advertisers to reach through the Tribune more people in this market with deeper effect than through any other advertising medium.

In metropolitan Chicago alone over 645,000 families read the Tribune daily. This is 244,000 more families in Chicago and suburbs than read any other Chicago daily newspaper. It is a plus market equivalent to a city of a million people.

60% Greater Coverage

Not only does the Tribune on weekdays reach 60% more city and suburban families than any other newspaper, but its coverage of metropolitan Chicago families is practically equal to that of the next two Chicago daily newspapers combined.

To this blanket coverage of metropolitan Chicago the Tribune adds an effective coverage of the community leaders in the adjacent cities and towns which look to Chicago as their social and business center.

Through the Tribune alone you can do an effective advertising job in this great market. And do it at low cost for the Tribune rate per line per 100,000 is one of the lowest of any American newspaper.

Ask your advertising counsel or a Tribune representative to give you the complete story.

FINDING THE ANSWER to the family's purchasing requirements is an easy matter in most Chicago households—for every member of the family is accustomed to seeing the latest offerings in the daily or Sunday Chicago Tribune. More women, by far, read and prefer the Chicago Tribune than any other Chicago newspaper.

YEAR AFTER YEAR, Mandel Brothers has increased its advertising in the Chicago Tribune. The Tribune received 36% of all Mandel Brothers linage in 1924. It received 62% last year. Where the Tribune led the next Chicago newspaper by 84,752 lines, or 15%, in 1924, this margin of leadership had increased by 1934 to 550,906 lines, or 285%!

FRENCH RADICALS ACT TO DESTROY FASCIST LEAGUES

Violence Is Expected as Showdown Nears.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 20.—An early showdown between the French Fascist leagues and the left wing republicans, with probable violence, was foreseen tonight as political agitation over the bloody riot at Limoges last week continued to develop.

A cabinet meeting today was devoted to a discussion of repercussions of the Limoges affair and the possibilities of averting a crisis.

At the same time a council of war was held at the chamber of deputies among deputies of all left wing groups. This was followed by a caucus of Radical deputies.

Ultimatum Planned.

No formal plan of action was agreed on in either of these meetings.

It was authoritatively reported in left wing parliamentary circles, however, that a majority of the Radicals and all other left groups are determined to give Premier Laval a vote of confidence only on the following conditions:

FIRST—That Col. François de la Rocque, leader of the Fascist Croix de Feu, be brought before the high court on a charge of complicity in a plot against the security of the state—meaning the gun battle at Limoges, in which the Croix de Feu adherents played a leading part.

SECOND—That no action be taken against the mayor of Limoges and the prefect of the department.

THIRD—That the government, as soon as the chamber of deputies reconvenes Nov. 28, accept an immediate debate on the question of the Fascist leagues, leading to a vote which will outlaw them.

Laval Endangered.

Despite the reluctance of the Radicals to assume responsibility for overthrowing Laval at this moment and the inability of the left groups to agree on a common program it seems likely the Radicals will not renounce a great parliamentary battle on the Fascist leagues before even the budget is discussed.

This places Laval in grave danger. If he refuses, the cabinet will automatically fall to pieces through the resignation of the Radical ministers. If he agrees, he is likely to sacrifice the right wing, and his majority will be overthrown in the mêlée.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Lespedeza Results.

November 20, 1935.

OBSERVATIONS made today in the lespedeza plots and test field at The Tribune Experimental farm revealed that two new kinds of lespedeza may be introduced in northern Illinois during the next few years as a result of experiments this year.

Harbin, an extremely early strain of Corean [Korean] lespedeza, was planted with some doubt as to its ability to reseed itself this far north. At the time the seed was planted Dr. Earl Seiveking, scientific adviser at the farm and seed expert of Bloomington, Ill., feared that Harbin would mature so early the seed would sprout this fall and then be killed because Corean lespedeza is an annual and therefore does not live over winter.

To aid in insuring the reseeding of the Harbin a second year Dr. Seiveking suggested that a test be made by clipping back the lespedeza plants in the summer so that a late crop of seed would be produced—so late that the seed would not mature, fall to the ground, and sprout this fall and be killed by winter freezes.

Some of the Harbin plants were clipped as suggested and the plants were still able to produce a late crop of seed. Some of the seed, even on the clipped plants, has shattered, fallen on the ground, and sprouted. These plants, of course, will be killed. But Carl Henderson, farm manager, is hopeful that there is still enough seed left on the plants that came up in the clipped rows to reseed the ground next spring. If this happens then farmers may be able to successfully grow this valuable early strain of lespedeza for hay and pasture in northern Illinois.

There are seeds left on both the clipped and unclipped plants. It may be that even clipping will not be necessary on the Harbin lespedeza. It will not be known until next spring whether enough seed is left to reseed the ground a second year.

Sheep were used to clip back the ordinary Corean lespedeza grown in a field near the test plots. This old standby on farms farther south ordinarily reseeds itself year after year. It will not be known until next season whether the crop of seed will be sufficient to reseed the field. The seeds of this commonly grown lespedeza did not sprout this fall.

Mr. Henderson is hopeful that the Sericea No. 0473 lespedeza, a perennial that lives over winter farther south, will live in this climate. This tall upright lespedeza made a fine showing in the Wheaton plots this season. The plants are still green about three inches above ground. The roots are alive; they are long and well established. Northern Illinois farmers are watching this new legume with great interest to see if it will withstand the hard winter in this region.

Pyrethrum, the plant that produces insecticide material used in great quantities in the United States, was given a good start in the Wheaton farm test plots this year. Seeds brought from Persia and also from Japan were started in a hotbed last spring, later transplanted to the plots and today they are all still green. Each one of the delicate plants set out last spring has branched and now forms a dense maté that covers an area of the ground a foot or more in diameter.

The pyrethrum was not expected to bloom until the second year, but favorable weather has encouraged the plants to develop to the point that one of the Persian plants has produced three small flower buds. They are probably too late to open this winter unless removed to a greenhouse where they can be protected from heavy freezes.

According to the present plan pyrethrum plantings will be increased in the Wheaton plots next year. A new batch of seeds is to be started under cover this winter and set in the open in the spring. The plants started this year are expected to bloom next year.

Clarence Thurow, manager Tribune Experimental farm near Yorkville, sold an odd Aberdeen-Angus steer on the Chicago market today [Wednesday] for $14.25 a hundred pounds. He weighed 1,260 pounds. The steer was from a pure bred sire and dam.

MISSION BISHOPS ATTEND CATHOLIC CONFERENCE HERE

Practically all missionary bishops of the Catholic church throughout the country were present yesterday at meetings of the Catholic Church Extension society and the American Board of Catholic missions. The sessions were held in the offices of the extension society at 360 North Michigan avenue. The Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, is president of the society.

Reports of missionary bishops of various sees were heard and funds allotted for projects. Bishops of missionary jurisdictions of the southwest reported increased Mexican immigration due to religious conditions in Mexico. Funds for the support of additional priests for the care of these immigrants were granted.

A luncheon for the prelates was held at noon in the Drake hotel. Cardinal Mundelein gave the bishops a dinner last night at Holy Name cathedral rectory, 730 North Wabash avenue.

POPE NAMES 20 NEW CARDINALS, 2 U. S. BISHOPS

Calls Secret Consistory for Dec. 16.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Twenty new cardinals and two new American bishops were named today by Pope Pius. The cardinals will be installed at a secret consistory Dec. 16 and a public one Dec. 19. The group includes fifteen Italians, two Frenchmen, one Argentine, one Czechoslovakian, and one Spaniard.

Pope Pius selected the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, recently auxiliary bishop of Detroit, as bishop of the diocese of Marquette-Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich.

The Most Rev. Gerald P. O'Hara, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia since 1929, was named bishop of the Savannah diocese, which comprises the state of Georgia.

Most at Single Sitting.

On no occasion have so many cardinals been created at a single sitting since the consistory held by Pius X., in 1911 in which nineteen cardinals were created.

With the coming additions the sacred college will number sixty-nine, the highest figure in the history of the church. It is only one short of the theoretical full number of seventy. Precedent once required a pope always to leave at least three or four places vacant in the Sacred college.

The Sacred college at present is composed of twenty-four Italians and twenty-five non-Italians. With the new additions it will be composed of thirty-nine Italians and thirty non-Italians.

The New Appointees.

Publication of the list of cardinals in today's Vatican organ was entirely unexpected. The new members of the sacred college will be:

Archbishop Luigi Copello, Buenos Aires; Msgr. Carlo Salotti, secretary of the propaganda fide; Msgr. Nicola Canali, assessor of the sacred congregation holy office;

Msgr. Camillo Caccia Dominioni, papal master of ceremonies; Federico Tedeschini, nuncio to Spain; Msgr. Luigi Maglione, nuncio to France; Msgr. Emanuele Suhard, archbishop of Rheims; Msgr. Enrico Baudrillart, president of the Catholic Institute of Paris;

Msgr. Dominic Jorio, secretary of sacrament of the Roman congregation; Msgr. Massimo Massimi, dean of the Rota tribunal; Msgr. Enrico Siblia, nuncio to Austria; Msgr. Francesco Marmaggi, nuncio to Poland; Archbishop Isidoro Goma y Tomas of Toledo, Spain; Archbishop Carlo Kaspar of Prague;

Msgr. Carlo Cremonsie, papal almsgiver; Msgr. Vincenzo La Puma, assessor to the holy congregation; Msgr. Frederico Cattani Amadori, secretary of the apostolic signature; Msgr. Dominico Mariani, treasurer of the papal ministries; Msgr. Ignazio Gabriele Tappouni, and the Rev. Father Pietro Boetto, Jesuit priest.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, yesterday protested against a statement in a dispatch from Manila, P. I., published in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, which read: "Word has reached here that the American Farm Bureau federation is indignant over the trip of Vice President John N. Garner, Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of the house of representatives, 17 senators, and 24 representatives financed by the Philippine government at a cost of $200,000, because of the inescapable implications of bribery."

Mr. O'Neal said: "The statement is entirely erroneous. The federation has issued no statement and taken no position with respect to the visit of an official delegation to the Philippine Islands."

Sidney Rubinow, director of information for the federation, added that the statement was "unfortunate because we are close to the present administration—in fact, their farm program is our program."

An item Monday said new government regulations would prevent individual consumers from importing foreign liquors unless they had importers' licenses. Collector of Customs Ziemba said yesterday that there is nothing in the regulations to prevent such importations if the duties and taxes are paid.

"Appalling!" SAYS DOWAGER

"Intelligent!" SAYS DENTIST

A DOWAGER AND A DENTIST BATTLE ABOUT A TURKEY LEG

(But the civilized way to combat "PINK TOOTH BRUSH" is IPANA and MASSAGE)

YOU KNOW what any society matron would say. "It's appalling. That picture is disgraceful. I see no excuse for such an outrageous breach of good manners." And she's right. There is no excuse—socially.

But your dentist will retort: "Excuse?—The picture needs no excuse! It is a sensible lesson in the proper, profitable exercise of teeth and gums. I hope everyone sees it. More vigorous, energetic chewing like that, and a lot of gum troubles would vanish completely."

Dental science points out this fact—our gums need more work, more activity, more exercise . . . and our modern soft-food diet does not give it to them. And it's these creamy, well-cooked foods that are primarily to blame for sensitive ailing gums. And for the more frequent appearance of "pink tooth brush"—a warning that gums are in an unhealthy condition.

"Pink Tooth Brush" is a first warning

Neglected, that first tinge of "pink" upon your tooth brush may lead to highly unpleasant gum disorders—gingivitis, pyorrhea, and Vincent's disease. And that is why dental science encourages you—while there is still plenty of time—to change to Ipana and massage. For Ipana is especially designed to benefit the gums as well as give you clean and brilliant teeth.

Rub a little extra Ipana into your gums every time you brush your teeth. You'll feel those lazy gums quicken. You'll feel new circulation waken the tissues and soon you'll feel a new healthy firmness in the gum walls themselves... So improve your good looks. Heighten the charm of your smile. Make a definite start toward complete oral health... Change to Ipana and massage today.

Sheep were used to clip back the ordinary Corean lespedeza grown in a field near the test plots. This old standby on farms farther south ordinarily reseeds itself year after year. It will not be known until next season whether the crop of seed will be sufficient to reseed the field. The seeds of this commonly grown lespedeza did not sprout this fall.

Mr. Henderson is hopeful that the Sericea No. 0473 lespedeza, a perennial that lives over winter farther south, will live in this climate. This tall upright lespedeza made a fine showing in the Wheaton plots this season. The plants are still green about three inches above ground. The roots are alive; they are long and well established. Northern Illinois farmers are watching this new legume with great interest to see if it will withstand the hard winter in this region.

Pyrethrum, the plant that produces insecticide material used in great quantities in the United States, was given a good start in the Wheaton farm test plots this year. Seeds brought from Persia and also from Japan were started in a hotbed last spring, later transplanted to the plots and today they are all still green. Each one of the delicate plants set out last spring has branched and now forms a dense maté that covers an area of the ground a foot or more in diameter.

The pyrethrum was not expected to bloom until the second year, but favorable weather has encouraged the plants to develop to the point that one of the Persian plants has produced three small flower buds. They are probably too late to open this winter unless removed to a greenhouse where they can be protected from heavy freezes.

According to the present plan pyrethrum plantings will be increased in the Wheaton plots next year. A new batch of seeds is to be started under cover this winter and set in the open in the spring. The plants started this year are expected to bloom next year.

Practically all missionary bishops of the Catholic church throughout the country were present yesterday at meetings of the Catholic Church Extension society and the American Board of Catholic missions. The sessions were held in the offices of the extension society at 360 North Michigan avenue. The Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, is president of the society.

Reports of missionary bishops of various sees were heard and funds allotted for projects. Bishops of missionary jurisdictions of the southwest reported increased Mexican immigration due to religious conditions in Mexico. Funds for the support of additional priests for the care of these immigrants were granted.

A luncheon for the prelates was held at noon in the Drake hotel. Cardinal Mundelein gave the bishops a dinner last night at Holy Name cathedral rectory, 730 North Wabash avenue.

Calls Secret Consistory for Dec. 16.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Twenty new cardinals and two new American bishops were named today by Pope Pius. The cardinals will be installed at a secret consistory Dec. 16 and a public one Dec. 19. The group includes fifteen Italians, two Frenchmen, one Argentine, one Czechoslovakian, and one Spaniard.

Pope Pius selected the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, recently auxiliary bishop of Detroit, as bishop of the diocese of Marquette-Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich.

The Most Rev. Gerald P. O'Hara, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia since 1929, was named bishop of the Savannah diocese, which comprises the state of Georgia.

Most at Single Sitting.

On no occasion have so many cardinals been created at a single sitting since the consistory held by Pius X., in 1911 in which nineteen cardinals were created.

With the coming additions the sacred college will number sixty-nine, the highest figure in the history of the church. It is only one short of the theoretical full number of seventy. Precedent once required a pope always to leave at least three or four places vacant in the Sacred college.

The Sacred college at present is composed of twenty-four Italians and twenty-five non-Italians. With the new additions it will be composed of thirty-nine Italians and thirty non-Italians.

The New Appointees.

Publication of the list of cardinals in today's Vatican organ was entirely unexpected. The new members of the sacred college will be:

Msgr. Camillo Caccia Dominioni, papal master of ceremonies; Federico Tedeschini, nuncio to Spain; Msgr. Luigi Maglione, nuncio to France; Msgr. Emanuele Suhard, archbishop of Rheims; Msgr. Enrico Baudrillart, president of the Catholic institute of Paris;

Msgr. Dominic Jorio, secretary of sacrament of the Roman congregation; Msgr. Massimo Massimi, dean of the Rota tribunal; Msgr. Enrico Siblia, nuncio to Austria; Msgr. Francesco Marmaggi, nuncio to Poland; Archbishop Isidoro Goma y Tomas of Toledo, Spain; Archbishop Carlo Kaspar of Prague;

Msgr. Carlo Cremonsie, papal almsgiver; Msgr. Vincenzo La Puma, assessor to the holy congregation; Msgr. Frederico Cattani Amadori, secretary of the apostolic signature; Msgr. Dominico Mariani, treasurer of the papal ministries; Msgr. Ignazio Gabriele Tappouni, and the Rev. Father Pietro Boetto, Jesuit priest.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, yesterday protested against a statement in a dispatch from Manila, P. I., published in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, which read: "Word has reached here that the American Farm Bureau federation is indignant over the trip of Vice President John N. Garner, Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of the house of representatives, 17 senators, and 24 representatives financed by the Philippine government at a cost of $200,000, because of the inescapable implications of bribery."

Mr. O'Neal said: "The statement is entirely erroneous. The federation has issued no statement and taken no position with respect to the visit of an official delegation to the Philippine Islands."

Sidney Rubinow, director of information for the federation, added that the statement was "unfortunate because we are close to the present administration—in fact, their farm program is our program."

A DOWAGER AND A DENTIST BATTLE ABOUT A TURKEY LEG

(But the civilized way to combat "PINK TOOTH BRUSH" is IPANA and MASSAGE)

YOU KNOW what any society matron would say. "It's appalling. That picture is disgraceful. I see no excuse for such an outrageous breach of good manners." And she's right. There is no excuse—socially.

But your dentist will retort: "Excuse?—The picture needs no excuse! It is a sensible lesson in the proper, profitable exercise of teeth and gums. I hope everyone sees it. More vigorous, energetic chewing like that, and a lot of gum troubles would vanish completely."

Dental science points out this fact—our gums need more work, more activity, more exercise . . . and our modern soft-food diet does not give it to them. And it's these creamy, well-cooked foods that are primarily to blame for sensitive ailing gums. And for the more frequent appearance of "pink tooth brush"—a warning that gums are in an unhealthy condition.

"Pink Tooth Brush" is a first warning

Neglected, that first tinge of "pink" upon your tooth brush may lead to highly unpleasant gum disorders—gingivitis, pyorrhea, and Vincent's disease. And that is why dental science encourages you—while there is still plenty of time—to change to Ipana and massage. For Ipana is especially designed to benefit the gums as well as give you clean and brilliant teeth.

Rub a little extra Ipana into your gums every time you brush your teeth. You'll feel those lazy gums quicken. You'll feel new circulation waken the tissues and soon you'll feel a new healthy firmness in the gum walls themselves...So improve your good looks. Heighten the charm of your smile. Make a definite start toward complete oral health...Change to Ipana and massage today.

"Turandot" Is De Luxe Model of Grand Opera

Raisa and Tokatyan Sing Principal Roles.

"TURANDOT."

Presented by the Chicago City Opera company in the Civic Opera house, Nov. 20, 1935.

THE CAST.

Princess Turandot	Rosa Raisa
Emperor Altoum	Clement Laskowsky
Timur	Norman Cordon
Calaf	Armand Tokatyan
Liu	Marion Claire
Ping	Wilifred Engelman
Pang	Lodovico Oliviero
Pong	Giuseppe Cavadore

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago City Opera company has a nice habit of offering de luxe models at no increase in price. An example is last night's "Turandot," probably as rich a mounting as the Civic Opera house has ever seen.

Rosa Raisa, dazzlingly gowned and attended, sang the chaste and haughty princess. The versatile Armand Tokatyan proved to the satisfaction of any doubters who may have remained that he is fully worthy to face Raisa in any operatic duel.

It is hard to think offhand of very many singers of the present or the recent past who could pass such a test as these two did in the last scene of the second act. The stage picture is so dazzling and the music so hectic and powerful that all but the strongest voices and personalities would be crushed by the combination, would become part of the immensity of setting and score rather than living and moving principals in their own right. Raisa and Tokatyan were not so crushed.

Marion Claire's personal grace and delicately textured voice went to the interpretation of the little slave girl. Her "Signore Ascolta" was exquisitely done. Norman Cordon, man of many rôles, gave a dignified and restrained performance of the old King Timur.

Engelman, Oliviero, and Cavadore figured in the stimulating concerted music of the first act. In the little scene of their own, inserted so cleverly at the beginning of the second act to give the hundred supers a chance to group themselves properly for the stunning effect that is to follow, these three men succeeded in furnishing much of the comic relief of the opera and in discharging brilliantly the heavy responsibility of keeping interest alive between the two great chapters of pageantry.

"Turandot" is Puccini's last work. He died eleven years ago this month and left the opera not quite complete. I think he came nearer in this than in any of his other works to realizing the Italian dream of combining some of the best features of Wagner with the softness and richness of Latin music. I do not mean softness in its literal sense. The great Richard could have improved the roof-raising department of his technique by a close study of the score of "Turandot."

Gennaro Papi was calm and competent amid the hugeness and complexity of "Turandot." Has he this score memorized, too?

As if the preparation of "Turandot" were not trouble enough, the opera company is in difficulties about next week's schedule. Edith Mason's continued illness has made another postponement of "La Traviata" necessary. It is planned now for Wednesday, canceling "La Tosca." The directors of the organization have not yet settled the matter of Monday's opera.

Dr. Stock began his series of Young People's concerts in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. Raymond Hanson, a very young citizen of Evanston, was the piano soloist. There are to be six of these programs through the winter and early spring. Tonight is the orchestra's first presentation of the concert version of "Tristan."

FALL FLOWER SHOW TO OPEN TOMORROW AT HOTEL SHERMAN

The Chicago Fall Flower show will open at noon tomorrow for a three day run at the Hotel Sherman. Laurent Clody, secretary of the Allied Florists' association, said yesterday that every branch of the florist industry will be represented and the greatest variety of attractions in the history of the show has been prepared.

Among the features will be a gallery of special exhibits portraying the latest ideas and styles for carrying out the "Say It with Flowers" suggestion from the cradle on through life.

According to CULBERTSON

BRITISH BRIDGE.

With more sorrow than anger I quote from a recent article in a bridge magazine published in England: ". . . One more example should suffice to settle once and for all time the superiority of British bridge over the American variety."

Now, I have nothing but the kindliest feelings toward my British contemporaries. But may I be permitted to remark, apropos of the above, that it is just a "bit thick"?

They are permitted, of course, to ignore the trivial fact that American teams have defeated British teams in every important match so far played. [Perhaps it is unsporting of me even to mention this.] But I really must object, quite mildly and without rancor, to an opinion such as the above when it is based on arrant ignorance.

The "first example" used by the British authority was this:

WEST	EAST
♠K 8 7	♠A Q 10
♥A Q 9 2	♥J 10
♦K 10 9	♦A J 7 6 2
♣Q 8 7	♣K 5 4

Again I quote: "They threw this hand in! They . . . were playing 'Culbertson' . . . they were vulnerable, which meant that 'Culbertson' caused us to gain 660 points."

Now, really! Is this malicious, or merely naïve? Does our critic actually believe that any bridge player in America would fail to bid the East hand, or that more than a handful would pass the West?

The "one more example" previously referred to was this gem:

NORTH
♠K Q 10 9
♥10
♣A J 7

WEST	EAST
♠J 6 5 3 2	♠7
♥Q 8 5	♥J 7 6 4 3 2
♦A 6	♦9

SOUTH
♠A 8 4
♦K Q J 7 5

He writes. "East-West were vulnerable and West dealt. At our table the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♦	Pass	5♦

"There is a certain directness here which I find pleasing.

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♠	2♥	Double

"Of course, East could not fail to make two hearts. The swing in our favor against that particular N.-S. was, therefore, 1,020 points.

"And so on! I could give a score of examples of this character, but I feel that the case is finally proved . . ."

Perhaps the same "American method" user who passed the East hand in the first example bid one spade on the North hand in the second. The hand is, of course, a "pass" in any American system I know, but even so, if it were opened as a semi-psychic, the proper bid would be one diamond. Moreover, a double of two hearts should be promptly "taken out" by North, since he bid on less than minimum honor trick requirement.

Aside from these trifling discrepancies my British friend's case is "finally proved."

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Should I announce to my opponents that I use the new Culbertson void-showing bid?

Answer: It is necessary only to say that you play the Culbertson system, unless your opponents are not thoroughly familiar with it.

The 8th WOMAN
.... gets more out of life

EIGHT million women have had to always consider the time of month in making an engagement—avoiding any strenuous activities on certain days.

Today, a million escape this regular martyrdom because they have accepted the aid of Midol. A tiny tablet, white and tasteless, is the secret of the eighth woman's poise and comfort at this time.

Are you a martyr to regular pain? Must you favor yourself, and save yourself, certain days of every month? Midol might change all this. Might have you your confident self, leading your regular life, free from periodic pain and discomfort.

The smallest degree of relief you might get from Midol means a great deal to your comfort.

Midol is taken any time, preferably just before the expected pain. This precaution often avoids the pain altogether. But Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It's effective for hours, and it is not a narcotic.

Get these tablets in a trim little aluminum case — they are usually right out on the toilet goods counter. Or, a card addressed to Midol, 170 Varick St., New York, brings a trial box in plain wrapper.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE WILL PAY $5,000 IN CASH PRIZES!

HERE is an interesting new game that will tell how well you know the movie stars. Try your skill on the four cartoons printed above. Do you recognize the stars pictured in them. Write their last names in the blank spaces in the rhymes. Then continue the series with No. 5 in tomorrow's Daily Tribune. The Tribune will pay $5,000 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the best answers.

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. Each weekday for 42 consecutive days the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a cartoon of a movie star. With it will be published the first letter of the last name of the star and a verse. A space in the verse will be left blank for the star's last name. The public is invited to fill in the names.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named, complete sets of these cartoons in accordance with these rules. (See prize list.)

3. This offer is open to everyone except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It does not matter where you live. There is no hard work to do. No subscriptions to solicit. Nothing to pay.

4. Entries are to be submitted only in complete sets of 42 cartoons. Hold all until you have the 42. Then send them to "A B C of the Movies," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after No. 42 has been printed. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department.

5. Accuracy in naming the cartoons will receive first consideration. However, you need not necessarily name all cartoons accurately to win. The prizes will be paid to those whose entries rank highest.

6. The last line of the verse published with Cartoon No. 42 will be left blank for you to fill in. However, the Judges will give consideration to such last lines only in the event of ties. Accuracy in naming the cartoons is the principal requirement. Highly decorated entries will receive no more consideration than simple ones.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties duplicate awards will be paid.

8. You need not purchase the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the cartoons and use your copies. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

Show of Pictures Will Open Tuesday.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALWAYS up to the minute, the arts and interests committee of the Chicago Junior league has cards out for an interesting exhibition, one of ballet pictures. The exhibit will be opened next Tuesday afternoon, with a tea from 3 to 6 o'clock, to which each of the 500 members may take one guest; and, since there are many balletomanes, it is safe to predict that the headquarters of the league, at 664 North Michigan avenue, will be crowded to capacity for the affair. The Monte Carlo Ballet Russe is opening here Sunday night, and some of the members of the company have been invited to the tea.

Many treasures are being lent that ordinarily are not seen except by guests of the families in whose houses they belong. The exhibition will remain in the league headquarters for a week. Mrs. Charles H. Swift has lent a book on German ballet; Mrs. Walter S. Brewster has contributed a water color by Robert Edmond Jones, a costume drawing by Bakst, and an oil painting by Crisp, and Mrs. Walter Paepcke's contribution is a pastel by Degas.

Two costume pictures by Remisoff will be loaned by Mrs. Walter Fisher [Ruth Page], and Mrs. Richard Bokum is lending two lithographs, one by Copley and the other by Matisse. Ambrose C. Cramer, whose wife heads the arts and interests committee, is lending a book of costume drawings by Bakst, and the Art institute is loaning two lithographs from its collection, the work of Toulouse-Lautrec. Miss Alice Roullier is contributing two pictures, "Mexican Ballet," by Pruna, and a water color by Valentin Crax, and the Quest Art galleries are lending a water color of acrobats painted by Agnes Pait.

Mrs. Shreve Badger and Mrs. Cramer are in charge of the exhibit, and Mrs. Theron Chapman, chairman of the house committee, and her assistants will serve tea. Miss Helen Bell, the league's president, will be home from New York by Tuesday to attend the tea. She is visiting a former Chicago league president, Mrs. Otto Teegen [Dorothy Schmidt].

Gala Performance Monday Night.

The Monte Carlo Ballet Russe will have a gala performance Monday night when the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins sponsors it as a benefit. Mrs. Alexander Kirk, chairman of the committee, has asked a group of young women to sell programs and flowers.

We may see a strange sight in Grant park next week while the Ballet Russe is here, for Leonid Massine, maitre de ballet, is traveling this year in an immense automobile trailer with kitchen, living-dining room and bedroom and it will be home for him and his wife, Eugenia Delarova, while they are in Chicago. Just where it is to be parked isn't known yet, but one of the plazas in Grant park has been spoken of. A Russian chef travels with them to prepare in the pocket size kitchen the favorite dishes of the ballet dancers.

"Christmas Windows" to Hear Art Lecture.

If you see Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. looking speculatively at some one don't wonder why, just know that she is wondering if he or she is the type to pose in a Picasso, a Matisse, a Bellows, or perhaps in one of the old masters, such as a Holbein.

Mrs. Winterbotham and Miss Eleanor Holden have undertaken to furnish entertainment for the two nights the "Christmas Windows" will be on display in the parish house of St. Chrysostom's church and they have decided the entertainment will be an art lecture, illustrated with tableaux vivants. To lecture they have secured some one who really has little interest in art but they refuse to

TWO blind pianists are creating considerable interest in town at the moment. One of them is Art Tatum, the Negro whose astonishing feats at the piano have elicited admiring comments from Rudy Vallee and other bandmasters upon whose radio programs he has appeared. One of his specialties is "Tea for Two," played with one hand in such fashion that it sounds like two pianos. Patrons of the Pooch ball to be held Saturday night in the Gold room of the Congress hotel for the benefit of Orphans of the Storm will have a chance to hear Tatum, for he will appear along with such celebrities as Veloz and Yolanda and Mary Garden. Tatum picks up his pieces from listening to the radio, then plays them in his own style. A big, neatly dressed fellow, he is 26 years old and has been almost totally blind for thirteen years.

The other blind pianist is Alec Templeton, pianist with Jack Hylton, who is not permitted to play with Hylton's band on the air because he is English and therefore not a member of the musicians' union. He also is a young man and equally astonishing in his virtuosity.

WARNING! Child story! A 5 year old girl confided to a family friend that she had three men in her life. When the friend inquired who they were she answered promptly:

"Santa Claus, Maj. Bowes, and my daddy."

THEN there was the 4 year old child Della Wolpe tells about who offered some variations on his evening prayer.

"Now I lay me down to sleep," he prayed. "I pray the Lord my soul to keep. If I should die before I wake. . . . Awright for you, God!"

PRINTING the Middleburg chocolate cake recipe should have cured us—and did—as far as ordinary recipes are concerned, but surely dozens of Chicago housewives will not be writing in for the recipe for colcannon, the fare of fairies and souls released on All Souls' day to wander about the scenes of their life and death.

Colcannon, according to the recipe John J. Riley's family followed and that they used to eat on the eve of All Souls' day is made of potatoes, parsnips, turnips, celery, carrots, cabbage, and other vegetables. They were boiled together and, when cooked, mashed with a good measure of butter. This was served with boiled dillish, a sea weed which Mr. Riley says grows best in Dingle bay.

Souls and fairies may eat neither fish nor flesh, so it was the Irish custom to gather all the plants of the field and the herbs of the forest and stream for a feast at which the living and the dead could sit down together. At least this is the recipe and the reason for the preparation of colcannon, according to the Rileys.

"I come from a line of 'narrow-backs,' or people of Irish blood born in the United States," Mr. Riley writes, "but as my father's people were located within the sound of the old harp in Tara's Hall, I am backing the family tradition of the Rileys against the erudition of the O'Gallaghers. My friend, Michael O'Gallagher, says I am all wrong on the way to cook colcannon, and more wrong as to why it is eaten on All Souls' day.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

What do you take me for, anyway? A liar?

Or a lady who speaks the truth the best she knows how and likes to have you enjoy yourselves?

With sincere best wishes that you all belong to the latter class of thinkers, I enthusiastically proffer this advice:

Button up your overcoats,
Jam on your lids,
Lock the back door and Collect all the kids.
Get out the bus—if the Tank needs a fill-in,
Fill it. Then roll down
And see "Thanks a Million."

[Editor's note—Suggestions for words that rime with "million" will be gratefully received and put on file for future emergencies.]

The piece at the Roosevelt is a rara avis of a musical such as was "Of Thee I Sing" and, like that inspired show, has a satirical-political plot background.

A crooner runs for governor—but—whoa!—that's getting ahead of the story.

To begin with—

A "broke" band troupe takes a bus. On a dark and stormy night, the bus lands them in a town of the state where the band crooner, Eric Land was born.

During a two hour wait for an eastern bus, Show Owner Lyman sells an idea.

He has dived into a political meeting to get out of the rain and listened to the awful, long drawn out speech of one Judge A. Darius Culliman, campaigning for the governor's seat against the present gubernatorial "in."

Rain over, the audience walks out leaving the speaker practically talking to himself. Which is what gives Lyman his idea. They wouldn't have walked out if Culliman had had a fast show to uphold his rickety oratorical legs. . . .

And so the band stays on and becomes a crowd drawing ballyhoo.

So popular is Crooner Land and so bibulously undependable the candidate that the latter is withdrawn and the former put in his place.

Land only goes into the thing for the lark—for its publicity value, and on the advice of his fiancée, Sally Mason, one of a singing and dancing team—the other being a pert Miss Phœbe Mason.

But Eric's to find that the conniving politicians who pay the bills are not in fun and that they have every intention of electing him and making him their cat's-paw. . . .

I'm dying to tell you the outcome, but I won't—and you're going to thank me a million for keeping mum when you see the picture.

It is really delightful entertainment. The romance between Dick Powell and Ann Dvorak is a tender and charming one. Dick's management of a vamping Mrs. Kruger is something so masterly that the exhibition should be viewed in the light of a text book by unhappy young men in similar situations. And the scene in which he tells all—not all about the lady, but all about something else—is A humdinger!

The picture is agog with bright dialog and alive with catchy music. It has comedy both subtle and slapstick, splendid acting and direction throughout and possesses the great asset of topical timeliness.

See you soon.

Jackie Coogan Wedding Talk Turns to Cash

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—All that talk about Jackie Coogan going to marry Betty Grable brought this young couple money but not matrimony. They arranged a personal appearance tour together to last eight weeks.

Jackie, who inherited some money but not the quarter million dollars that had been spoken of as his expected trust portion when he recently passed his twenty-first birthday, will be able to make good use of the vaudeville salary. Betty will sing in the act. They open on Christmas night at Fort Worth, Tex.

As for the couple getting married, Miss Grable's mother says Betty promised her faithfully she wouldn't wed for two more years. Betty is 18 now.

A solemn looking South American parrot which had been engaged to play with Shirley Temple and Guy Kibbe in the Maine lighthouse scenes of "Captain January," had to be sent back pronto yesterday.

"Good thing we got the parrot here early enough in the day before Shirley's mother arrived on the set with her so we could get acquainted with his vocabulary," Dave Butler, the director, said. "I told the prop department to get a new parrot, just as talkative but one who had gone to sea with a God fearing skipper, not a pirate."

Leroy Prinz, the ex-Northwestern university athlete and war flyer, who is dance director at Paramount, says "there is nothing immediate, but if I do get married again it will be to Betty Bronson." Betty is a young actress and niece of Mrs. Warner Baxter.

Jean Harlow's mother, Mrs. Marino Bello, is opening an interior decoration shop and her first job is decorating her own shop, mostly in white.

Shirley Temple's income is now between $4,000 and $5,000 weekly according to business agents here. Less than half is her studio salary; the rest is from indorsements—patterns, Temple dolls, Christmas toys, and royalties on the use of her name.

Republic Pictures, an independent, joins the circle of studios turning literature into American adventure films with "Robinson Crusoe" scheduled for a serial of twelve episodes.

Jim Cagney was getting fresh. And this particular girl didn't like it. So she got her fist back to let him have it on the nose when——"I—I can't do it!" June Travis cried. It happened on the Warner lot with Howard Hawks directing Cagney in "Ceiling Zero."

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Forshee of 7034 Sheridan road announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Constance Forshee, to Ernest S. Hough Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Hough of 6453 Wayne avenue. Miss Forshee is a graduate of Purdue university and her fiancé is a graduate of Northwestern university. The wedding will take place Dec. 20 at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Mrs. Charles Dalrymple Smith who lives in England is visiting her parents, Col. and Mrs. Ralph H. James, and will be among those present tomorrow night at the Apollo theater for the benefit preview of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" which is being sponsored by the Olivet institute.

The performance will mark the middle west debut of this movie which has been produced by Max Reinhardt. Mrs. Fowler McCormick, chairman of the woman's benefit committee and a group of women interested in the institute have been selling tickets vigorously for the last few weeks.

Yesterday afternoon the men's board, headed by Evan Evans, entertained at a "coffee" at the Blackstone. Among those who dropped in for a cup of coffee and sandwiches and cakes were Mrs. Helen Walton, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Miss Peggy Hambleton, and Mrs. H. G. Peterson, all of whom are active on the benefit committee.

Wet Weather Clothes Make Bright Picture

New Foot Protectors Marvels of Trim Style.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

What the shops display for a rainy day in town or country: Clever colored umbrellas, glistening patent lether handbags in cheering shades, slickers that are colorful, neat and water proof, and as smart as a new imported tweed and snug, smooth and trim rubber protectors for gadabout feet. Nothing has been overlooked.

There's nothing dull or dejected about the clothes and accessories you need for a rainy spell. One swift look at the street crowds will prove that . . . dotted raincoats, matching umbrellas or vivid colors in oiled silk slickers and the exact matching umbrellas even to the trick handles and ribs.

Plaids, checks, dots, stripes, and plain colors in every eye catching color you ever dreamed about are available and being worn by fashion wise shoppers.

But the loot you slip on your feet are the things to make you celebrate Thanksgiving. Remember when everybody who was brave enough clanked up and down the street in huge clumsy effects, noisy with hardware? These outfits enlarged even the smallest of feet into huge boat affairs that were almost too heavy to lift from one step to another. These nightmare creations have gone. Nowadays the rubber contraptions are much better looking than a lot of slippers and footwear. These new thin, smooth rubber jobs fit like silk hosiery and have high heels, and low heeled footwear can also be fitted to rubbers with just as low heels as the shoes. You can find black and brown to match your shoes, and for crisp cold days, try a pair of the new beauties with matching brown or black fur cuffs, cozy neat, and smart as paint.

For the festive parties ahead the designers offer snow white protectors made as slim as the street models and then cuffed with luxurious white fur. If this isn't the tiptoe of fashion and practicality combined! Nothing ever has been invented that was better or more pictorially easy to wear, no matter how you hate extra baggage on the feet.

Louise Clews Vannech Will Marry Englishman

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry Clews, widow of the multimillionaire Manhattan banker, today confirmed reports of the forthcoming marriage of her granddaughter, Mrs. Louise Clews Vanneck and Ian Douglas Campbell, nephew of the duke of Argyll and heir presumptive to the title. The wedding will take place in Europe Saturday, she said. Both bridegroom and bride-to-be have been previously married and divorced.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There's a new perfume for the woman of subtlety and sophistication. After it dries on warm flesh it has tantalizing charm.

We've got a new perfume, we have, one that came from New York some months ago. We liked it then and we love it now. It's one of those scents that grows on you. And we're glad it's now in a Chicago shop where you can investigate its charms.

We wish we could say airily and knowingly that it has a base of this and a top note of that, but no amount of effort on our part can identify it. It's a teaser. One woman who adores the scent of orris root thought she found the fragrance of her pet in it and was charmed. Others said "tish, tish to orris root" and promptly named their favorite flower. So you see we're stumped when we try to tell you what it smells like. Excepting to tell you that it's delectable.

Most emphatically this must be dry on the flesh before it reaches its most charming stage. The first sniff is deceiving, or at least we thought so. But after it's dry on warm flesh it's heavenly and unbelievably haunting.

It's hard to deal with such an intangible quality as the haunting touch with cold typewriter keys and a little black ribbon, but perhaps you'll understand when we say that this perfume really does diffuse its soft fragrance all over your person and the place in a most surprising manner. You can't escape it. You like it—but take a tip from us and don't use too much. You need very little.

One of this scent's most exciting attributes, aside from the sheer beauty of it, is this whisper of what-is-it after it dries. It will steal around and tantalize every one—which is just exactly what you want of a perfume.

Prince Edward of Kent Christened at Buckingham Chapel

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The first born son of the duke and duchess of Kent, seventh in line of succession to the throne, today was christened Prince Edward George Nicholas Paul Patrick of Kent in the private chapel of Buckingham palace.

Members of the royal family, including the grandparents, King George and Queen Mary, looked on as church dignitaries, using River of Jordan water dipped from an historic golden font, baptized the infant born Oct. 9.

Although in keeping with royal custom the baby was christened with several names, he will be known in everyday usage as "His Royal Highness Prince Edward of Kent."

The Briar Pipe

By Stuart Palmer

SYNOPSIS.

Violet Feverel is killed apparently by having been thrown from her horse Siwash, which she had taken from Thwaite's Riding academy for an early morning's ride in New York's Central park. Miss Hildegarde Withers, teacher and student of criminology, happens on the scene of the tragedy, where she meets her friend, Inspector Piper. In a small adjacent pool they uncover an old garden hoe with an unrusted horseshoe attached to it. Dr. Bloom, medical examiner, finds no wounds on the body, though murder is suspected. After the body is removed Miss Withers finds a briar pipe on the spot where the dead girl had lain. Miss Withers and Piper let the horse lead, and he gallops back to Thwaite's. There they interview Mrs. Maude Thwaite and her husband, Rufus, owners of the stable, and Latigo Wells, the manager. They learn the victim's identity and that she lived at the Hotel Harthorn. Also that Maude Thwaite desired to own Siwash. They proceed to Violet Feverel's apartment. While there Violet's young sister, Barbara, comes in with Eddie Fry, with whom she is apparently about to elope.

INSTALMENT X.

NO LOVE LOST.

"Were you thinking about running away?" Miss Withers asked.

"Partly that," said Barbara.

"She was trying to decide whether or not to marry me," Eddie offered. "Imagine hesitating about a thing like that?" He grinned.

"Will you begin at the beginning?" Piper asked.

"I've been visiting my sister for the past week," Barbara recited, as if she had rehersed it. "Tonight, I mean last night, there was a party. For me, mostly, because I'm sort of a sap from Syracuse. It broke up late, and Violet got rid of the last of the die-hards by changing into her riding clothes. She said they could drop her off at the stable. I wasn't supposed to go on to Harlem with the others. You'd have thought Violet was my mother, instead of a half sister who never even wrote me a letter for ten years, and who took me in only because the aunt I'd been living with in Syracuse was dead and I didn't have any other place to go. . . ."

She took a deep breath and went swiftly on. "So Eddie knew I wanted to go on to Harlem with them all, and have fun. He said he'd see to it that Violet got into the first cab, and I could come down and get into the second, and she'd never know. Only when we stopped at the stables Violet found I was in the cab, and we had a terrific fight . . ."

Miss Withers' eyebrows went up.

"You hadn't heard about it?" Barbara bit her lip. "That cowboy beau of Violet's was gawking through the door, and I was sure he must have blabbed . . .

"Anyway, Eddie had to go on without me, but I caught a taxi and told the man where the place was, and I caught the crowd in Harlem."

"And had fun," Miss Withers nodded sympathetically. "You say that Mr. Latigo Whatshisname of the stables was friendly with your sister?"

Barbara shrugged. "She got a laugh out of him, anyway. Even had him come up here one evening, but I guess he didn't look as interesting in his best clothes. He thought we were all laughing at him because we tried to make him perform—I think he went home mad."

"One more question," said the inspector. "Who was your sister's boy friend?"

Barbara hesitated, and looked sidewise at the young man beside her. He smoothed the very peaked lapels of his dinner jacket thoughtfully.

"Me, as much as anybody," he said slowly. "But we were just——"

"Just good friends!" interrupted Piper wearily. "I know, I know. By the way, what's your name?"

"Eddie—Edward M. Fry," the young man admitted. He seemed to retain his jovial air with a certain amount of difficulty.

"Business?"

"I'm a veteran in the army of the unemployed," said Mr. Fry.

"And you support yourself in the style to which you had become accustomed—how?" Miss Withers interrupted.

He smiled apologetically. "I've been lucky out at Beulah Park," Eddie admitted. "Guessing on the goats—horses to you, lady."

"But you weren't so lucky at love?" Piper pressed.

The young man hedged, and Barbara saved him. "My sister Violet had an unhappy marriage," she told them. "She was divorced about a year ago, and since then I don't think there's been any man who mattered."

"Married, eh? To a chap named Feverel?"

Barbara shook her head. "Vi and I were born Foley," she explained wearily. "She changed it to Feverel when she started her career as a model. But her husband's name was Gregg, Don Gregg."

"And she divorced him, eh? We'll have a hunt started for Mr. Gregg," said Piper quickly.

Barbara smiled on one side of her mouth. "You won't have to hunt very far," she told them. "He wouldn't pay up, and Violet had him thrown into alimony jail."

"Jail, eh? Then there was no love lost between them?"

"Not on Violet's part, anyway," the younger sister told them. "I'll show you just what she thought of her ex-husband." She rose from her chair and went over to the parrakeet's cage. "Look there!" she said.

In the bottom of the bird cage was a cabinet photograph of a blond and plumply handsome man of perhaps 30 years.

"Well, why don't you laugh, every one does!" cried the girl.

There was only a stony silence, during which Miss Withers tried not to shiver. Then the parrakeet screeched shrilly, and a ring came at the door.

The four of them stood, immobile. There was another ring, and a man's voice called—"Miss Feverel!"

The door swung, and a man pushed hurriedly inside. He was neither old nor young, thin nor fat. Dressed in a musty and dampened suit of sober black, with a greenish derby clutched in one gnarled hand, he was the picture of an old family retainer.

"Mr. Gregg—he wants to see you," said the newcomer. His voice was fairly dripping with gloom. "Please get your things, Miss Feverel, and come with me . . . or it may be too late!"

"And why may it be too late?" interposed the inspector. "This is not Miss Feverel. It's her sister. Violet Feverel was murdered on the bridle path of Central park this morning. . . ."

He stopped at the look of blank surprise which had come across the worn and dusty features of the man in the doorway.

"Miss Feverel murdered?" he repeated. "But nobody would want to murder her . . . it's old Mr. Gregg they're after!"

Piper came closer. "What do you mean? Somebody's trying to murder who?"

"Mr. Pat Gregg, my employer," said Thomas. "That's why he wants to see Miss Feverel right away—she used to be married to his son, you know. The old man wants to talk to her before he dies—he knows he's going to die. Yesterday somebody poisoned old Rex, the police dog. It wasn't just ordinary meanness between neighbors, either—for that dog was trained to take food from nobody but myself and Mr. Gregg!"

"And you think," Miss Hildegarde Withers asked quietly, "you think that any one meaning harm to the old man would first remove the dog who protected him?"

Thomas nodded slowly. Then he turned toward the door. "I got to get back there," he said.

The inspector hastily took up a commanding position against the door. "Not so fast, not so fast," he commanded. "What's all this about?"

"We might have a chance to find out," Miss Withers cut in, "if we followed the lead of this gentleman here, Mister——?" She nodded inquiringly.

"Thomas," said the newcomer. "Abe Thomas, ma'am. Me and my wife Mattie have taken care of Mr. Pat Gregg twenty years come April. And now—" he urged apologetically, "it's a thirty mile drive to the place, and I've got to get started. I wish you'd come with me. . . ."

divulge his name, thinking it will be more amusing if the audiences are surprised when they discover who is hidden behind the luxuriant black whiskers he will wear those nights.

That the living pictures will be authentic but entertaining, and that the lecture will be the same, no one who saw the similar program Mrs. Winterbotham staged for the Friday club doubts, for that was one of the most riotously funny meetings the club had last year. Some of the same women who posed then will pose again in the big gilt frame that was made at that time and that will be used for the St. Chrysostom living pictures.

There will be two performances each night, Wednesday, Dec. 4, and Thursday, Dec. 5, each lasting about half an hour. Miss Holden is in New York this week but when she returns next week she will get busy on painting the back drops and already Miss Peggy Hambleton is working with Mrs. Winterbotham on plans for costumes.

"Christmas Windows" is a sort of glorified Christmas bazar which was started last year by the Women's guild and which was so successful that it is being repeated this year. Thirty-eight shops will exhibit and sell Christmas gifts.

Seipps to Give Party for Elisabeth Dewes.

Miss Pauline Seipp, a debutante of two seasons ago, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, will entertain on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15, for Miss Elisabeth Dewes, daughter of Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes.

Miss Dewes is one of this season's most attractive buds. She will be presented formally to society Saturday night Nov. 30 at a dinner-dance at the Casino. Miss Seipp, who was graduated from Vassar last June, is at home this winter doing provisional membership work for the Junior League and attending cooking school.

One of the many parties planned for the subdebs and their young beaux during the Christmas holiday season is a dance that Mrs. Helen Walton will give on Saturday, Dec. 28, in the lounge of the Lake Shore Drive hotel for her fifteen year old son, Woodworth Walton and Mark Skinner Willing Jr., who will visit "Woody" for the holidays. The Willings are living in Virginia and seldom spend any time in their Chicago residence any more.

Miss Babbs Burton is arriving at home from the French school in New York Thanksgiving morning for the debutante festivities of the week-end. Her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Burton, will make plans with her then for a dinner to be given during the Christmas holidays.

Renaissance Society to Show Schutze Work.

The Renaissance society of the University of Chicago will have its first tea of the season tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in its gallery, 205 Wieboldt hall, to open a memorial exhibition of Eve Watson Schutze's paintings and photographic portraits.

The late Mrs. Martin Schutze was president of the society for six years. The paintings on exhibition include some she did as long ago as 35 years and also some painted shortly before her death last May. Her photographic studies include portraits of many noted people including Jane Addams. Mrs. Harold Stark is president of the society now.

Wellesley Dinner for College Head.

The Chicago Wellesley club is giving a dinner tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Blackstone for Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of Wellesley, who is arriving today for a brief stay in Chicago. Mrs. Eugene Howard is in charge of the dinner, and Mrs. Ralph Church is president of the club.

The speakers will be Miss Pendleton, who will retire next year after 20 years as president; Mrs. Ralph Brown, president of the Wellesley Alumnæ association; Miss Helen Monchow of Mount Holyoke, president of the Woman's college board, and Henry Hilton, who will represent Wellesley fathers and husbands. Presidents of the Wellesley clubs of New York, Detroit, Kalamazoo, Indianapolis, and Milwaukee will be among the guests.

The Du Page hunt, which was revived this season after a year or two of inactivity, is having a very busy and active season, and to climax it the members are planning a hunt ball. It will be given at the Chicago Golf club in Wheaton, but the date has not been set yet, for there are so many affairs scheduled for the last week of this month and the first week of December that it is hard to find a free night.

The Dunham Woods Riding club will have a dinner Saturday night. Guests are promised a steak dinner and ping-pong, bridge, and games for the evening's amusement.

Fortnightly to Hear Lecture on Mexico.

When Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett lectures on her trip to Mexico before members of the Fortnightly this morning she will have several young friends dressed in Mexican costumes on the platform with her. Among them are Miss Betty Durham and her cousin, Stirling Dickinson, and Heath Bowman.

Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler will be hostess at the directors' table today at the Woman's Athletic club to David Seabury, who will lecture this morning at the club on "What Makes Us All So Queer?" Mrs. Tyler will introduce the speaker at 11 o'clock in the ballroom.

Of interest today is the lecture Miss Harriet Borland will give before the Chicago branch of the Society of Women Geographers at 3 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley. Miss Borland will speak on her trip overland from Guatemala to Mexico.

Miss Mary West will be hostess at the causerie of the Alliance Française this afternoon. Mrs. Arthur Small and Mme. Eugenie Raymondaud will pour tea. Mrs. Sol Lesser will talk about the alliance library and Mrs. Paul Van Cleef will speak on a day at the Alliance Française in Paris.

Count Giulio Bolognesi will speak on "Is Italy the Culprit?" at dinner tonight before the Army and Navy club members. This is the first in a series of dinners. The count is a former consul general of Italy in Canada and a former Italian consul in Chicago.

Mayflower Descendants Hold Dinner Tonight.

Ninety reservations have been made by members of the Society of Mayflower Descendants of Illinois for themselves and their guests for a banquet the society is holding tonight at the Blackstone hotel. Col. George T. Buckingham will give the address with "The Colonial Background of the Constitution" as his subject. Mrs. Seymour Morris, secretary of the organization; Henry A. Rumsey, governor, and Mrs. Rumsey, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Barnes, Col. and Mrs. Bion J. Arnold, and Dr. William Brewster Stoskopf are among those who will attend the dinner.

The society will hold its annual business meeting at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, president of the Crib society, has returned from a visit in St. Louis to lead a two weeks' ticket selling campaign for a private showing of the Colleen Moore doll house at the Fair store on Sunday, Dec. 8, from noon until 6 o'clock, for the benefit of St. Vincent's orphanage.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, vice president, and Mrs. Henry Murphy and Miss Marjorie Moran have organized the campaign, and their plans will be discussed at a meeting of the society tomorrow. Mrs. Denis F. Kelly, wife of the president of the Fair, is a member of the Crib society board, and she and Mr. Kelly and Mrs. McLaughlin will receive on the afternoon of the benefit.

Cornelius B. Watson Jr. of Winnetka and Robert Stephen Ingersoll of Oak Park have been elected members of the Junior promenade committee at Yale, a great honor on the campus.

Two young ladies from Chicago have been elected song leaders of the freshman class at Vassar. They are the Misses Caroline and Josephine Castle, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Castle of Lake Shore drive.

Two Pieces Varied in Uses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

School and college girls nearly always are attracted to two-piece dresses because they may be worn as separate items. Today's dress features the skirt and blouse in either of two lengths, making entirely different looking dresses. Make the skirt of a light weight woolen, and the blouse of a novelty silk with wool effect. By way of change, wear a sweater with your skirt and, perhaps, you'd like to make the longer blouse of satin crêpe.

The pattern, No. 3309, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for the shorter length blouse, with 2⅛ yards of 35 inch material for the skirt.

Gnadhutten Cross.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This "Gnadhutten Cross" first was made in Ohio in imitation of one of the homespun coverlets created by the well-to-do families in the Moravian settlement there. This was one of the first settlements in the state of Ohio, which general date gives one a vague idea of the age of the quilt. All the patches in the block are set together in a horizontal position. Blue and white was a favorite color combination, although red and green often were combined with white.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

"Famous Yuletide Cakes and Cookies," a booklet containing recipes for fruit cakes and foreign Christmas cookies, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Does one heat the milk and oysters of an oyster stew together?

Does one cook the oysters until their edges curl, or longer?

Does one boil the milk before or after adding the oysters or not at all?

Do you recommend stewing the oysters in chopped onion?

Does one limit the seasoning to salt and pepper?

Does one use beaten egg yolks?

Questions like these [which came to us through the mail the other day] are just a few of those which good cooks are wont to bandy across the back fence or bridge table, when a discussion of oyster stew comes up. There are almost as many ways, so it seems, of making that famous dish as there are cooks who make it.

At any rate, an excellent recipe, without any fripperies, is one which the Oyster Institute of America has elected as its standard. It goes like this:

Colonial Oyster Stew.

¼ cup butter
1 pint oysters
1 quart milk
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon paprika

Melt the butter, add the drained oysters, and cook for three minutes, or until the edges of the oysters begin to curl. Add the milk, salt, pepper, and paprika, bring almost to the boiling point, and serve at once with oyster crackers.

We don't differ much with the institute, feeling that oysters, butter, milk, and a touch of seasoning are enough for any man's stew pot—and that extra flubdub not only is beside the point but likely to alter the true rich flavor. However, for some reason or other we prefer to put our oyster stews together like this:

First, remove any bits of shell from the oysters and strain the liquor. Add the butter to the oysters and strained liquor and let simmer for two minutes. Then add scalded rich top milk [never let it boil] and salt, and pour immediately into a heated soup bowl. A small chunk of butter is allowed to swim in the top of the stew and [as far as our stews are concerned] the paprika is merely dashed on top for a touch of color.

Small disagreements like that could take up weeks and nothing ever would be settled. Probably more important is the fact that we're dropping the stew question entirely tomorrow and are going to devote a lot of space to other suggestions for oyster dishes.

Educate the Retarded Child Through Hands

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In educating and training the exceptional child [that is, the mentally retarded child], the development of his manual skills—or perhaps I should say all his muscular coördinations—looms large.

Academic subjects, including the three R's, are fields in which he may not be able to go far. He cannot be given hour upon hour of mental occupation. Yet he must be trained and he must be occupied, whether he is at home or in a class with normal children.

The home life of an exceptional child will almost surely be unhappy —and, in fact, the whole family will be affected—if he is idle. Mothers write to me asking what they can do to keep him—or her—busy.

Let me make a few brief suggestions for manual activity, including handcraft and vocational work, the results of which may sometimes be sold:

Drawing, using preferably large sheets of paper.
Knitting.
Crocheting.
Sewing.
Making rag carpet rugs.
Weaving.
Cord work.
Basketry.
Raffia work.
Woodwork.

The exceptional child can be taught to help at home in housework and outside chores and in many ways which are not only good training for him but make him feel that he has a real place in the family.

More advanced vocational training, leading to the earning of money, can be carried on—brush making, lether work, toy making, and so forth. Books are obtainable giving directions for these trades.

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Detailed advice and directions for educating the exceptional child, as well as for understanding and managing him, are found in the small but important books that are recommended in our reference leaflet. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring this list to you.

Scanning Faces Gives Insight Into Behavior

Facial Features Reveal Basic Traits.

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

MIRIAM HOPKINS.

Keeping your eyes open to the differences in facial formations of people brings a consciousness of their behavioristic differences. Ordinarily we look at them superficially and take in merely the motions of face muscles. This gives us an idea of their temporary feelings, but nothing that may foretell their future actions. An orderly knowledge of their basic traits which would make that possible is gained only from shapes of the various features, and habitual observation of these, therefore, is important.

I was sitting in an outer office waiting to see a manager and meanwhile noticed a little by-play of two girls working there. One of them, apparently a new employé, lighted a cigaret and was quickly cautioned by the other that smoking was not permitted. "Who said so, the boss?" No, he had not mentioned it, but it was understood that he would not like it. Before the smoker had finished her cigaret the manager entered and saw her. His only remark was, made without displeasure, that times had changed.

The dark eyebrowed girl was not afraid that she would offend her employer and did not let fear of an unknown factor stop her from refreshing herself. The other girl, with her light eyebrows and short upper lip, was constantly worrying about whether her superior would be annoyed.

Miriam Hopkins has the tendencies of a child in actual relationship with others, but the intellectual traits of a highly developed adult. Her nose is low-ridged and thick in the lower part, signifying a combination of characteristics that is agreeable. They consist of a desire to please and a way of knowing how to do it, a consideration for others, and a recognition of their needs. Her high and wide forehead indicates capacity for thought and ideas, and her broad jaws a strength of ambition that might break a lesser personality.

Undernourished Hair Exhibits a Lack of Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Undernourished hair is something to reckon with, if you're interested in hair beauty. It's something that isn't reckoned with often enough. I'll wager that only a few women ever think of hair as being nourished or undernourished. The average woman simply thinks of hair as something to be shampooed and dressed twice a week. But that word undernourished tells a story that could not be better told in long winded sermons. Hair is undernourished or it isn't. It looks it, or it doesn't. When you see a head with untidy, unmanageable hairs sprouting off this way and that, you're almost bound to see hair that needs nourishment. Or, when it discourages you because of its apathetic quality, lustrelessness, old looking, again you had better think in terms of nourishment.

Naturally, the great nourishment comes from the blood that feeds the scalp. No one needs to remind you that when you were ill, when you were threatened with that nervous breakdown, your hair was an additional worry. But after the inner nourishment there are local measures that can be made to serve a great hair beauty purpose.

I am so glad that numbers of women are beginning to treat their scalps and the hairs that grow therefrom not as neglected stepchildren. There are women who use a scalp unguent with the same conscience with which they apply a skin nourishing cream. It stands to reason that if the skin on the face requires substitute oils and emollients, the scalp must require some, too. It suffers the same dryness and the same tendency to blemish as the face left to its own measures of protection.

BLACKHAWKS TO BATTLE SPEEDY LEAFS TONIGHT

Tough Visitors

BLACKHAWKS.		TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS.
Karakas	G	Hainsworth
Levinsky	L. D.	Hollett
Wiebe	R. D.	Horner
Romnes	C	Primeau
Thompson	L. W.	H. Jackson
McFadyen	R. W.	Conacher

The unbeaten league leading and high scoring Toronto Maple Leafs will play the undefeated Blackhawks in a National Hocky league game tonight at the Chicago Stadium.

Connie Smythe, Toronto boss, says he is bringing to Chicago the hardest shooting and fastest skating team that has ever represented Toronto.

Harvey Jackson, pre-season holdout, is back in the fold, which completes the famous Conacher-Primeau-Jackson "kid" line, hocky's best scoring combination for the last four seasons. This front line has amassed the total of 524 scoring points since the season of 1930-31.

Youngsters Show Skill.

In Art Jackson, brother of Harvey, Red Metz and Pep Kelly, Smythe figures he has the most valuable trio of youngsters to break into the majors since the advent of the "kid" line. Toronto has high hopes that the youngsters who played a big part in bringing the dominion junior title to Toronto in 1934 will help bring the Stanley cup back there this winter.

A third attacking trio consisting of Bill Thomas, Frank Finnigan, and Buzz Boll were outstanding throughout the training season and have demonstrated consistent scoring ability since the season's start.

Leaf Defense Strong.

The Leaf defense appears as strong as any in the league. In the nets will be George Hainsworth who is the last word in nonchalance during his puck stopping duties. One defense pair will be made up of Happy Day and King Clancy. The former is starting his twelfth and the latter his fifteenth season in major league company. Clancy has seen big time service longer than any other player in the league.

On another line the Maple Leafs have Red Horner and Bill Hollett. Andy Blair completes the aggregation scheduled to meet Clem Loughlin's Blackhawks tonight. As a utility player he ranks as one of the best in the league playing defense as well as any forward position.

Back Checking a Problem.

With the exception of Chabot, ailing goalie, every member of the Blackhawks was sent through every strategic maneuver both defensively and offensively in yesterday's practice.

The Blackhawks' problem will be mainly one of back checking as the Maple Leafs are famous for three man rushes. Their power plays have netted 16 goals in four games. The Leafs with 7 points are leading the league. The Blackhawks with 5 are second. A victory for the Hawks, who are leading United States section, will place them in a tie with the Leafs for the league leadership.

At Montreal tonight the Canadiens will battle the Maroons. In New York the Detroit Red Wings will take on the Americans.

HUNTERS TRIED BY TELEPHONE AND FINED $15

Worthington, Minn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Municipal Judge C. B. Murtry held court over 200 miles of telephone wire when he assessed fines against six South St. Paul hunters and ordered their guns confiscated upon their pleas of guilty to violation of pheasant shooting regulations.

The men, arraigned "over the telephone," to avoid a return trip from St. Paul, were John B. Nelseon, Stockyards police chief; Tony Roszak, Ed Lewandowski, Otto Raspe, and Thomas Hogan, business men, and R. R. Smetzer, packing plant foreman. Each was fined $15.

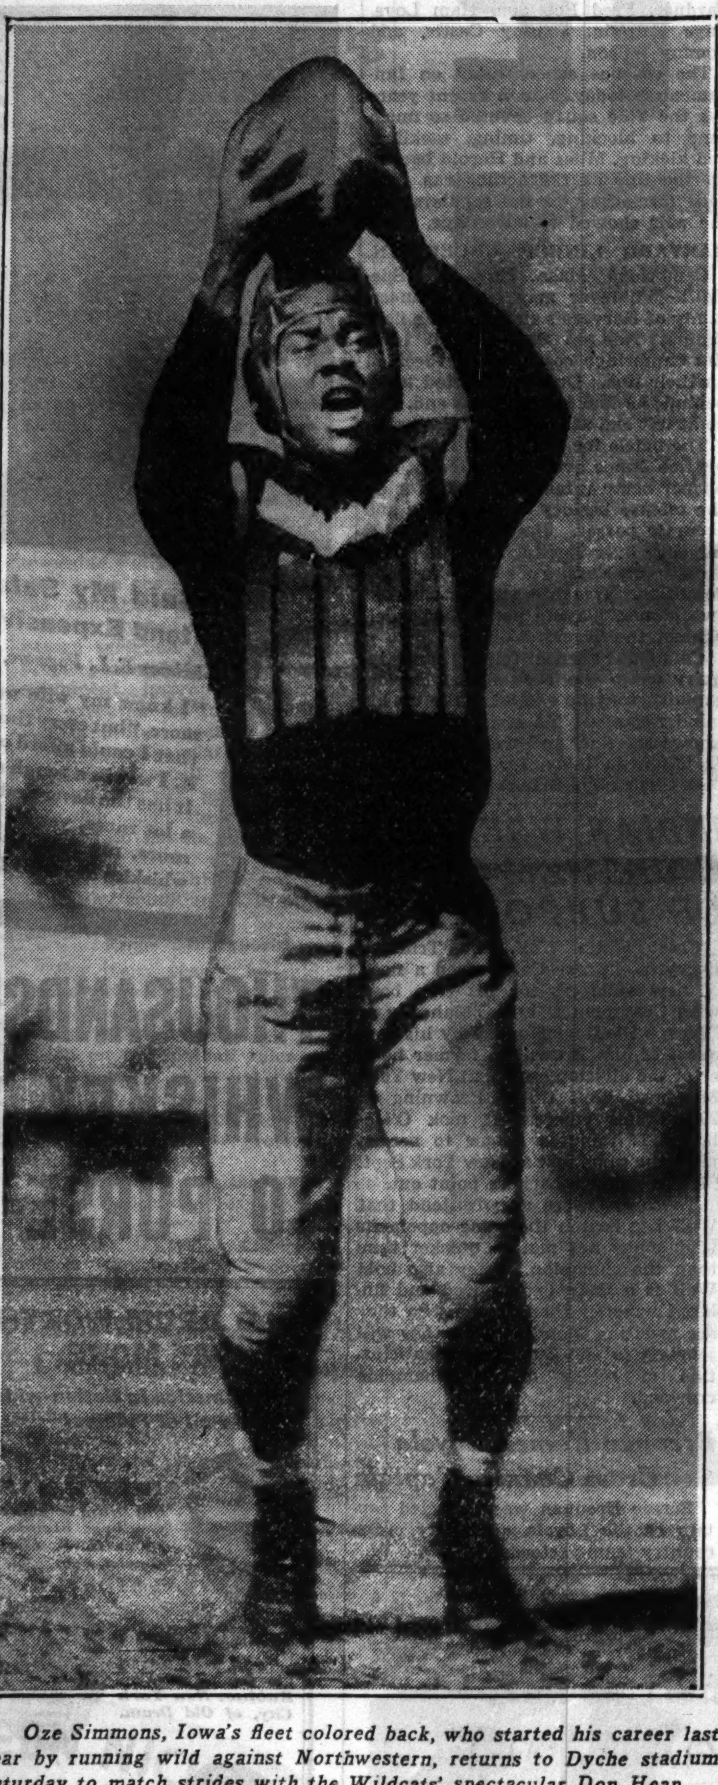
IOWA'S MAN OF HOUR



Oze Simmons, Iowa's fleet colored back, who started his career last year by running wild against Northwestern, returns to Dyche stadium Saturday to match strides with the Wildcats' spectacular Don Heap.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Simmons, Heap Hold Key to Iowa-Wildcat Battle

Two of the Big Ten's fastest ball carriers, Ozzie Simmons of Iowa and Don Heap of Northwestern, will meet at Dyche stadium Saturday in the windup of the 1935 season. Both teams will pin their hopes for victory on these two backs.

Simmons has been the king pin of the Iowa attack for the last two years. Heap has attained stardom in this, his first year in conference competition. Simmons leaped into prominence in the opening game of the conference season last year against Northwestern when he unreeled numerous long runs, topping off his performance with a spectacular forty-eight yard run for a touchdown.

They Pass, Too.

Both players stand out as the leading ball carriers on their respective teams. Simmons, who has been running much better than last year, has gained 546 yards in 98 attempts for an average of 5.5 yards. Heap has carried the ball 120 times for a total gain of 648 yards for an average of 5.3 yards.

In addition to their ball carrying both are adept at forward passing and at the present time constitute their team's principal overhead threat. Simmons blossomed forth as a passer in the Minnesota game, where his accurate tosses paved the way for a Hawkeye touchdown. Last Saturday against Purdue he passed to Harris for Iowa's only touchdown.

SIMMONS JOINS IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Good football weather for the first time in ten days enabled Coach Ossie Solem to give University of Iowa football players their second long scrimmage of the week today.

Practice was carried on in secret again. The varsity scrimmaged nearly two hours on offense and defense against freshmen.

Solem said Ozzie Simmons, colored back who worked with the team for the first time since the Purdue game, would probably be able to start against Northwestern. Simmons' ankle was still heavily taped, but the swelling had subsided.

Bill Secl and Don Nelson played in place of Jim Kelley and Gene Liggett at the guard positions today, but Solem said he was undecided on his starting lineup. The backfield was composed of Bush Lamb, quarter back; Paul Akin and Capt. Dick Crayne, half backs, and Simmons, full back.

For the first time this season the Iowa band will accompany the team out of town. More than 2,000 students are expected to board a special train leaving here late Friday.

3 YEARS WITHOUT A DEFEAT! THAT'S MINNESOTA GOAL

Wisconsin Passes Only Worry Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—Seventeen consecutive victories. Twenty-four games without defeat. Two Western conference championships in succession.

These are the goals of Minnesota's mighty men and only Wisconsin's Badgers, who are Saturday's opponents in the finale of the 1935 football campaign, can deny their fulfillment.

On the records, Wisconsin should be the easiest kind of a stepping stone. Didn't Michigan whip Wisconsin, 20 to 12? And last Saturday, didn't Minnesota reach a new high by lambasting the Wolverines, 40 to 0? By these figures the Gophers are seven touchdowns better than the Badgers. Other comparative scores, even Wisconsin's victory over Purdue, 8 to 0, as compared to Minnesota's 29 to 7 conquest of the Boilermakers point to victory for the Northmen Saturday.

Fight Letdown by Players.

This final step, because it is the last and most important, is definitly more worry to the coaching staf than some of the earlier marches along the title path. If, however, the players also appreciate the possibilities of a defeat, there will be no let down in effort which must occur if Wisconsin wins. Minnesota, playing at top form, certainly should whip the Badgers.

Wisconsin is better now, so Minnesota scouts report, than at any time this year. The Badger passing is a positive source of unrest, for Minnesota hasn't faced an expert air attack this fall except, perhaps, in the Iowa game. The Hawkeyes completed two passes in the drive for a touchdown in the first half of the homecoming game at Iowa City. Coupled with passing ability, Wisconsin is expected to show a rugged line defense.

Last year in the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Madison the Badgers demonstrated a sound line defense which forced Minnesota to pass for all of its scores in the second half.

40,000 to See Game.

Minnesota followers, although appreciating the dangers of the game here Saturday, have a right to feel confident the Gophers will win. It is this confidence and appreciation of Minnesota's record rather than anticipation of a hard fought game which is expected to bring 40,000 to the stadium. Nearly one-third of a million spectators—home attendance, 182,500; attendance away from home, 117,000—have already watched Minnesota this fall.

In the last game of 1932, on a frozen gridiron with temperatures barely above zero, Harry Newman kicked the field goal which gave Michigan a 3 to 0 victory over Minnesota and a conference championship.

Since then, the Gophers have not lost a game. In 1933 Michigan again won the Big Ten title, its fourth in succession, but Pug Lund's kicking and punt handling plus a sturdy line matched Michigan's efforts in a scoreless game.

Earns National Recognition.

In this three year span, Minnesota, by its 13 to 7 conquest of Pittsburgh last year, as well as it 7 to 3 victory over the same team in 1933, has gained national recognition. Other non-conference victories have helped.

One year ago Minnesota lost Lund, Larson, Tenner, Bevan, Bruhn, Kostka, Bengtson, Clarkson, and Proffitt. This fall ineligibility cost the service of Julius Alfonse and injury in the Tulane game has since kept Capt. Seidel on the sidelines. Minnesota carried on despite the absence of these players. That is obvious tribute to the caliber of this year's team and calls for praise for Coach Bernie Bier-

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE White Sox will have first and second pick of players on the Kansas City roster until Sept. 1, 1936. . . . As part payment for Mike Kreevich the Sox have turned over Catcher Ed Madjeski and Pitcher Joe Vance to the Kansas City club. . . . Kreevich can be returned if he doesn't make good by a set date. . . . Upset by a bad play on the part of Jay Wardley, freshman back, Doug Mills, Illinois yearling coach, yelled: "What kind of high school coaching did you have?" . . . Everybody laughed. . . . Mills was his coach at Joliet High. . . . Coach Dana X. Bible is in his seventh year at Nebraska, the longest tenure of any Cornhusker leader. . . . Bunny Booth, at Nebraska six years, was next in length of service. . . . Eddie Plank Jr., son of the famous pitcher, is a candidate for first base on the Penn State nine. . . . Chicago women have seven of the first twelve national ranking table tennis players, but Chicago men have only one of the first twelve. . . . One of Northwestern's scouts in the press box at the Iowa-Minnesota game beat the announcer by calling the play which scored the Gophers' winning touchdown before the ball was snapped. . . . He had seen Minnesota pull the same stunt on Northwestern. . . .

CHAMPION PUGILISTS.

THE Wake is asked by a Helper: "I have had several versions about the laws governing championship prize fighters and have been told that a champion does not have to defend his championship against a colored person. Is that a law of the prize ring or not?"

It is not! Back in the old days champions did pretty much as they pleased in selecting opponents, a condition which would not be tolerated now by various state boxing commissions. Public opinion was about the only guide. Since boxing, or prize fighting, was outlawed in so many states then even public opinion was not as great a factor as now.

John L. Sullivan drew the color line, refusing to meet Peter Jackson, a great colored boxer of the time, highly regarded by the public. It did not seem to detract from John L.'s popularity. Jim Corbett fought a 61 round draw with Jackson before he became champion. Bob Fitzsimmons was knocked out by Jack Johnson after Bob was long past his prime. Jim Jeffries emerged from retirement as a "white hope" to engage Johnson and was knocked out in 15 rounds.

Tommy Burns was accepted champion after Jeffries' retirement in an elimination bout with Marvin Hart. He lost his title to Jack Johnson. Johnson, of course, met both colored and white boxers, losing his title to Jess Willard at Havana in a bout looked upon with suspicion. Willard, comparatively inactive as champion, lost to Jack Dempsey at Toledo in 1919. Dempsey consistently refused to meet Harry Wills, colored, although the color line was not announced as the specific reason, but rather that it was not an attractive public match. Gene Tunney was not called upon to meet any colored challenger of note in his brief title tenure before retirement.

Max Schmeling had no occasion to meet a colored boxer during his title reign. He probably would have done so, as he now professes a desire to meet Joe Louis, one time CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves champion, apparently on the path to the heavyweight title. Jack Sharkey did not meet a Negro while champion, but previously had fought and won on a foul from Harry Wills, whom Dempsey declined to meet.

Primo Carnera drew no color line before acquiring the championship from Sharkey, met no colored boxer as champion, but was knocked out by Joe Louis in a comeback effort. Max Baer apparently had no antisepia complex, for he, too, was stopped by Joe Louis after losing his honors to Jim Braddock. Braddock says he is perfectly willing to meet Joe Louis this coming summer or fall.

If Braddock took the opposite position and refused to meet Louis, which he has not done, public opinion undoubtedly would be against him. It is likely state commissions would name Louis as challenger, in which

Triumphs in the Playoff, 50 to 31.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The 1935 world championship three cushion billiard tournament became just so much history last night after Willie Hoppe had beaten Arthur Thurnblad, 50 to 31, in forty-three innings. They met in the final match of the meet to decide second place.

If Hoppe had played twenty-four hours earlier as he did against Thurnblad he probably would have been the new world's champion. He was in his finest form last night. Short angle shots which he could not make while playing Welker Cochran in the title match were easy for him against Thurnblad. He had a high run of seven, another of six, and four clusters of four.

Hoppe Withholds Challenge.

Thurnblad had been the early leader, but after Hoppe went to the front, 25 to 21, in the twenty-first inning, the result never was in doubt.

By finishing second Hoppe has the right to demand a title match with Cochran within sixty days. Hoppe said last night he probably would not challenge. "I'll wait and try to get him in next year's tournament," he told friends.

Welker Cochran, who won the championship when he beat Willie Hoppe, 50 to 46, on Tuesday night, left yesterday for his home in California. He has a busy seven or eight months ahead of him. One of the prizes he won along with the world's title was a high salary for an exhibition tour.

He Opens in Peoria.

This tour will start in Peoria about Jan. 20 and will continue for six months or more.

Cochran got approximately $3,000 in cash aside from his salary, which is reported to be $7,500 for a year's work. Hoppe's cash prize for finishing second will be about $2,500, and Thurnblad's third money runs to about $1,500. Every player shared in the prize money. Tiff Denton's share for finishing last was about $350. This assures each player of at least his expense for the tournament.

Clyde Storer, president of the National Billiard association, revealed last night that all attendance records for billiard tournaments had been broken at this year's meet. Score of last night's match:

GEORGE JACOBUS RE-ELECTED PRO GOLF PRESIDENT

George R. Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., yesterday was reëlected president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, at the close of the 19th annual meeting at the Morrison hotel.

With the exception of Dan J. Goss of Atlanta, Ga., who was replaced by George Norrie of Macon, Ga., as vice president representing the south, all the 1935 officers were reëlected. Those named to serve another year:

Honorary president, Charles W. Hall, Birmingham, Ala.; honorary vice presidents, Robert T. Jones, Atlanta, Ga., and Walter Hagen, Detroit.

Pedro Montanez Knocks Out Stanley in Third

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—With a blast of left hooks to the body and a crossfire of rights to the head and jaw, Pedro Montanez, Porto Rican lightweight, tonight knocked out Jack Stanley, West New York, N. J., welterweight, in the third round. It was Montanez's fifth straight American conquest.

COCHRANE AND DYKES CONFER OVER SIMMONS

Talk Is Only Result of Meetings.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dayton, O., Nov. 20.—The 1935 convention of minor baseball leagues, unlike the pow-wow in Louisville a year ago, after being in session less than a day, is showing symptoms of being a fiesta of futility, insofar as major league swapping is concerned. Either that or a lot of magnates are careless with the truth, which is not unprecedented.

There were conferences by the hundreds, however, and rumors by the thousands. In the thickest of all of it was Vice President-Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs and Vice President Harry Grabiner and Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox.

Some of the Cubs' activities during the day had to do with closing arrangements to mother the Birmingham Barons of the Southern association. It was reported some time ago that the Cubs had completed a formal working agreement with the Barons, from which the Chicago team obtained pitcher Lefty Shoun last August, but Grimm said certain details remained to be completed. Appointment of Riggs Stephenson, former Cub hero, as manager of the Barons, was tied up with Cub aspect of Baron affairs, though Stevie was a natural for the post without any Chicago urging. Stevie, as all fans know, is one of Alabama's most famous sons.

Freddie to Stick.

Cub officials also spent some time talking with the Piedmont league with a view of effecting a working agreement with a team in that circuit. No team has been designated thus far. Grimm talked trade with Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and asked him what he had to offer in pitching talent in exchange for either Chuck Klein or Tuck Stainback. The Cub skipper previously had said he would trade any of his outfielders except Galan or Demaree, but today he included Lindstrom in the list of players whom he plans to retain.

Among the conferences which excited the nosey journalists was a long one between Dykes and his old teammate, Mickey Cochrane. When this pair got together thoughts of those trying to listen through the door panels turned to Al Simmons. Cochrane still wants Simmons, though not as much as he did when Mickey and Al were surfboard riding together in Hawaii some eleven months ago.

Big Hearted Mickey.

It was intimated that Cochrane's best offer was a truck full of tickets for the seventh game of the last world series and Mickey wasn't even sure he could close, Tiger affairs being in somewhat of a jumble since the death of President Frank Navin.

Cochrane plans to leave tomorrow night for Miami to consult with Walter O. Briggs, who has taken over the world champs. It was intimated that Cochrane will be able to do some real talking when he attends the major league meeting in Chicago three weeks hence. Aside from the unused world series tickets Cochrane may offer Gerald Walker and third baseman, Gilbert English, whom the Tigers have purchased from Portland of the Pacific Coast league.

Managers of a couple of National league also rans, Frank Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bill Terry of the New York Giants, succeeded in attracting considerable attention to themselves by announcing, after a conference, that they had completed a deal involving established players. Laughing raucously at the distressed press, the two managers said the names of the players involved will not be divulged until the meeting in Chicago.

It Might Be Parmelee.

The most persistent guess in the matter, however, was that Leroy Parmelee is one of the principals. Parmelee, who had specialized in beating the Cubs for two years prior to last mid-summer, won 14 and lost 10 last year. It is said that when he stopped beating the Cubs, Terry decided to send him away. Both Frisch and Terry said that neither Ripper Collins, Card first baseman, nor Carl Hubbell, the Giant's master lefty, were involved. Some one said a satchel full of Giant currency is involved, which rather threw down one rumor that Burgess Whitehead, a .260 hitter, will be swapped for Parmelee.

Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, one of the best of the swappers, who in the past has made a flesh mart of the minor league conventions, has not shown up, a matter that caused several of the other prospective traders to wear a dejected look. President Lou Comiskey of the Sox was among those not meeting trains which might be bearing Mr. Griffith. The Sox owner had to stand in line an hour waiting for his room assignment this morning and when the wait was rewarded he promptly donned his night shirt and

BERWANGER AIMS AT MILE OF GAINS IN U. OF C. CAREER

Jay Needs 33 Yards When He Faces Illinois.

If Capt. Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago makes 33 yards from scrimmage in his last college game against Illinois at Champaign Saturday, he will have carried the ball exactly one mile on Maroon plays during his three seasons at the Midway, figures revealed yesterday.

In the 22 games in which he has competed for Chicago thus far the great Maroon half back has plunged 415 times for net total gains of 1,727 yards, just 33 yards short of a mile. His average gain has been 4.16 yards. His teammates are determined to clear the way past the one mile mark for him Saturday.

As a returner of punts and kickoffs, and a receiver and interceptor of passes Berwanger has carried the ball for Chicago an additional total of 1,261 yards, nearly three-quarters of a mile. His passes have been completed to Maroon receivers for another 921 yards, or more than half a mile, the figures show. He has thus been directly involved, as a ball handler, in gains of almost two and a quarter miles.

Berwanger's gross gains on plays from scrimmage already total more than a mile, but subtractions for losses leaves the net 33 yards short of that distance. When he was told about his achievement yesterday, as he prepared for one of his final practice sessions, Jay laughed and remarked, "That was the hardest mile I've ever traveled."

Set Up Pass Defense.

Berwanger and his squadmates yesterday devoted their efforts to defense against Illini plays, chiefly passes. The first string line, with Whiteside back at center and Gordon Petersen back at end, were sent against the frosh, who were running ground plays and pass plays against them. The first string backs, Berwanger, Fareed, Nyquist, and Skoning, were on defense against passes as executed by the reserves.

Further statistics on Berwanger show that in three years he has thrown 143 passes, of which 50 were complete for 921 yards' gain, or an average of 6.4 yards per attempted pass. Twenty-two Berwanger passes were intercepted. He has received 12 passes for gains of 189 yards and has intercepted 8 opponents' passes and returned them a total of 79 yards. This has been his best season as a thrower, with 25 completed of 64 attempted for 405 yards' gain.

He has punted 213 times [excluding one blocked punt because of bad pass from center] for total gains from the line of scrimmage of 7,986 yards, or an average of 37.5 yards per punt. Seventy-seven of his punts were placed out of bounds and only 8 crossed the goal line. He has kicked off 31 times for a total of 1,435 yards, or an average of 46.3, and has returned 33 kickoffs a total of 855 yards for an average of 26 yards. As punter and kicker off he has booted the ball for 5½ miles.

He has scored 21 touchdowns and 19 points after touchdowns, for 145 points.

Average Rises Each Year.

Berwanger's ball carrying average has risen in each of his three years, but the number of times he has carried the ball has dropped. As a sophomore he plunged 184 times for net gains of 672 yards and an average of 3.7 yards. As a junior he missed the Ohio State game because of injury, but carried the ball 136 times for gains of 595 yards and a 4.4 average.

This year, calling signals himself, he has carried the ball 95 times for gains of 460 yards and an average of 4.84.

ILLINI REGAIN STRENGTH.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—John Theodore, full back, who has been crippled for several weeks, appeared in today's scrimmage as Illinois prepared for the Chicago game and apparently he will be available to relieve Tom Wilson Saturday. With Theodore benched, Wilson has been obliged to carry the full back burden.

Les Lindberg continued in the regular backfield and with no accidents will probably start his last college game at left half back. With Lindberg and Kanosky both available, the punting assignment will be ably handled.

Cliff Gano, sub quarter back, piloted the varsity. Wib Henry was ill. The regulars scrimmaged the freshmen, who used Jay Wardley in the rôle of Berwanger.

How to stop Berwanger continues to be the problem on the practice field. The Illini have held the Maroon star scoreless for two seasons, but realize the difficulty of the task.

WALTER HALL TO RETAIN PLACE AS U. S. L. T. A. CHIEF

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—President Walter Merrill Hall and fellow officers of the United States Lawn Tennis association are slated for reelection by the association's nominating committee. Hall has been president for two years.

The other officers renominated at today's meeting are Holcombe Ward of New York, first vice president; Joseph W. Ivy of Kansas City, second vice president; Ralph W. Estcott of Chicago, secretary, and Lawrence A. Baker of Washington, D. C., treasurer. The annual meeting of the U. S. L. T. A. will be held at Philadelphia Feb. 8.

The selection again of Hall, who was ranked fourth in the country in 1918 was regarded as recognition for his stand in opposition to the British Lawn Tennis association's attempt to have international federation's anti-film regulation altered so as to permit Fred J. Perry of England to appear in action films for compensation without losing his amateur status.

MICHIGAN HOPES REVIVE AS FULL SQUAD PRACTICES

The entire squad, including the injured veterans, was at work. Even Cedric Sweet, full back, who was not expected until Friday, was in uniform. Sweet did no heavy work, nor did Wright, Viergever, or Savage.

It began to look as though Coach Harry Kipke would stick to the lineup that he has been using all week, a front that carries three new faces—four, if Steve Remias, the replacement for Sweet is considered. Bob Campbell, rugged sophomore, was at left half, having the call over both Chris Everhardus and Stark Ritchie.

Joe Rinaldi, another sophomore, kept his place at center. Jesse Garber, who has been in and out of the lineup as a guard and tackle all season, seemed to be established at right guard, in the place Stan Schuman and Sol Sobsey have been trying to fill. Kipke said he might have all three new men start Saturday, as they seem eager to step up the team's morale.

OHIO DEVELOPS OFFENSE.

Columbus, O., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Ohio State's football practice today was devoted almost entirely to developing an offense for use against Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The status of Stanley Pincura, hurt in the Chicago game, is in doubt, Trainer Tucker P. Smith said today. Otherwise the Oho State team is in good physical condition.

With the prospect of a forward passing battle, Ohio may be seriously handicapped by the loss of Pincura, one of the most accurate passers in the Big Ten. The passing duties probably will be carried on by Tippie Dye and Nick Wayslik.

Team Leaves Tomorrow.

The Buckeye team probably will line up with Rees and Wendt at ends, Hamrick and Harre, tackles; Smith and Karcher guards, and Jones at center. In the back field tonight there were Dye at quarter, Heekin and Boucher at halves and McDonald at fullback. A second back field was used interchangeably, which consists of Wayslik at quarter, Beltz and Williams at half backs and Antenucci at full back.

The team will leave Friday morning for Dearborn, where it will stay until time for the game.

PURDUE STRESSES OFFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—"Bring back that bucket" was the battle cry in the Purdue football camp today as the Boilermakers greeted gleefully the first sun in thirteen days and raced through a brisk drill in preparation for the annual game with Indiana.

The Boilermakers, already assured of third place in the Big Ten race by virtue of their comeback against Iowa last Saturday, have discarded all thoughts of past performances as they concentrate on preparation for Saturday's contest at Bloomington.

"We will have to show more scoring punch if we are to score on that Indiana line," Coach Noble Kizer said as he attempted to improve the blocking on running plays. The Boilermakers are expected to stick to the same type of wide open attack that has been averaging 260 yards per game from scrimmage so far this season.

Kizer indicated he may hold Tom McGannon, flashy sophomore broken field runner, on the side lines at the start as he did against Iowa, and start Bob Selby, a more powerful runner, saving McGannon for a spot where he can utilize his speed to best advantage.

KELSO IS INDIANA HOPE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Capt. Reed Kelso's right toe may be called upon to help Indiana retain the old oaken bucket when Purdue invades Memorial stadium Saturday for the annual fight for possession of the gridiron trophy.

Expressing the hope that Kelso will be able to connect with some place kicks from the 30 or 40 yard line, Coach Bo McMillin gave the husky center a long drill in secret practice this afternoon. Last year when Indiana took the oaken bucket from Purdue, 17 to 6, Kelso scored on a thirty yard place kick and also made two points after touchdowns.

George L. Fowler, sophomore half back who has been out with an injury, appeared with the squad today and is expected to get into the game. The last hard workout of the week was held today, with the squad brushing up on its running and passing attack after looking at Purdue plays as exemplified by a freshman eleven.

Corby Davis, star full back, who had been out of active practice since he suffered a shoulder injury at Chicago Saturday, rejoined the squad today in dummy scrimmage. Jim Cavacini, sophomore back, received a hip injury which probably will keep him out of the Purdue game.

Desperate Bears Labor Night and Day for Duel with Lions

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Bears, who ordinarily make an all day job out of professional football every day, were subjected to extra duty yesterday in preparation for the Detroit Lions game at Wrigley field next Sunday. The new order, which includes night meetings in addition to longer workouts in the morning, will continue throughout the week.

Football is a business with the Bears. When business gets bad—as it did against the New York Giants in the mud last week—extra pressure is demanded. The normal routine when they are prospering at the expense of their National league rivals in a pennant race starts at daybreak on these bleak days.

Just Like Going to School.

Players must be in uniform each morning at 9 o'clock, which means they must get up at 7. From 9 until 12 or later they cavort about the practice field. In the afternoon, if they are not on the casualty squad and ordered to the hospital to sit under infra-red lamps and in hot water, they receive individual instruction from Coach George Halas. Two nights a week they meet for lectures and scout reports.

Football is no picnic to the Bears. Players have little time for the social engagements that flood their mails. Then when Coach Halas ordered night lectures for the rest of the week, the Bears were left with just enough time to eat.

Shepherd Inspires Lions.

The object of all this special effort, the Detroit team, has been described by scouts, of which the Bears have a large competent squad, as a revived club. It finally found itself with the addition of Bill Shepherd, the former Western Maryland half back, who gave the Bears such a busy night last August in the All-Star game.

Shepherd was expected to be the league's best back when he started the season with Boston. His play was unimpressive at Boston because Coach Eddie Casey attempted to make a blocking back out of him to utilize the running ability of Cliff Battles and Jim Musick. Shepherd never had been a blocker. When he joined Detroit ten days ago, Coach Potsy Clark placed him at full back, let him carry the ball, then sat back to see his team reach the form expected of it earlier in the season.

Now Clark Is Going.

Shepherd's play has inspired the Lions and opened the way for Dutch Clark to break away while other clubs were concentrating on Bill. Clark's long runs enabled the Lions to beat Green Bay Sunday.

The Bears have spent the greater part of their practice so far fashioning a defense for these two speedsters. Coach Halas, however, fears if he spends too much time trying to stop Shepherd and Clark, Ernie Caddell may break away. This trio is one-two-three at the top of the individual ground gainers in the league at present. Including last Sunday's game, Shepherd has gained 360 yards, Caddell 344, and Clark 320. Their nearest competitor is Doug Russell of the Cardinals, who has piled up 288 yards.

Halas will switch to offense today, giving the Bears several new plays and embellishing the old ones in an effort to deceive Detroit Sunday.

HUTSON RECOVERS

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Don Hutson, star left end of the Green Bay Packers, who was stricken last week with an attack of appendicitis and who entered the hospital here Monday for observation, was declared ready for action by the club physician this afternoon. Hutson will rejoin the squad tomorrow and may see action against Pittsburgh Sunday.

Coach Curly Lambeau, pleased by the Cardinals' defeat by Brooklyn last night, which left the Packers in undisputed possession of first place in the western division of the National Professional Football league, redoubled efforts today to finish the season with victories over Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and the Cards in remaining games.

The squad will leave Friday morning for Pittsburgh.

Three Years Without Loss Gophers' Goal

Bierman's Offense Clicks.

Coach Bierman, a Minnesota alumnus, has raised his alma mater from the status of championship contender to title stature. He has given the Gophers an offense and taught them to use it. Minnesota's opponents always knew the Gophers could not be pushed around easily, but it seemed Minnesota sometimes failed to capitalize on its scoring chances.

Of course, Bierman has had a versatile group to work with this year. Without detracting from his efforts [and Bierman, who naturally is retiring and reticent, would be the last to wish to minimize the talent of his men], the efficiency of the team prevents personal recognition due some of the members of the team.

Minnesota had key men to start the season. Rennebohm, accurate passer at center, brilliant defensively back of the line, has been an important factor. Veteran quarter backs in Seidel and Levoir, an outstanding full back in Beise, two great tackles, Smith and Widseth, a triple threat back in Roscoe, who stepped into Lund's position, were other equally important factors.

Beise Keeps Improving.

Beise was Minnesota's regular full back last year, a fact many overlooked when Stan Kostka was sent into the game to lead the attack to the goal line. Beise can block, back up the line, and this year has improved as a line smasher.

Wilkinson, at guard, is rated as great as was Bevan a year ago, and the ability of Levoir to play any position in the back field, helps to round out the team.

Aided by these players, such new men as Thompson and Andy Uram have been able to establish themselves.

Football's fundamentals, blocking and tackling, have made Minnesota's mighty team. One more victory, a victory Minnesota is determined to acquire Saturday, and Coach Bierman and his Gophers will have completed a record which will stand comparison with any in the nation. One more victory and Minnesota can challenge any ranking which does not give it first place.

BADGERS ON DEFENSE.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin football squad spent a major part of this afternoon's drill in working on defense for running plays of Minnesota, the Badgers' opponent Saturday.

The last hard scrimmage of the season was held yesterday. Although Erv Windward was taken to the dressing room with a wrenched leg muscle last night, he probably will be ready to start at quarter back. Steve Rondone was at Windward's post this afternoon in the back field, with Lynn Jordan and Clarence Tommerson at left half, Eddie Jankowski at right half, and Tony Popp at full back.

The starting tackle assignments also remain uncertain, although it is probable that both John Golemgeske and Ed Christiansen, who were injured in the Northwestern game, will be ready. Golemgeske is especially eager to play, since it will be his 21st birthday.

Pacific Coast to Pick Rose Bowl Eleven Monday

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Prof. Hugh Willett of the faculty at University of Southern California, today issued an announcement, as chairman of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Athletic conference in which he stated that the coast conference faculty fathers next Monday will announce the football team to represent the far west in the annual New Year's day intersectional game in the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

"Faculty representatives will file their votes with me next Monday," Prof. Willett said. If California defeats Stanford at Palo Alto on Saturday this vote will be a formality, because the Golden Bears will then be unbeaten; but if Stanford wins from California, which a considerable portion of far west football followers conceives to be highly possible, the coast college race will be in a three way tie between Saturday's two contenders and University of California at Los Angeles, with four conference victories and one defeat apiece.

The University of California at Los Angeles beat Stanford, 7 to 6, and California beat U. C. L. A., 14 to 2. Whichever coast school is chosen to represent the far west will in turn nominate and invite an eastern university to come to the Rose Bowl as its opponent.

TROJANS LIMBER UP WITH PASSING DRILL AT TUCSON

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Stopping here for the first of their two workouts en route to South Bend for the Notre Dame game Saturday, the Trojans of Southern California went through a two hour practice session devoted in the main to passing today.

Coach Howard Jones had his four quarter backs, Davie Davis, Jim Henderson, Nick Pappas, and Glenn Thompson, throwing the ball all over the lot, with Henderson and Thompson the more accurate of the quartet.

Thompson's Ankle Improves.

Thompson injured an ankle in the Washington State game and it looked for a spell as if he might not be able to make the trip, but the sophomore sharpshooter hopped around with considerable agility today.

Henderson is Southern California's dark horse for the Irish battle. He weighs 215 pounds and has played only three minutes of varsity ball all year. That was against Montana in the first game of the season. An injury kept him on the side lines for a month and when he returned to competition it was as an end and full back. But Monday night Jones tried the big fellow at quarter and Jim's passing and running brought a broad smile to the usually glum features of the head man. He is sure to play against Notre Dame and may do a lot of damage because of his speed, power and passing.

Here's the Lineup.

The varsity lined up with Hibbs and Williams at the ends, Belko and Dittberner as tackles, Spuey and Wilensky as guards and Kuhn at center, with Davis, Hansen, Langley and Propst in the back field. This undoubtedly will be the starting lineup Saturday.

Allen Kidder, reserve half back, was the only player not in uniform at today's practice. He suffered a slight injury Tuesday night and was ill on the trip here from Los Angeles.

The team drills tomorrow at Hutchinson, Kas., and will arrive at Englewood station, Chicago, at 9 a. m. Friday morning, working at Stagg field.

NOTRE DAME EASES UP.

After a short tackling drill the Irish spent the rest of the afternoon in dummy scrimmage, mostly on defense against passes. Southern California has won two games in the last quarter, notably last Saturday's against Washington State, 20 to 10, scoring all points in the closing minutes in a passing attack that clicked on eleven out of twenty-two attempts. The Trojans also scored the only touchdown made against California all season in losing, 21 to 7, counting in the last two seconds of play.

The Notre Dame lineup has never been the same two weeks in a row this year, as the result of injuries. The return of Dick Pfefferle

Yale Shifts Lineup for Harvard Game

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Coach Ducky Pond today continued to give special attention to Luther Loomis and Dick Miles for the Harvard contest as the former regulars, Al Hessberg and Clint Frank, remained with the subs.

Pond declared he would start Loomis and Miles in the back field and would place Dick Barr, former center, at left tackle. Barr's choice followed long trials of Bob [Tiger] Taylor, Bill Dickens, Henry [Whitey] Gardner, Fred Peterson, Ham Love, Dave Sutphin, Johnny Castle, and Tommy Wilson.

The coaches concentrated on fundamentals today. Not in recent years has the Yale squad devoted so much time to blocking, timing, tackling, and kicking. Miles and Herold backed up the line as the scrubs ran Harvard formations at the regulars and the pair showed to advantage.

HARVARD LINEUP UNCERTAIN.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Whatever may be the uncertainty of Harvard's starting back field against Yale on Saturday, at least the Cambridge coaches have decided on their line. Dubiel, expected to be behind the line instead of at end, will be at left end at the kickoff Saturday.

The battle for center has been won by Bob Jones over Sam Greeley, the former being rated slightly better on the offense besides being a sure and accurate passer. Jim Nee still holds his edge over Kessler at right guard despite of Kessler's return to good condition. Nee has started the last two games, playing particularly well against the Tigers.

Complete silence follows any inquiry as to the back field. Harlow explains that he cannot make up his mind regarding his starters until he knows the field and wind conditions. It has been taken for granted that both Struck and Blackwood will start.

INDIAN WRESTLER GAINS NEW GROUP OF SUPPORTERS

Chief Little Wolf, the Trinidad heavyweight wrestler, gained a flock of new admirers for his title bout with Champion Danno O'Mahoney at Chicago Stadium Monday by his conquest of Jim Browning, former holder of the division crown, at New York Monday. Wolf threw Browning in 29 minutes whereas it took O'Mahoney 17 minutes longer to accomplish the same feat at New York Sept. 24, the Indian's backers point out.

These followers also contend that Wolf has beaten the same opponents O'Mahoney has met in quicker time than the champion. They also hold Wolf is a more experienced and finished wrestler than Danno. So they are awaiting Monday when they will journey to the Stadium in anticipation of seeing a new champion crowned.

"MY WIFE PUT HER FOOT DOWN"

"Said My Salary Simply Couldn't Stand Expensive Home Entertaining"
declares E. L. Pognore, 1871 Vaux Hall Rd., Union, N. J.

"I knew my wife was right," continues Mr. Pognore, "but every time I'd attempt serving a whiskey that I could afford our guests would scarcely touch it. I was in a tough spot but OLD DRUM saved me! It has the flavor and smoothness of whiskies costing a lot more, yet its price is just my speed. What's more, my friends who used to balk at low price whiskies are OLD DRUM fans now, too."

THOUSANDS NOW BUYING WHISKEY THAT'S KIND TO PURSE AND PALATE

OLD DRUM WORTH 40% MORE
Says America in Nation-wide Poll of Palates!

● GUESSES $1.60 A PT. Old Drum is "one of the best blends," states H. E. Clark, Omaha, Neb.

● VOTES $1.75 A PT. "Smooth as silk," that's what H. Dorsey, Springfield, Ill., thinks of Old Drum.

Don't be mistaken! You can buy really high quality whiskey at a low price! Thousands are doing it every day. They're buying OLD DRUM, the amazing whiskey voted in nation-wide palate poll to be worth 25c to 75c more per pint than its actual price.

Distilled from the same "premium" grain used for costliest whiskies, OLD DRUM challenges comparison with any "straight" or "blend" in its price class. From every standpoint—aroma, flavor, mellowness—OLD DRUM is America's greatest whiskey "buy". You can't beat it!

Maryland Distillery's Creed
"It should be the responsibility of every legitimate distiller to produce whiskies so perfect, at a price so low, that the public can have no reason for patronizing illegal distillers who defraud our National, State and Local Governments of their just revenues."

MINORS PROSPER; 6 NEW LEAGUES PLANNED IN '36

27 Will Open Pennant Races Next Spring.

Dayton, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—While baseball writers chased the big league managers and magnates down for news, the minor league leaders opened their convention and heard glowing reports of last season's successes. Promotional Director Joe Carr of Columbus, O., reported that six new leagues of class D rating may be formed for 1936, increasing the list of minors to 27. The proposed new circuits are the Ohio State, Sally, William and Penn, Mid West, Wisconsin State, and Western-Canadian.

Two Seek Higher Rating.

The Southern association and Texas leagues announced they would apply for class A-1 classification before the national association tomorrow. At present, the two leagues are rated as class A circuits along with the New York-Pennsylvania and Western leagues. They believe they should rate higher than the New York-Pennsylvania and Western, principally to get more money for their players.

Fay Murray, president of the Nashville club, and J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, were named on the committee to make the application. Should the new classification be allowed, the Southern and Texas leagues probably would be allowed to raise their player limits up from 16 to 18. The salary limit also would be raised. It is now $4,250.

PLAYER SALES BOOM.

Dayton, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Baseball teams paid $1,384,801.26 for players transferred during the 1935 season, J. H. Farrell, treasurer of the National Baseball association, said at the minor league meeting today.

Major league teams paid $631,757.10 to the minors, while the minors paid the majors $118,500 for talent. Player deals involving only minor league teams reached a cash total of $356,568.06. Those figures were for assignment of contracts.

On optional agreements not exercised the minors paid the majors $18,600, while the majors paid the minors $38,731.80. On exercised options the majors received $57,588 from the minors, while the minors were handed $74,616.77 by the majors. For drafted players the majors paid $76,200 to the minors.

DAYTON MUST PAY.

Dayton, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The executive committee of the National Association of Baseball Clubs upheld today the Mid-Atlantic league and its president, Elmer M. Daily, in fining the Dayton club $900 for violation of the non-class rule late in the 1935 season. The club was fined $50 per day for carrying more than the maximum number of class men for 18 days.

INDIANS BUY CRANDALL.

Dayton, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—President E. Lee Keyser of the Des Moines club of the Western league announced today the sale of Catcher Jimmy Crandall to Indianapolis of the American association. Crandall is the son of Otis Crandall, former Giant pitcher and Pittsburgh coach.

EIGHT LEADING MEXICAN TENNIS PLAYERS BANNED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Eight of the first nine ranking tennis players in Mexico have been suspended by the National Tennis federation for participating in a series of unsanctioned tournaments, it was learned today.

The tournaments, organized by Dr. Ricardo Tapia, former national champion and Davis cup player, resulted in the banning of Tapia, Esteban M. Reyes, Daniel Hernande José Llano, Angel Roldan, Eduardo Nestre, Marco Antonio Mestre, and Jorge Acosta. Only Alfonso Unda, second ranking player, who now is recognized as champion by the federation, refused to join Tapia's group.

Death Toll Is Charged to Poor Coaching

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The American Football institute blamed "false economy" practiced by school boards throughout the nation today as a major contributory cause of the annual toll of football fatalities and serious injuries.

In a report announcing the results of a recent national survey, John Da Grosa, institute president, also took the national football rules committee to task because high schools are not represented on it, and pointed to such representation as one of five major reforms necessary to make the game safe.

Blames Incompetent Coaching.

He listed four immediate causes through which his survey found serious injury and death has occurred, and held that each of these was traceable "straight back to the men who make the financial budgets for the education of American youth."

These causes, he said, are "haphazard selection of coaches and improper coaching facilities; inadequate equipment, improper technique in the execution of fundamentals, and lack of proper medical supervision."

"Because financial budgets in high schools and small colleges," he explained, "rarely provide for more than one coach, the man selected is required to handle three and sometimes five coaching assignments in various fields. This is not only an unhealthy condition, it is practically suicidal."

Preps Are Ignored.

"For many years," he said, "the National Federation of High School Athletic associations has endeavored vainly to secure membership recognition on the football rules committee, because it does not believe the committee, as now composed, fully realizes the needs of the schoolboy and the necessity of protecting his health and welfare.

"It seems to me the schools deserve a voice on this all powerful committee, especially if the rules committee is really sincere in its efforts to promote the doctrine of gridiron safety."

went to bed. He entertained during the day en negligee, however.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, was among those pressed by THE TRIBUNE for news. Joe was pleasant enough, but spoke rather noisily when asked about trades. "How in hell can I trade when the New York newspaper men have traded my whole team before I've even had a chance to go into conference?" asked Joe.

Rogers Hornsby, another ex-Cub manager now managing in the American league, was all over the place trying to sustain his reputation as baseball's most willing David Harum.

Rogers, however, was so determined to get rid of Pitcher Dick Coffman that his style otherwise was somewhat cramped. Many will recall that Hornsby knocked Coffman into a reclining position for breaking training rules. Rog now says, however, that the sock did not hurt Coffman's pitching arm any.

Clark Griffith Finds Life O. K. After 66 Years

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—From a perspective of 66 full years, Clark Griffith looked back over his baseball career today and found little that he would change.

Gathered in his office, near the huge stadium he built for his American league Senators, were more than a score of ball players, sports writers and other intimates to honor him at a luncheon.

St. Louis U. Record Causes De Paul Worry

Coach Jim Kelly of De Paul is worried. Not because any of his players are hurt, not because he doesn't believe his players are good, but it doesn't seem right to him for De Paul to be picked by fans to beat St. Louis university at Soldiers' field Saturday.

He pointed yesterday to the Billikins' fine showing against Marquette when the Hilltoppers won in the last minute, 20 to 13. And then he cited the offensive record of the St. Louis team which has made 1860 yards from scrimmage to 889 by it opponents.

De Paul Record O. K.

De Paul has a good record too. The Demons made a good showing against Northwestern and then went undefeated in six straight games, toppling the strong Catholic University eleven among others.

Yesterday the Demons again worked on pass offense. The pass has been the north siders' most potent weapon all season, and incidentally it has been the Billikins chief cause for worry. To date the St. Louis eleven's opponents have gained 626 yards in the air.

Durkin, Loess Stand Out.

The work of Co-Captains Ray Durkin and Walt Loess has been outstanding in practices this week. They are two of the six graduating members on the De Paul squad.

Vote to Abandon Golf Course at Garfield Park

The Chicago park board yesterday voted to abandon the nine hole Garfield park golf course and to reduce the 18 hole Marquette park course to a nine hole course, the land to be used for athletic fields and tennis courts. Last spring the Riis park golf course was abandoned for athletic fields.

North Carolina, Duke Clash Over Movie Scouting

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Disclosure that Duke scouted North Carolina with movie cameras for their game last Saturday today brought a denunciation of the tactics as "ungentlemanly and unethical" from the Tar Heel campus and the rejoinder from Coach Wallace Wade of Duke that there was no rule against it.

The game saw North Carolina's previously unbeaten team wrecked, 25 to 0. Reports of Duke's movie scouting were brought into the open by the Daily Tar Heel, North Carolina student newspaper.

Wade at Durham admitted his scouts had used cameras, but said it was done openly.

"Aren't the others doing the same thing?" he asked. "What agreement is there against it?"

CELEBRON FINDS HE HAS A LEFT AND CAN USE IT

Mandell Says Billy's All Set for Halper.

Sammy Mandell, former lightweight boxing champion, came to Chicago from Rockford yesterday, watched Billy Celebron work out and then returned to his home, pleased with the form displayed by his welterweight protégé for his ten round bout against Lou Halper of Newark at the 124th Field Artillery armory Saturday night.

Celebron, who is living with relatives at 1932 Emerson street until the fight, sparred three rounds with Gorilla Jones and then called it a day.

"He is in fine condition," Mandell said. "I realize this is Billy's most important fight and nothing is being left undone to put him in perfect shape. A victory over Halper will put him among the contenders for Barney Ross' welterweight title."

Ray [Notto] Catalina, Rockford, trainer, says Celebron has changed his style in recent weeks. He explained that was the reason for Billy's excellent work of late. Celebron knocked out his last two opponents in one round each.

"Billy always was a good right hand puncher," the trainer stated, "and that fact made him 'right hand crazy.' He is displaying a more varied attack at present and mixes those right hand blasts with the dynamite in his left."

Roger Bernard, the Flint boxer, motored into Chicago yesterday, accompanied by a friend, Eddie Kircher, for his ten round lightweight bout with Davey Day at Guyon's Paradise tomorrow. Bernard, nicknamed The Spoiler because of his ability to win when least expected, weighs 131 pounds and appears in fine condition. While Bernard loosened up at Trafton's gymnasium Promoter Carl Stockholm announced the supporting bouts as follows:

Johnny Erjavec vs. George Kutulis [4], heavyweights.
Billy Miller vs. Ernie Knlasik [6], welterweights.
Bus Breese vs. Mickey Genaro [6], junior welterweights.
Harold Brown vs. Danny Milillo [4], welterweights.
Lorenzo Lovings vs. Lou Vine [4], lightweights.

Kutulis has been substituted for Frank Vogel, who is in Rockford suffering from a back ailment, against Erjavec.

Winfrid [Moon] Mullins, Vincennes, Ind., featherweight, was in Chicago yesterday en route to his home from St. Louis, where he scored his eighteenth consecutive triumph by beating Dave Barry of Springfield, Ill., Tuesday. . . . Harry Dublinsky, who whipped Jimmy Leto at New York Monday, yesterday was signed to box Tracey Cox, Indianapolis welterweight, at New Orleans, La., Sunday night, Dec. 8. . . . Virgil Bemi, west side junior welterweight, worked out at Madison Square loop gymnasium in anticipation of getting a place on the Ross-Garcia card. . . . Pete Andrews, novice Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight champion, will meet William Thomas in a return match at five rounds at Madison Athletic club tomorrow night.

59 CHOSEN FOR U. S. OLYMPIC HOCKY TRYOUTS

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Fifty-nine of America's foremost amateur hocky players, including representatives from every section of the country, today were named as the squad from which thirteen players will be picked to represent the United States in the Olympic winter games at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, Feb. 6 to 16, 1936.

The players have been ordered to report to Walter Brown of Boston at the New Haven, Conn., arena Dec. 7 to begin a series of three tryout games. The first will be played that night against the Yale university sexte The second game will be played Dec. 8 in Madison Square Garden with the St. Nicholas Hocky club. The third is booked at Princeton Dec. 9 against Princeton university.

After the series the Olympic personnel will be selected by the Olympic ice hockey committee, headed by Joseph Bulkley, as chairman, and Frederick W. Rubienas, secretary. The team will sail Jan. 3 and play a series of games in London, Paris and Switzerland before going into Olympic competition.

PILOTS TUNE UP CARS FOR INDOOR RACES SUNDAY

More than fifty pilots who raced their Midget cars at the 124th Field Artillery armory Sunday night, when two records were broken, started work on their machines in hopes of speeding them up for next Sunday's races at the same place.

Jimmy Snyder, winner of two races last week, wasn't content with his showing. He is giving his car a careful inspection so that it will be in perfect condition for Sunday night.

Tony Williman, last year's champion, won a race and finished close in several of the others last week. He is expected to cause Snyder and Householder plenty of trouble next Sunday night in the feature fifty lap main event that will probably draw a dozen or more cars to the post.

Jacobs Sends Out Two More Bowie Victors

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The B. B. stable of Jerome Fendrick scored a double at Bowie today when the former stake horse Apprentice was winner of the Cecilius claiming stakes, and Saintlite, a 5 year old, got out of the maiden class in a rousing head finish. Both of the Fendrick racers were ridden by the colored jocky, Raymond Booker.

Apprentice was odds-on at $3.60 for $2.00, while Saintlite's price was $7.70 for the same investment. Hirsch Jacobs saddled both and now has a more definite lead than ever for the distinction of saddling the most winners in 1935.

Easy for Apprentice.

Apprentice won by two lengths after coming from behind the pace set by Fortification. Sun Apollo was third ahead of Silent Shot. The latter was counted on by a good many to upset the favorite, but again was a disappointment.

Booker brought on Saintlike in a driving finish to score by a head so short that most thought it was only a nose. Rocky Prince was second, another head before Chambersberger. The last named had the lead at the eighth pole, but Saintlite and Rocky Prince were a trifle stronger through the last 50 yards and gained the larger portions of the purse. Saintlite was timed in 1:50 4-5 for the mile and 70 yards.

Win Opener Again.

The ability of the Hirsch family to do well in the opening race each afternoon again was illustrated when King Bee won by three-quarters of a length at $4.40 for $2.00. Heretofore horses trained by Max Hirsch or owned by him have won this race. This afternoon King Bee ran in the colors of Mr. Hirsch's son, W. J. [Buddy] Hirsch.

UNITED STATES ARMY TEAM WINS JUMPING EVENT

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The United States army team won the opening event in the opening of the Royal Winter Fair Horse show today when Capt. Earl F. Thompson rode Masquerader to victory in an open jumping event.

A jump-off was necessary before the United States officer took the decision over Capt. J. J. Lewis, of the Irish Free State, riding Owen Roe. William Herkinson's Maximal of Richmond Hill, Ont., was third, but the Irish Free State and the United States finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

Scrivani Wins Twice C. Y. O. Fight Tourney

The defeat of last year's runner-up in the bantamweight division, Larry Strong, Visitation parish, and a double victory for the popular C. Y. O. and Golden Gloves champion, Andy Scrivani of St. Charles, marked the south and suburban section quarter-final round of the fifth annual C. Y. O. boxing tournament last night at St. Bernard's gymnasium.

Tonight the last of the quarter-final rounds will be held at the 132d Infantry armory, Rockwell and Madison streets. Twenty-four bouts will be run off starting at 8 o'clock. The winners will compete in the tournament semi-finals Monday and Tuesday nights at the C. Y. O. Center gym, 31 E. Congress street.

MILLERS DEFEAT MONARCHS IN 3 CLASSIC GAMES

Although their 3,013 was not high for the night, the Miller High Life Beers defeated the Monarch Beers, last year's champions, in all three Classic league games last night at the Gold Coast Recreation. The Edelweiss Beers won three games from the Ben Bey Cigars, the Baby Ruth Candies took two from the Moulding-Brownells, and Pabst won two games from the Oak Leaf Motors, who bowled 3,102, high for the night. Ed Kraft of the Millers bowled 680, which was high in the individuals.

LEO FACES HARD TITLE STRUGGLE AGAINST ST. MEL

Teams to Clash Sunday at Soldiers' Field.

WHITEY CRONIN.

Aloysius Langford Cronin, a young Chicago barrister, toyed with a long pencil as he sat at his big desk yesterday and pondered over a serious problem which has confronted him. It was the third day of work on the case which will be brought up for a decision at Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon.

Lawyer Cronin is Whitney Cronin, coach of the Leo High school football team, when not debating in Chicago's courts and his eleven opposes St. Mel for the Catholic league championship at the lake front arena. In mapping out plans, Lawyer Cronin has also under consideration the city championship game which will be played on Nov. 30.

Expects Hard Game.

The first step he must take to have a part in the Chicago title contest, which will bring together the Chicago Public High school league champion and the Catholic league titleholder, is to remove St. Mel from his path. The task seems difficult and a fierce battle must be waged, Lawyer Cronin will tell you.

Cronin ordered his players to go through scrimmage yesterday afternoon and two regulars came out of the long workout with injuries. Jim Scahill, right half back, incurred a shoulder injury and may be unable to play against St. Mel, while Art Heil, senior full back, suffered the recurrence of a wrist injury. Heil, however, will see action against the west division champions.

At Columbus park St. Mel's undefeated squad went through another long session and Coach Paddy Driscoll reported the team will be at full strength for the contest.

There were no injuries reported in the camps of Parker and Lindblom, finalists for the Chicago Public High School league championship, after their workouts yesterday. The two south side teams will meet for the crown and the right to play for the city title game at Stagg field Saturday afternoon.

Plan Benefit Game.

While the four teams were hard at work Harry O'Rourke and Chuck Duval of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, after a checkup of ticket offices reported a brisk demand for seats to the game between the two league champions on Nov. 30. A near capacity crowd of 75,000 is expected to see the contest.

HIGHER PRICES FOR MEN'S WEAR REAL ECONOMY

Articles Wear Longer and Look Better.

BY HARRISON HOWARD.

Frequently I find a man who cannot seem to understand why his neighbor pays $75 for a suit when he can get one for $65, or $2 for a tie when he can get one for $1 or $1.50 for a pair of socks when socks can be had for 75 cents.

The cheaper article often looks just as well, he contends, and besides, "isn't it logical that two $1 ties will outwear one $2 tie?"

Most men who pay more for their clothes have learned to their own satisfaction, at least, that they get more in wearing qualities to equalize the economy in the long run. If they pay more they are usually obliged to buy less. In the meantime they gain in appearance and satisfaction.

May Dig Into Reserves.

That is why some men stretch their budget to the limit or dig into reserves if necessary to make up the initial outlay required to lay the foundation for a better, or, let us say, "quality" wardrobe.

The quality article holds up longer and looks better. That the cheaper article "looks just as good" is a fallacy that may appear truth to the indifferent or uneducated eye.

Simply, it comes down to the fact that you get what you pay for. In these days of competition and education no legitimate men's store or tailor is going to charge you for something that isn't there. If they do they will soon be out of business.

May Charge Bit More.

Today there are certain recognized standards of fair and legitimate profit in men's clothes to which all far sighted firms adhere fairly rigidly. Occasionally a merchant may select a particularly good looking tie which was bought to sell for $1 and mark it $1.50 or he will choose a particularly good looking hat from a lot that was bought to sell for $4.50 and mark it $5 or he may even charge you a few cents extra for a famous label. In either case you are getting something extra for your money if it is nothing more than an article that is better looking or more satisfying to your pride.

I know a man who paid $155 each for three tailor made suits in 1929 when the going was good and he is still wearing them—five years later. What's more, he looks better dressed than many of his associates in new inexpensive suits. Styles change but little in quality clothes.

I know another man who pays $30 and $35 for custom made shoes but he wears each pair at least five years, which brings down the average to $6 and $7 a year and in the meantime he enjoys more comfort and distinction.

Polo Shirts at $7.50.

Once I thought I had erred in paying $7.50 at a smart Los Angeles shop for what appeared to be just an ordinary polo shirt. I felt I had paid heavily for a name. But I wore the shirt frequently over a period of three years—about $2.50 a year—and received compliments on it to the last. It had quality both in wear and look and it cost little if any more in the end.

Now these examples are extreme and I don't mean to imply that you must pay such prices to enjoy the economy of quality. There are plenty of fine $50 suits on the market and fine shoes for $6 and $7 and fine shirts for $2. I only maintain that if you can afford it and you get the urge to spend more for your clothes, you will be rewarded accordingly.

Clothes may or may not make the man but—as the advertising writers say—they help to make him successful.

Question.—I plan to buy only one suit this season. Should I select a dark blue pattern to serve better for evening wear?

Answer.—Not unless you prefer dark blue for all purposes. Strictly speaking, there is no such thing as evening wear unless it is formal wear. Up to that point wear any color business suit you choose within ordinary good taste.

SILK AND LISLE HOSE CLING TO WINTER VOGUE

What with the great display and clamor about wool hose at this time of the year—especially as an instrument for carrying out the call for colors—many persons get the idea that silk and lisle hose are out.

These are absolutely the only type that can be worn with formal evening attire.

Beyond that they retain an important place in the everyday winter dress of the man who can't stand the warmth or "itch" of wool or who just doesn't like wool.

FASHIONS FOR MEN ONLY

This fashion column for men will appear every Thursday in The Tribune. If you would like information about modes for men write to the Men's Fashion department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Illinois. Inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter.

THE story goes that Barry Wall, bon vivant cotillion leader, pet of the "400," and man-about-town and country in the gay nineties, conceived the idea of throwing tradition, and simultaneously the tails of the formal evening coat, to the wind. The resulting dinner jacket was devised to supplant the full formality of tails for such occasions as at-home dinners and nights with the boys. Tuxedo, that fashionable colony in the countryside above New York City, was both its place of origination and acceptance, and thus, the name. While we're sticklers for the proprieties, which dictate that only formal tailcoats are correct when women are present, local conditions really are the criterion by which you should be guided. With the exception of metropolitan centers, dinner jackets or tuxedos are accepted in lieu of tails for formal wear. Of course, you want to make sure that this is the case before you make your appearance with black tie, as the British term it, instead of white tie. An important new note is the use of midnight blue fabrics for evening wear, which, under artificial light, appear to be deeper black than black itself.

POLITE PROTEST

the derby for formal or informal wear. With black or midnight blue Homburgs being acceptable, as well as smart for day wear, there is no excuse for the derby. You can do it if you insist, but it ain't right. White or yellow chamois gloves and a silk or

HIGH IN FASHION

The silk opera hat, the kind that collapses and the children love to play with, is much favored for wear with dinner jackets and, of course, as well with tails. Your choice of handkerchief, if you care for a bit of color in the breast pocket, may be deep wine, but the all white fine linen kind with hand embroidered initials always is correct.

INFORMAL OR FORMAL

Where local practice accepts the dinner jacket as formal, the single breasted model seems best suited. We recommend the more formal effect of the wing-collar and semi-butterfly tie, with a starch bosom shirt of pique or linen. For informal use, the dinner jacket preferred would be the double breasted model, in which case the less formal effect of a turndown starch collar, black club shaped tie, and plaited or plain bosom informal dress shirt is indicated.

BLACK AND WHITE

Choice of waistcoat likewise should be governed by the use to which it is to be put. Either the black or the white is acceptable. The white, of course, should be of matching pique and is preferred to give a more formal tone, as is the wing collar. The black should be of matching fabric or silk grosgrain. In both cases get yourself the backless kind, the straps of which serve to hold the shirt and waistcoat in place.

'DOUBLE' DRESS VEST NOW MADE FOR CORPULENT

Now the corpulent man can enjoy wearing a double breasted dress vest with his tail clothes, if he so desires, without fear of adding bulk to his appearance.

There is a new model on the market designed especially for such wearers. Actually, it is double breasted—that is, it shows a set of four buttons, but because the buttons are placed four inches apart horizontally and spaced two inches apart they can scarcely be seen when the coat is in a normal position. Thus, on first glance, it gives the effect of practically a buttonles vest which, of course, tends to slenderize the heavy man.

The front opening is practically that of a single breasted vest with the regulation lapel which ends in a one sided or half arrow effect and which also adds to an appearance of slenderness. The bottom of the vest ends with a very slight point similar to most single breasted models. In short, it has everything that gives it the advantages of a single breasted vest yet it is actually double breasted. It comes in attractive France pique linen.

Jewelry Theft Suspect Is Held for Grand Jury

Carlyle Martlett, 23 years old, 1126 East 62d street, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $35,000 yesterday after Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan was told he took jewelry and silverware valued at $5,000 from seven Hyde Park homes. Jacob L. Betz, 55 years old, 6724 Stony Island avenue, a jeweler, was held to the grand jury on three charges of receiving stolen property after he admitted buying old gold from Martlett.

FOOTBALL GARB RUNS UP TO $85 FOR ONE PLAYER

BY THE TOWNSMAN.

Football clothes—I mean those worn by the players—may not have a place in the world of fashion, but fashion is beginning to play its part in football.

I attended the Bears-Giants game last Sunday partly to see what I could see in the way of the well dressed fan. Bad weather ruled out that idea long before the game started and I found myself in the locker room of the Bears, where I bumped into a clothes horse of a different color.

Imagine my surprise to note busy hands shining the shoes and helmets of every man on the team. What, says I to myself, has all this dude stuff got to do with football? And then I discovered that practically all teams today, college and pro, shine shoes and helmets to make that opening chorus [you know, when the team trots out on the field just before the whistle] as effective as possible.

Players today may have the heart of a Willie Heston or Ted Coy, but they wear the pants and shoes of an adagio dancer, comparatively speaking. The old canvas pants that "weighed a ton" have given way, first, to balloon silk, and now to heavy sateen. The latter is light and slippery and does look "snappier"—if you don't mind my getting that in.

The modern football shoe has thin spring soles, lighter considerably than those of ordinary street shoes, and carries seven conical shaped gutta percha cleats [two on the heel and five on the sole] in place of the old rectangular lether ones.

Jerseys are of a much better material than many a man wears at his favorite golf club, and pads are getting as complicated as a Rube Goldburg invention.

By rough reckoning it costs $85 to outfit a single player and that is just for bare necessities. Figuring that the Bears, for instance, carry 25 uniformed players and supply two outfits for each player [one for home and one for the road], the total comes to at least $4,250 for clothes alone for one squad for a season.

That amount undoubtedly is considerably short by actual figures. Torn garments, dry cleaning bills [suits are cleaned every week], and extras which I am not including probably run it considerably higher.

The $85 per player, which, by the way, is based on wholesale prices, includes:

Helmet	$12.50
Shoes [3 pair a season at $8.50 per pair]	25.50
Pants, two pairs, $6 each	12.00
Shoulder pads	10.00
Hip pads	5.00
Socks	2.00
Jerseys [takes about four a season at $4 each]	16.00
Undershirt, supporters, etc.	2.00
Total	$85.00

If the game keeps on gaining in popularity we may look forward to extravaganza performances with changes of costume for every quarter.

JELLICOE, BRITISH NAVAL LEADER AT JUTLAND, IS DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Earl Jellicoe, the admiral who led Great Britain's united fleet in the battle of Jutland, most important sea fight of the world war and the greatest since sailing vessel days, died today. Death resulted from an illness contracted during the Armistice day observance at the cenotaph, Britain's war memorial.

A chill at that time affected one lung, but as late as this morning the condition of the 76 year old sea dog—his men called him "Hell Fire Jack"—was reported satisfactory.

With him in his home in the Kensington district, London, when he died were his wife, his only son and heir, the 17 year old Viscount Brocas of Southampton, and his four daughters.

Colorful Career.

Jellicoe, who entered the navy as a cadet at 13 years of age, had a colorful career on British ships and in administrative positions throughout the world until at the end of four years as governor general of New Zealand in 1924 he practically retired from official public life.

A firm disciplinarian, Jellicoe was popular with the men who served under him. He was a believer in big guns and lots of them, and protested against the reduction in British cruisers as provided in the London naval treaty.

His conduct of the battle of Jutland, which has been claimed as a victory by both sides, has been severely criticized. In fact, he was removed from command of the grand fleet and succeeded by Admiral Beatty in December, 1916.

German Fleet Kept Immobile.

Leading the greatest fleet of fighting ships ever assembled, Jellicoe met the weaker German high seas fleet May 31, 1916. As a result of the engagement the German fleet was practically immobile in port for the remainder of the war. But during the battle the smaller German ships inflicted greater damage than their more powerful adversaries.

His critics said Jellicoe, by fighting a more aggressive battle, could have won a more decisive victory. His supporters, however, declared his caution was justified because, had the British fleet met decisive defeat, the results in succeeding years of the war would have been disastrous for the allies, whereas the Germans, with much less to lose, could afford to be more reckless.

Saved by Midshipman.

In 1882, during the Egyptian campaign, Lieut. Jellicoe saw his first war service. His rise thereafter was speedy. In 1893 he commanded the Victoria when the Camperdown rammed it off Tripoli. He was ill below decks with malaria at the time. He struggled up to the deck, collapsed and was thrown into the water. A midshipman saved him.

In the years 1898 to 1901 Jellicoe was in Chinese waters. As flag captain to Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, commanding the China station, he commanded the naval brigade when American and other forces relieved the besieged legations in Peking [now Peiping] during the Boxer rebellion in 1900.

Following service in 1902 as naval assistant to the third lord at the admiralty, he went to sea in 1903 and from 1905 to 1907 he was director of naval ordnance at the admiralty. He devoted much of his effort to long range firing.

Following his appointment in 1907 to flag rank, he spent a year as rear admiral of the Atlantic fleet; returned to the admiralty as third sea lord, then went to sea in 1910-'11 first to command the Atlantic fleet and then the second division of the home fleet.

He took over the supreme command of the united grand fleet in August, 1914. At the end of 1916 he went back to the admiralty to be first sea lord and then chief of the naval staf.

Jellicoe was many times honored for his war service. He was created a viscount in 1918 and made an earl in 1925. He was also awarded the American distinguished service medal.

Two Share $90,000 Estate of Mrs. Christena Owens

The will of Mrs. Christena Helen Owens, member of an old Chicago family, who died Nov. 12, was admitted to probate yesterday by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell. The will divides an estate, estimated at $90,000, equally between two daughters, Mrs. Grace Haverkampf, 3750 Lake Shore drive, and Mrs. Janet O. Thresher, 666 Irving Park boulevard. Mrs. Owens, who was 85 years old, lived in the home of Mrs. Thresher. She was the daughter of Thomas C. Chalmers, part owner of the old Frazer & Chalmers company, manufacturers of mining machinery, and a sister of W. J. Chalmers.

Enos W. Miller, Armour Official, Dies on Train

Enos W. Miller, 55 years old, 2751 Lawndale avenue, Evanston, a trafic manager for Armour & Co., died suddenly of a heart attack last night as he was returning to his home from Chicago on a North Western railroad train. He had just finished a bridge game with three friends when he collapsed in the aile. Mr. Miller is survived by his widow, Mrs. June Hayback Miller, and a son, Wilmore.

New Wills Probated

CLARENCE ALFRED JENSEN, died Nov. 19, 1935. Estate, $6,000, to Emily Hunt Jensen, widow and executrix.

MARIE JANECEK, died June 15, 1935. Estate, $5,000, to four sons and daughter. Frank J. Janecek, son, executor.

MICHAEL FEULNER, died Sept. 7, 1935. Estate, $5,000, to three sons and daughter. Jacob J. Weinberg, executor.

FAMED MYSTERY OF MATHEMATICS FINDS SOLUTION

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—A way to bisect the famous "horn angle," or even to multisect it, was reported here today by Dr. Edward Kasner, professor of research mathematics at Columbia university before the closing session of the National Academy of Sciences.

The "horn angle," the figure formed when two curved lines branch out of a common stem, resulting in a ram's horn effect, was held by the ancient mathematicians to have a value of zero, but resulted in much speculation as to whether there could not be "horn angles" of various sizes, and therefore different values for zero.

Dr. Kasner explained today that only through the use of conformal geometery, a science first made workable by the German, Gauss, about a century ago, can this angle be bisected. The method makes use of four variables, two of them the estimated curvature of the two lines, and the other two the estimated variations in that curvature. Then by means of differential equations, he bisects the angle.

Though the method is a far cry from the simple geometery through use of which the ancients tried their hands at squaring circles, trisecting angles and so on, authorities at the session held Dr. Kasner's demonstration a new landmark in intellectual progress, because he was able, even by so complex a method, to solve a problem so long considered impossible.

HUSBAND REWED, BUT HIS DIVORCE DECREE IS VOIDED

The Appellate court yesterday handed down an opinion declaring void a divorce granted to Gordon F. Patchen, a salesman of the Standard Oil company, from Mrs. Barbara Patchen of Winnetka, in July, 1932.

At the time the divorce decree was signed Judge Desort was sitting in the Criminal court. Even though he had heard the evidence in the case while he was on the Superior bench, the Appellate court ruled that Judge Desort could have no jurisdiction over civil matters at the time of the signing. The appeal was taken by Mrs. Patchen. Her husband married again after the divorce.

On the ground that there had never been any legal decree, the Appellate court refused to enter a formal order of reversal. Attorney Lloyd Faxon, representing Patchen, announced that he would appear before Judge Desort, who is now on the Superior court bench again, to sign a new decree.

STATE NOTABLES AT SERVICES FOR JUDGE FITZHENRY

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Judge Louis FitzHenry of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals was buried in Bloomington cemetery here today as distinguished jurists, political figures, and business leaders paid tribute.

Gov. Horner, six justices of the State Supreme court—Norman L. Jones, Warren H. Orr, Paul Farthing, Lott R. Herrick, Clyde Stone, and Francis S. Wilson—and Judge FitzHenry's colleagues in the Circuit Court of Appeals, Samuel P. Alschuler, Evan A. Evans, and W. M. Sparks, were among those in attendance at the funeral.

The Rev. C. E. Stenman, Finnish Pastor, Is Dead

The Rev. Charles E. Stenman, 54 years old, 1127 North Parkside avenue, pastor of the First Finnish Congregational church, died yesterday at the West Suburban hospital. Dr. Stenman, a native of Finland, was ordained in 1908. He held pastorates in New York and in New England before coming to the Finnish Congregational church in 1921. He was a professor in the Union Theological college until it closed in 1933. Surviving Dr. Stenman are his widow, two sons, and two daughters.

FREDERIC A. PRICE DIES IN WESTERN AUTO COLLISION

Frederic Augustus Price, for more than fifty years a widely known insurance broker here, was fatally injured yesterday in an automobile collision at Banning, Cal., according to dispatches. Mr. Price, who was 70 years old, died shortly after the crash.

Mr. Price, who was a member of the firm of Conkling, Price & Webb, general agents for the London Guarantee and Accident company, Ltd., had been accustomed for several years to spend six months of every year at the Seneca hotel here and the other six in California. His wife, Mrs. Marie Price, left two weeks ago for their home in a Los Angeles suburb.

Mr. Price was born in Toronto, Ont., and entered the insurance business in Chicago in 1884. He was a former commodore of the Chicago Yacht club and was a member of the Chicago Athletic, Forty, Olympia Fields Country, and Annandale Golf [Pasadena] clubs. Surviving are his widow and a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Arthur Dole Jr.

REPORT GIRL ALIBI WITNESS NAMED IN PERJURY BILL

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frank Shafer, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph B. David.

Ruddy Tamel, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Denis J. Normoyle.

Miss Anna Fishbain, 1627 East 78th street, Cleveland, O., was reported named in a true bill, charging perjury, voted by the grand jury yesterday two hours after she had testified in support of an alibi for Frank Shafer, 25 years old, in his trial before Judge Joseph B. David in the Criminal court on a charge of robbery. Shafer was found guilty and sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary.

Shafer, charged with robbing the Pure Oil Products company, 1030 West Division street, tried to prove an alibi that he was in Cleveland on July 20 when a 1,400 pound safe containing $800 in cash and $4,000 in checks was removed from the oil company office. Miss Fishbain supported Shafer's testimony that he was in Cleveland.

George W. Mieth, Official of Tailoring Concern, Dies

George W. Mieth, 59 years old, vice president and merchandizing manager of M. Born & Co., merchant tailors at 540 South Wells street, died yesterday at his home at 731 Bluff street, Glencoe, after a short illness. He was a Spanish-American war veteran and was the first secretary of the Glencoe Masonic lodge. Funeral services will be held in the Glencoe Union church tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be private.

H. B. Thompson, Retired Cotton Manufacturer, Dead

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Henry Burling Thompson, retired cotton manufacturer, chairman of the board and former president of the United States Finishing company, a leader of the Republican party in Delaware and a life trustee of Princeton university, died tonight at his home in Greenville, Del. He was 78 years old.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The indefinite postponement of Paderewski's scheduled radio première recently because of illness serves to remind how few world notables remain who continue to avoid the microphone. In the musical world, in addition to the great Pole, there are Kreisler, greatest of the violinists, and Rachmaninoff, the peerless pianist. Paderewski at least is changing his attitude toward radio but the other two are reported still adamant.

Among world leaders yet to be heard on the air anywhere are Stalin of Russia and Emperor Hirohito of Japan. Stalin, it is reported, steadfastly ignores all requests that he let his voice be heard. It is no longer a novelty to hear the pope, Mussolini, Haile Selassie, Hitler, King George, or the Prince of Wales. Gandhi, too, has had his moment.

Among the queens who have had their say on the air are Mary of England, Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, and Dowager Marie of Rumania.

Lindbergh is extremely microphone shy. He has been heard informally on the air but, if memory serves well, never for a scheduled appearance. He said a few words when President Coolidge welcomed him back to America after his Paris flight, and spoke briefly on several other occasions. Mrs. Lindbergh has made several scheduled addresses.

The Dionnes have squawled and gurgled twice, though unwittingly, for the benefit of listeners.

Al Capone's voice is another that is unknown to the airways, though the growing trend in prison programs gives no assurance that he will continue to remain silent.

Katharine Cornell, Alfred Lunt, and Lynn Fontanne of the theater, and Einstein, George Arliss, and Shirley Temple represent other major holdouts against radio. There may be a lesson for broadcasters. Perhaps it is time to pay less attention to personalities and more to programming.

GAW LOSES HIS $100,000 TEAR GAS GUN INJURY SUIT

UTILITY DEFIES CONTROL LAW IN COURT ACTION

Oldest Holding Unit Leads Battle.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The utility industry's fight on the public utilities act of 1935 began in earnest today when the United Gas Improvement company, the oldest holding company in the field, announced its decision not to register under the act and brought action in the Federal court challenging the validity of the law. Announcement of the company's decision came after a meeting of directors here today.

PHILIP H. GADSEN.
[Acme Photo.]

The suit, filed in court here a few hours after the meeting, asked an injunction to restrain the securities and exchange commission from enforcing the act on the grounds that it is illegal. By its action in defying the government, the $800,000,000 holding company took the leadership in the utility industry's concerted fight to save holding companies from legal execution.

Led Fight on Bill.

Philip H. Gadsden, vice president of the company is also chairman of the public utility executives committee which led the opposition to the bill when it was before congress.

The action brought today differed from the suit recently decided in the Federal District court in Maryland in which the law was declared unconstitutional. In that proceeding the trustees for a holding company questioned the validity of the act in connection with a reorganization of a company they were representing. Today's suit is a direct challenge of the law.

Defendants named in the action are members of the SEC, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Postmaster General James A. Farley, the United States attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania, and the postmaster of Philadelphia.

Charges Made in Suit.

In its suit the company held the act to be illegal on several grounds. Among the reasons cited by the company's attorneys were:

1. Congress has invaded the field of state control over intrastate matters and has vested such jurisdiction in a federal commission to the exclusion of the state.

2. The act is arbitrary, unreasonable, and in conflict with the fifth amendment of the constitution in that it deprives the company and its subsidiaries of the rights to use the mails and other instruments of interstate commerce and deprives them of "liberty and property without due process of law."

3. Congress unlawfully delegates legislative powers to the SEC in violation of article 1 of the constitution.

4. The act violated the eighth amendment of the constitution by imposing excessive fines and penalties.

Directors of the company decided on its course of action after they had received an opinion submitted by United States Senator George Wharton Pepper and the law firm of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius. The decision of the directors was unanimous.

SEC Considers New Rule.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A new effort to win holding company conformance with the New Deal's utility control law was studied tonight by the securities commission. Confronted with an attack on the act's constitutionality by the United Gas Improvement company—commission officials considered issuing a rule to assure companies they would not lose constitutional or legal rights by registering.

The United Gas suit in Philadelphia was believed by many here to be only the first of scores of legal actions that will virtually block administration of the utility law.

Joyce and Walter Approved as Great Western Trustees

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today ratified appointments of Patrick H. Joyce and Luther M. Walter as trustees in the Chicago Great Western railroad reoganization. Joyce is president, a director, and chairman of the executive committee of the road. His appointment was ratified on condition he receive no salary other than that allowed by the court.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE VOTES $2.25 DIVIDEND; HOMESTAKE $20 EXTRA

American Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 on the capital stock, payable Jan. 15 to stock of record Dec. 16. This maintains the quarterly payments made without interruption since 1921, and calls for a distribution of about $42,000,000 to the stockholders.

Homestake Mining company, one of the largest gold mines, declared an extra dividend of $20 a share instead of the usual monthly extra of $2. The payment will be made on Dec. 5 to stock of record Nov. 30 and brings total payments on the stock this year to $54 a share. The company has been paying $1 monthly and $2 extra. Distributions this year will be the highest in the history of the company. The extra disbursement just voted will mean a payment of more than $5,000,000 to stockholders.

Cutler-Hammer, Inc., makers of industrial machinery, yesterday voted the first dividend on its stock since 1930 and announced that a bonus of 3 per cent of this year's earnings will be paid to all office and shop employés. About 2,500 are employed by the company. The dividend is 25 cents a share and is payable Dec. 16 to stock of record Dec. 5.

CONSUMERS CO. REVISED PLAN IS GIVEN TO COURT

George F. Harding and Martin H. Kennelly, trustees for the Consumers company, Chicago building material, coal, and ice concern, and its subsidiaries, yesterday presented to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson a new plan for the reorganization of the company under section 77B of the bankruptcy act.

The new plan replaces one which the trustees submitted to the court recently and which aroused considerable opposition from security holders. Judge Wilkerson set Dec. 10 for a hearing on the new proposal.

Based on an appraised valuation of assets of $10,726,218, the new plan provides for the redemption of the first mortgage indebtedness from $6,910,804 to $3,584,729. Present bondholders, who are given a half of their securities in new bonds, will be compensated for the remainder of the face value of their bonds, as well as accrued interest, by preferred participation preferred shares in the proposed new company.

RESERVE BOARD TO GET PLAN FOR CREDIT CONTROL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Recommendations of private bankers for the control of possible credit inflation resulting from huge excess reserves in banks probably will be laid before governors of the federal reserve system tomorrow by the system's advisory council.

The council met here today for its last meeting in 1935 and discussed banking developments since the last meeting on Sept. 15. Primary change during the two months has been the influx of 563 million dollars of foreign gold and the resultant increase in excess reserves in commercial banks.

Spurt in Auto Demand Lifts Steel Output

A spurt in steel orders by automobile makers and increased support from railroads, construction and miscellaneous sources combined to lift the operating rate of steel mills in the United States from 54 to 54½ per cent of capacity last week, Iron Age said yesterday in its weekly review.

The journal's scrap composite is now at a new high for the year, reaching $13 a gross ton due to advances of 50c a ton in Chicago and 25 cents a ton at Pittsburgh.

Demand Helps Price.

"Reluctance of many steel producers to advance prices is vanishing," the review says, "as evidences of widening demand become more convincing.

"After weeks of steady but moderate orders from the automobile industry business from that quarter has suddenly swollen to unlooked for proportions. Ford bought 53,000 tons of steel in the last ten days. Chevrolet is buying sheets this week for 100,000 cars, estimated to require 30,000 tons."

Railroads have been spurred to action, the journal says, by the likelihood of an advance in rail prices. The Burlington has placed orders for 20,000 tons of rails and 13,600 tons of fastenings. The St. Louis-San Francisco road has asked for court authority to buy 17,600 tons of rails.

Construction Outlook Better.

Construction business is looking up, according to the review.

Structural steel awards for the week ended Tuesday totaled 11,250 tons, compared with 19,200 tons in the preceding week, and new projects amounted to 14,300 tons, against 17,550 tons a week ago.

GERMAN STEEL ORDER FOR PWA WORK CANCELED

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The 500 tons of sheet steel piling required for construction of an underpass on the Queens approach to the Triborough bridge will be American, not German made, it became known today.

As a result of the widespread indignation aroused when the placing of the $19,000 order abroad became known ten days ago the contractor has canceled his German contract and placed a new order for the steel with the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation of Pittsburgh. The bridge is a PWA project.

Food Index Climbs to New Peak Since Sept. 11, 1930

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Dun & Bradstreet today reported a rise in its weekly food index from $2.73 to $2.78 "in one of the sharpest advances of the year." The current index, the agency said was highest since Sept. 11, 1930.

ANOTHER COUNTY BOND REFUNDING PROGRAM BELIEVED DISCARDED

Another county bond refunding program apparently was discarded yester when Henry Cutler of the law firm of Chapman & Cutler advised county officials that in his opinion the refunding proposal made by Norman S. Taber & Co., municipal finance consultants of New York, could not be effected because of legal obstacles.

While the proposal to refund only a part of the $38,000,000 unmatured bonds would be legal, Cutler said, there are no statutes under which a reserve fund could be accumulated to insure payment of principal and interest on unexchanged bonds when tax collections were insufficient. Moreover, he said, the policy of the courts of the state has established that idle bond funds cannot be accumulated, indicating that new legislation along this line would not stand court tests.

The plan submitted to county officials by the Taber concern had contemplated refunding only a part of unmatured bonds. Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, when advised of Cutler's opinion, said that the only practical plan appears to be one which provides for refunding of the entire county debt which amounts to $48,000,000. Of this total $10,000,000 is past due principal and interest.

COURT EXPECTED TO RULE TODAY ON MIDDLE WEST

A hearing on the proposed reorganization of Middle West Utilities company is scheduled this morning before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Judge Wilkerson has indicated he will bring the case to a conclusion this week and is expected to either approve a plan or enter a decree for liquidation of the company.

Representatives of the bank creditors and noteholders gave no hint yesterday whether they would accept the suggestions for revising their plan made by the court. Failure to accept the proposals of the court would probably mean the liquidation of the company.

So far the bankers and particularly the Bankers Trust company of New York, the largest creditor, have resisted stoutly suggestions for giving the stockholders a larger equity in the new company as proposed by Judge Wilkerson.

STOCKS SWING LOWER ON LATE SELLING WAVE

Losses as High as $3 a Share.

New York, Nov. 20.—The share market came in for another shakeout today as a heavy wave of profit taking swept over the list in the final hour. Price recessions ran as high as 3 points. American Can dropped about $2 a share, United States Steel dipped a point, New York Central gave up a major fraction, United States Smelting eased a shade, and J. I. Case and Westinghouse dropped about 3 points each.

Utility issues bucked the trend for net gains, and the usual scattering of specialties found the situation to their liking and edified followers with sharp runups. Most of the packing shares also looked up a bit, but Morrel gave up three points on a dividend reduction.

Trading was heavy all day, volume running to 3,852,377 shares, the second largest in nearly two years. The ticker tape fell five minutes behind the market during the late deluge.

Sentiment Reported Bullish.

In spite of the brisk run of offerings in some directions brokers said that sentiment was still predominantly bullish and that the disposition generally was to look upon the reaction as nothing more than a needed technical correction. However, some observers attributed the drop to increased unrest over French fiscal troubles and economic hostilities aimed at Italy. Most of the day's business news was favorable.

About a half dozen issues accounted for a million shares of the sales total. This group included Radio, Commonwealth and Southern, United Corporation., International Telephone, Baldwin, and Timken Axle. I. T. & T., the highest priced issue of the group, ranged between $13 and $14 a share, finishing with a fractional gain.

Utility Issues Firm.

Light and power shares got something of a fillip from the reported decision of the United Gas Improvement company not to register under the public utility holding company act, but to seek an injunction restraining the government from attempting to enforce the measure.

Fractional net gains were scored by American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, United Gas Improvement, and others. The group was quite active and strong for a while in the early dealings, but the leaders fell back when the list turned downward.

Rails yielded rather easily to selling pressure. Union Pacific gave up 2 points, Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, and Central dropped a point or so. Louisville and Nashville was an exception, achieving a new yearly top on a rise of about a point before easing back to within a fraction of its previous closing price.

Gold mines were strong, stimulated by the $20 extra of Homestake. Homestake rose 12 points to 412 and McIntyre nearly 2.

Baltimore and Ohio Road Re-Elects All Officers

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway company today reëlected Daniel Willard president of the company. Other officers were also reëlected.

Sec. Wallace Loses a Round in Live Stock Broker's Suit

Two hundred live stock commission men operating at the Chicago Union Stock yards yesterday won the first round in their battle of "self-preservation" against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. A three judge federal court filed a "finding of fact" in which it was indicated the court on Monday will grant them a preliminary injunction preventing Wallace and other federal officials from interfering with collections by the commission men under a new increased rate schedule which the latter initiated Nov. 1 in defiance of Wallace's orders.

H. A. WALLACE.

The new schedule increased rates charged by commission men for handling live stock virtually to the levels prevailing prior to Feb. 3, 1935, when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals upheld an order of Secretary Wallace cutting them one-fifth.

Forced to Boost Charges.

The commission men in their petition asserted they were forced to increase their charges in "self-preservation" because their revenues had fallen to the lowest volume since 1882 because of reduced receipts of live stock and the reduction in commission rates made last spring.

In demanding an injunction the commission men charged that the packers and stock yards act of 1921, under which Wallace sought to make arbitrary changes in commission rates, is unconstitutional because it "empowers an administrative officer to issue orders and make determinations without investigation or hearing, and upon his caprice or whim may nullify acts of congress."

Further Arguments Monday.

Judge Samuel Alschuler of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and Federal District Judges John P. Barnes and James H. Wilkerson, sitting en banc, late yesterday filed their "finding of fact" in which it was announced that further statements by counsel would be heard next Monday.

In March, 1934, Wallace ordered a rate schedule to be charged shippers which was 20 per cent less than the commission men were assessing at that time. An injunction was asked but Wallace was upheld, by the same judges, although a temporary stay was issued, pending an appeal of the ruling to the Supreme court.

Continue at Higher Level.

The commission men thus were allowed to charge the higher rate, but were required to deposit the difference between that ordered and that charged in escrow with the court. Wallace has contended that no new rate can go into effect until the first case has been decided, and refused to file the higher schedule.

The opinion held that market agencies are the primary rate makers of their service, that the commission men's new schedule of rates tendered Wallace was properly filed, and that Wallace's contention that no new schedule could be filed until the appeal had been decided was untenable. His refusal to do so was "arbitrary and without the authority of the law," the ruling said.

BALANCE BUDGET, FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL URGES

Houston, Tex., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A balanced budget, direct federal subsidies to the merchant marine, and additional reciprocal trade agreements similar to the one with Canada were urged today by the National Foreign Trade council, closing its 22d annual convention.

The trade leaders urged stabilization of foreign exchange rates based on gold and repeal of the silver purchase act of 1934.

"Confidence in currencies is impossible so long as national expenditures exceed national incomes," they said. "Budgets must be balanced."

JONES FORCED TO COMPROMISE ON N. Y. C. LOAN

Road to Repay RFC $15,600,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The New York Central railroad has agreed to repay $15,600,000 which it borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, but Jesse H. Jones, RFC chairman, has been forced to compromise with the bankers who accused him of asking them to violate the law in connection with the road's refinancing, it was revealed today.

H. S. VANDERBILT.

The loan, which matures Dec. 1, will be repaid out of the road's $25,000,000 cash balance, Jones announced at his press conference this afternoon. The repayment will be the largest ever received by the RFC from a railroad.

In return the RFC agreed to extend until July 1, 1941, the remaining $11,899,000 which the New York Central owes to it.

Interstate Rate 4 Per Cent.

The extended loan will bear 4 per cent interest provided the road does not pay higher interest to any of the banks which hold 63 million dollars worth of the road's demand notes. These facts were revealed in correspondence between Jones and Harold S. Vanderbilt, a director, which Jones made public.

The correspondence also revealed that Jones had compromised, for the time being, with the bankers who hold the road's demand notes and who had accused him of asking them to engage in a refinancing operation "forbidden by law."

The $15,600,000 loan to the New York Central matured Oct. 1, and prior to that maturity date Jones suggested that the road issue a 90 million dollar 4 per cent bond issue convertible into stock at $25. The RFC loan of 27 millions and the bank loans of 63 millions would be refunded into these bonds with the RFC and the banks each taking 50 per cent of the bonds.

COMBINING
INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATE TRUSTEESHIP

You can give your heirs the double benefit of the broad general experience of a long-established organization and intimate personal knowledge of your affairs by arranging for a co-executorship and co-trusteeship for your estate.

To illustrate—if you are the owner, or part owner, of a highly technical or specialized business, this arrangement should adequately safeguard your heirs. You could appoint one of your business associates and a good trust company as co-executors and co-trustees of your property. Your business associate would supply the intimate personal acquaintance with your affairs, and the trust company the broad general knowledge of estate administration, plus the permanence and financial responsibility of a long-established banking institution. Your business associate would, of course, be relieved of all clerical and routine matters in the handling of your estate.

This bank, with more than a half century of business and financial experience, will be pleased to discuss this question with you and your attorney at any time. Consult any of the officers of our Trust Department on the third floor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Bonds on the New York exchange pursued a rather irregular course today, reflecting the influence of the reactionary movement in the stock market. Loans of higher standing held steady to firm in relatively light trading. Sales increased moderately, amounting to $16,814,000.

Domestic corporation bonds, particularly those of a more speculative nature, were subjected to considerable profit taking during afternoon after earlier advances, and in a majority of cases the gains were more than canceled.

Some of Rails Strong.

There were exceptions to the trend among the rails, however. The issues of the St. Paul and North Western closed at gains ranging from 1⅛ to 3½ points.

American Rolling Mills 4¼s yielded 2 points, while Pressed Steel Car 5s responded to a brisk demand with a net gain of 3½ points. Alleghany and Chesapeake corporation issues were victims of profit-taking and closed lower on the day. Public Utility issues were only mildly responsive to the initial action taken by a large holding company to test the legality of the utility act.

Federal List Steady.

The market for United States government loans held about steady in light trading. Sales totaled slightly more than $1,000,000, against $921,700 on the preceding day.

South American government bonds responded to a brisk demand with advances ranging from fractions to five points. Brazilian loans were prominent in the upswing.

Anaconda Copper Mining.

Investors' Guide: Referring to the recent Anaconda offering: What is your opinion of these as investment for an old couple's savings? We greatly appreciate your past advice and consider your service invaluable.—Mrs. W. A. A.

Answer: Although Anaconda Copper Mining company is primarily a copper producer, its output contains substantial percentages of zinc, silver, and some gold. It holds extensive foreign interests; about two-thirds of copper output comes from its South American and Mexican mines.

The collapse of metal markets in 1931, 1932, and 1933 brought heavy losses to Anaconda, resulting in a substantial increase in bank loans. In October, 1935, the company offered $55,000,000 of 4½ per cent debentures, due 1950, the proceeds of which have been used to liquidate its bank debts.

Generally decreased copper production, coupled with increased demand, as well as the much improved status of the gold and silver markets, put the company back on a profitable basis in 1934. This has continued into 1935.

During the first half of this year the company covered interest requirements on this new issue 3.41 times before depletion. In 1934, on the same basis, such fixed charges were earned 1.32 times. Losses in 1933, 1932, and 1931 were $6,822,000, $16,934,000,, and $3,169,000 respectively. A profit of $18,362,000 was reported for 1930 and $69,116,000 for 1929.

Working capital on June 30, 1935, was only $6,747,000, but this has been increased by substantially the amount of the proceeds from the bond sale.

Minimum sinking fund requirement on the issue is a million dollars a year plus 20 per cent of net income, but not more than $5,500,000 of bonds a year.

No dividends may be paid on the stock, according to the bond indenture, if working capital is less than the lower of $50,000,000 or 1½ times aggregate principal amount of debentures outstanding.

Ford Motor.

Investors' Guide: I would like a list of the original stockholders of the Ford Motor company.—H. W.

PIG IRON CARGO FROM CANADA ARRIVES HERE

A shipment of about 200 tons of spiegeleisen—pig iron containing manganese—from Port Colborne, Canada, comprised a part of a cargo brought to the Chicago district recently by the S. S. Shelter Bay, it was disclosed yesterday.

The pig iron was delivered to the plant of the Inland Steel company at Indiana Harbor, where it will be used in the production of finished steel. This shipment of pig iron is the product of the Port Colborne Furnace company, owned and operated by an American company. While the furnace company uses a great deal of iron ore from the Minnesota fields, it was explained that ore it uses in the manufacure of spiegeleisen largely comes from fields in West Africa. Spiegeleisen contains about 20 per cent manganese. It is used as an alloy in building up steel.

There is a duty on manganese, which is paid either on the ore or when it comes into the country contained in pig iron. E. L. Block, vice president of the Inland Steel company, said the shipment just received was not a particularly large one. The company also manufactures its own pig iron from ore obtained from fields in Minnesota which it controls.

VALUE OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISMENTS IS EXPLAINED BY BLAIR

Milton J. Blair, vice president of the J. Walter Thompson company, advertising agency, told members of the Chicago Purchasing Agents association yesterday that 46.7 per cent of money spent for advertising in 1934 went to buy newspaper space.

To illustrate the effectiveness of large scale advertising, Blair cited results shown by the leading grocery products manufacturers. The analysis revealed that the corporation with the largest advertising expenditure in relation to sales volume also showed the largest percentage of profit per dollar of sales.

"Advertising creates sales volume and mass production, and lowered manufacturing costs result," he said. "Thus, instead of increasing the price, advertising has actually lowered the price you would pay if this business building force were not employed.

"The advertising of bread costs less than the wrapper to keep it fresh and clean. The advertising expense of the whole canned goods industry is estimated to be one-tenth of a cent per can.

SPOT COTTON IN DEMAND; FUTURES CLOSE IRREGULAR

The aggressive demand for spot cotton showed no signs of falling off yesterday and closing trades in Chicago ranged from 12 points higher to 8 points lower, the latter on October. Other markets were 14 points higher to 4 points lower. The south reports spot cotton is being taken as fast as offered by American and foreign mills, and the basis is about the highest of the season.

Spot cotton closed 10 to 15 points higher, with New Orleans, 12.40 cents; Houston and Galveston, 12.15 cents, and New York, 12.35 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound:

POWER OUTPUT AGAIN HITS ALL TIME HIGH MARK

Chicago Total Is Largest Since December, 1930.

Production of electricity throughout the country last week, gaining momentum from increased industrial activity, soared to a new peak for the fourth successive week, according to the Edison Electric institute. Chicago's total was the largest since December, 1930.

The national outturn aggregated 1,938,560,000 kilowatt hours, contrasted with 1,913,684,000 in the preceding week and 1,691,046,000 in the corresponding period last year.

14.6 Pct. Above Last Year.

On a percentage basis last week's figure was 1.3 per cent ahead of the preceding week and 14.6 per cent in advance of the 1934 total. The 14.6 per cent expansion over a year ago constituted the broadest gain to be shown on a year to year basis since April.

Nov. 16	114,954,000	102,997,000	11.6
Nov. 9	112,009,000	101,699,000	10.1
Nov. 2	108,638,000	104,571,000	3.9
Oct. 26	109,871,000	103,741,000	5.9

Central Industrial Area Spurts.

General industry's contribution to the improved showing in demonstrated in the 21.4 per cent increase recorded by the central industrial region's gain over the corresponding 1934 week. In the preceding week the same geographical division reported a 20.4 per cent improvement over 1934.

The Rocky Mountain area again was second with production 17.9 per cent higher. The west central section reported a rise of 17.4 per cent, New England 16.7 per cent, Pacific coast 12.8, southern states 10.7 per cent and middle Atlantic 10.8 per cent.

VAN SWERINGEN SAYS STOCK DEAL WAS AUTHORIZED

Cleveland, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—O. P. Van Sweringen, chairman of the board of the Missouri Pacific railroad, asserted at a deposition hearing today that he discussed with the road's executive committee the disputed purchase of $3,438,016 of the carrier's stocks and bonds.

Special Counsel Fred L. Williams filed an opinion at St. Louis, Mo., in federal court, in which he asserted Van Sweringen should be held personally liable for losses the road suffered in the transaction, holding that the purchases were made without authority from the executive committee.

Burlington May Buy Terminals.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad may make an offer for the terminal properties controled by Alleghany corporation, it was reported today, as a result of Federal Judge Faris' decision in which he permitted trustees for the Missouri Pacific railroad to disaffirm purchase of the properties.

PUBLIC SERVICE, EDISON REPORT GAIN IN GROSS

Higher Costs Result in Small Profits.

Earnings reports for October and the first ten months of 1935 were released yesterday by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Gross revenues reported by the companies were larger for both periods than in 1934. The Edison company's net earnings, however, were below last year for both periods, recting larger operating expenses.

Gross Slightly Higher.

Edison's October gross was $6,651,492, compared with $6,404,773 in October last year. Net income after all charges was $643,527, against $729,458 in 1934. For the ten month period the company reported gross revenues of $64,767,095 and net income of $7,857,444, compared with $62,392,480 and $7,890,181, respectively, for the same period of 1934.

Public Service company's October gross was $3,081,618 and net income $267,989. In October, 1934, the company reported $2,854,293 and $165,869, respectively.

Earnings Increase.

For the ten month period gross revenues were $29,801,445 and net income amounted to $2,524,183, compared with $28,754,870 and $2,264,385, respectively, in the corresponding period last year.

Directors of Public Service yesterday accepted the resignation of George A. Ranney as vice chairman of the parent firm and its investment subsidiary. Ranney is resigning to become chairman of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, the management of which has been divorced from that of Edison and Public Service.

REDUCE TAXES TO CREATE JOBS, HORMEL URGES

Austin, Minn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—If money paid out in taxes could be used for expansion of business instead the idle workers in this country could find jobs, Jay C. Hormel, president of George A. Hormel & Co., meat packers, said at the annual meeting today.

When he entered business in 1915, Hormel said, the tax rates based on the 1925 volume of business would have made a tax of about $40,000 a year. By 1925, with rates rising, taxes mounted to $207,000, an increase of $167,000.

"That means," he said, "that, at the 1925 tax, the ability of this company to expand its business and increase employment over a ten year period was impaired to the extent of $1,670,000."

By this year, he said, the company's tax bill had grown to $345,000 and comparison with the 1915 rate showed the business' ability to expand was impaired to the extent of $3,140,000. Operation of old age and unemployment insurance legislation will add $240,000 a year to the company's taxes, he estimated, increasing impairment over another ten year period to $5,500,000.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—COTTON—Gray goods were fairly active today and prices were strong. Good inquiry developed for finish cottons. Rayon yarns were firm and in active demand for near shipments. Raw silk again was unchanged with trading very quiet. Wool goods sales were moderate. Burlaps were strong on firm Indian cables.

WESTINGHOUSE AIR BRAKE PLANS CAPITAL CUT AND $2 RETURN

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Directors of the Westinghouse Air Brake company have called a special meeting of stockholders to vote on a proposed reduction in stated capital from $47,581,661 to $34,893,218, creating $4 a share capital surplus out of which the board proposes to pay $2 a share as a return of capital, in 25 cents a share quarterly distributions beginning April 30, 1936.

To provide the cash return the board proposes the gradual sale of approximately $6,000,000 of the $16,000,000 marketable securities held by the company. The reason for the instalment payments of 25 cents quarterly is given as "to assure more advantageous liquidation of the large amount of securities involved."

"While the expectation of a definite improvement in the business situation seems waranted, your board feels that the continuance of ordinary dividend payments after Jan. 31, 1936, must await the realization of future earnings, but if these proposals are favorably acted upon the stockholders may expect a payment of at least 25 cents per share per quarter for the two years commencing April 30, 1936. This is twice the rate of ordinary dividends which have been currently paid."

TRADE TREATIES TERMED THREAT TO PROTECTION

Reciprocal trade agreements already entered into by the United States, and others in the process of negotiations may destroy protection against foreign competition now enjoyed by American farmers and manufacturers, members of the American Paper and Pulp association meeting in the Drake hotel, were told yesterday by F. J. Sansenbrenner, president of the association and head of the Kimberly-Clark corporation.

Sansenbrenner pointed out that in an action brought in the Customs court of New York the act authorizing such agreements has been construed by the plaintif as decreasing the tarif on corn imported from Argentina.

"If this case is won by the importer," he said, "corn from any part of the world must be admitted at half the rate originally fixed by congress."

Cites Losses Suffered in Canadian Experiment.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Experiences of Canada and other nations with government ownership of railroads should serve as a warning to any groups who advocate similar ownership in the United States, Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific system, declared yesterday before the National Industrial Trafic league, an association of shippers, truck firms, and railroads, at the Palmer house.

"Results of operations in Canada speak for themselves," Gray said. "Public monies have been poured into the government-owned Canadian National to duplicate facilities afforded by its privately owned competitor—the Canadian Pacific."

Operating Results Compared.

Gray said that in the last twelve years the privately owned Canadian Pacific had a net operating income of $338,000,000 compared with a $77,250,000 deficit of the Canadian National for the same period.

"It is impossible in government ownership to escape political action and influence," Gray continued, "and without being malicious it is fair to say that there is nothing in the operation of government the world over which reflects a favorable comparison in efficiency or in service at a reasonable charge which does not produce a deficit which the taxpayer must absorb."

The new interstate commerce commission regulation of highway trafic, Gray said, is a natural step and should be advantageous to railroads, shippers and travelers.

Urge Highway Development.

The league passed a resolution demanding that federal transportation control insure that highway development be continued in the best interest of shippers. Another resolution urged that railroads be prohibited from operating highway truck lines paralleling their tracks, on the ground that this would tend toward transportation monopoly.

Members of the league approved a recommendation to move the league's headquarters from Chicago to Washington, D. C.

Joseph H. Beek, executive secretary of the organization since 1920, announced his retirement. Edward F. Lacey, assistant secretary since 1916, was elected to succeed Beek.

UTILITY ISSUES OF $57,799,000 OFFERED TODAY

Kansas Power to Acquire Four Affiliates.

Three large public utility loans will be placed on the market today. One consists of a new issue of $30,000,000 first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, due 1965, of the Kansas Power and Light company, which will be offered by an underwriting group headed by the First Boston corporation, at 103 and interest.

The next largest is a new issue of $22,799,000 department of water and power of the city of Los Angeles, Cal., electric plant revenue 4 per cent refunding bonds of 1935. The bonds, which are dated Dec. 2, 1935, and mature serially from Dec. 1, 1939, to 1975, inclusive, are offered by a group headed by Brown, Harriman & Co., at prices to yield 2.25 to 3.90 per cent.

Iowa Southern Finances.

The third issue is $5,000,000 of first and refunding mortgage 5½ per cent bonds of the Iowa Southern Utilities company of Delaware, offered by a group headed by W. C. Langley & Co., at 99 and interest.

The Kansas Power issue is a part of an operation to simplify its corporate structure and to finance the acquisition of four companies. Kansas Power plans to acquire all the assets of its two active subsidiaries, the United Power and Light corporation [Kansas] and the McPherson Gas company, and the properties of Public Service Company of Kansas and the People's Ice and Fuel company, which are subsidiaries of North American Light and Power company.

Proceeds from the sale of the Los Angeles bonds will be used to refund a debt owed to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for five separate loans, maturing in instalments from 1937 to 1945.

Boston Issue Offered.

A banking syndicate headed by First Boston corporation was the successful bidder for a new issue of $4,665,000 City of Boston various bonds on a bid of 100.0599 for the entire issue as 2¼s. The bonds were reoffered to the public at prices to yield 0.50 to 2.50 for the serial bonds maturing from Dec. 1, 1936, to 1955, and at a price of 93 for those maturing on Dec. 1, 1965.

St. Paul, Minn., will enter the investment market again on Dec. 10, with a new issue of $1,000,000 sewer bonds. They will be dated Dec. 1, 1935, and mature serially from Dec. 1, 1938 to 1965. Bidders are asked to name an interest rate not exceeding 5 per cent.

Detroit, Mich., has called for redemption $4,569,000 of water refunding bonds. The issue comprises $3,700,000 of 4½ per cent series C, due Aug. 1, 1962, called for redemption on Feb. 1, 1936; $119,000 of 4½ per cent series A, due March 1, 1963, to be redeemed March 1, 1936, and $750,000 of 4½ per cent series A, due March 15, 1963, to be redeemed March 15, 1936.

CHICAGO STOCKS CLOSE LOWER IN HEAVY TRADING

Stocks on the Chicago exchange moved lower yesterday in trading which reached a volume of 98,000 shares. However, seventeen new price peaks for the year were reached before a reaction set in.

Zenith Radio in active trade rose to a new peak of 14¼, but closed at 13½. Commonwealth Edison declined ½ point, while Public Service common and no par advanced 1½ and 1 points, respectively. General Household Utilities, now in the courts under section 77B of the bankruptcy act, dropped 1⅛ points to close at 1⅞.

The exchange governing committee approved the application of the Masonite corporation to list 266,689 shares of no par common stock. These shares will be admitted to trading on receipt of a registration order from the SEC.

JONES IS FORCED TO COMPROMISE ON N. Y. C. LOAN

Railroad to Repay RFC $15,600,000.

holding the road's demand notes bitterly attacked the Jones' suggestion. The banks declared the proposal that they take and sell 50 per cent of the convertible bonds would put them in the underwriting business in violation of law.

Vanderbilt and the banks chided Jones further for discussing the road's position in the press. Jones replied heatedly that he did not ask the banks to violate the law and that he would discuss RFC operations publicly if he wished. The upshot was that he extended the $15,600,000 loan until Dec. 1.

Today's solution of the problem put off until the indefinite future the question of refunding the RFC and bank loan still outstanding. Jones said, however, that he thought the road could refinance the remaining loans "into some kind of a bond" after the first of the year. The type of bond to be issued has not been determined, he said.

30 Day Redemption Clause.

The notes which the New York Central will give the RFC as collateral for the $11,899,000 loan extended until 1941 will carry the provision that they may be redeemed upon 30 days' notice, thus paving the way for a refunding. The redemption price will be par and accrued interest if the notes are still held by the RFC; a premium of one-half of 1 per cent per year for the unexpired term of the notes will be added if the notes are sold by the RFC to some other holder prior to redemption.

Jones specifically added that repayment of the $15,600,000 Dec. 1 will not prejudice the right of the road to apply for further loans in the future if necessary.

Jones said he saw "no reason" why a $3,100,000 Southern railway system loan due Dec. 20 should not be extended. He said collateral for this loan was sufficient.

Department of Water and Power of The City of Los Angeles

Electric Plant Revenue Bonds, Refunding Issue, 1935

Coupon Rate 4%

Dated December 2, 1935 Due Serially December 1, 1939 to 1975, Incl.

Not Subject to Redemption Prior to December 1, 1945

Redeemable in whole or in part, at the option of the department on December 1, 1945, or on any interest payment date thereafter, upon thirty days' prior published notice, at 107 if redeemed on or prior to June 1, 1950, at 106 thereafter on or prior to June 1, 1955, at 105 thereafter on or prior to June 1, 1960, at 104 thereafter on or prior to June 1, 1965, at 103 thereafter on or prior to June 1, 1970, and at 102 on or after December 1, 1970; in each case plus accrued interest. In the event of redemption of less than all of the bonds outstanding, redemptions are to be made in inverse order of maturities.

Interest exempt, in the opinion of counsel, from all federal income taxes under present laws.

These Bonds are payable, both as to principal and interest, solely out of the power revenue fund established by the Charter of The City of Los Angeles in which are required to be deposited all revenues pertaining to the electric works of the City.

The following is a brief outline of certain information contained in the offering circular and is subject in all respects to the more detailed statements in such offering circular, which also contains important information not outlined or indicated hereunder. Offering of the bonds is made only by means of such offering circular which should be read prior to any purchase of these bonds:

BUREAU OF POWER AND LIGHT The department of water and power is a department of the city of Los Angeles, comprised of two bureaus, known as the bureau of power and light and the bureau of water works and supply. The funds of the two bureaus are, by law, kept separate and distinct and may not be used for any purposes other than the purposes of the respective bureaus, as provided by law. All revenues received by the two bureaus are required to be deposited in designated revenue funds. In the case of the bureau of power and light this fund is known as the power revenue fund. The properties of the electric system, which are owned in fee by the city, are operated by the department through the bureau of power and light. The operations of the two bureaus, except in connection with certain joint facilities, are likewise carried on separately. The bureau of power and light does approximately two-thirds of the electric business within the city of Los Angeles.

ASSETS The fiscal position of the bureau of power and light, year by year, since 1920 is depicted in the statement described "historical financial status," which is presented in the offering circular and which must be read in conjunction with the notes thereon and appended thereto. The following figures as at June 30, for the years 1933-1935, inclusive, have been taken from the said statement.

As at June 30	Plant and Equipment	Net Working Capital	Total Assets	Bonds and Notes Outstanding	Depreciation Reserve	Surplus
1933	$76,337,733	$8,912,257	$87,902,541	$35,216,000	$10,284,678	$40,304,368
1934	83,893,941	7,957,326	94,471,245	37,717,000	11,996,862	43,791,458
1935	94,541,716	10,621,548	107,865,973	44,789,000	13,475,491	47,708,961

EARNINGS The "condensed annual income statements" of the Bureau of Power and Light, as presented in the offering circular, which must be read in connection with the notes thereon and appended thereto, show the following:

Years Ended June 30	Gross Earnings	Operating Balance	Depreciation	Interest on Bonds and Other Interest	Other Deductions	Surplus Earnings
1934	14,332,941	7,267,374	2,086,899	1,528,385	....	3,652,090

The total long-term indebtedness of the bureau as at June 30, 1935, adjusted to give effect to this financing, amounts to $57,230,520.81. Annual interest requirements on such debt amount to $2,498,758. The offering circular outlines in some detail the rate situation, the contract with the United States Government in respect of electrical energy from Boulder Dam, and other matters affecting the income of the bureau.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE The bonds are to be issued to refund the debt of the Department of Water and Power to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, evidenced by notes of the department, covering five separate loans, aggregating $22,799,000.

RESERVE FUND By resolution of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners, approved by the City Council, a fund designated as "Electric Plant Revenue Bond, Refunding Issue, 1935, Reserve Fund" is created, the moneys in which can be used for no other purpose than the payment of principal and interest on the bonds of this issue. Provision is made for the apportionment and setting apart in the said Reserve Fund, out of the Power Revenue Fund, of sums such that at least the minimum amount required by the terms of the bonds of this issue shall at all times be so set apart in said Reserve Fund.

RATES The Board has also, by resolution, covenanted to fix, and the Council has, by ordinance, agreed to approve the fixing of, rates for electric energy distributed by it, such as to provide revenues sufficient to pay, as the same shall become due, the principal of and interest on all bonds of this issue, in addition to the necessary expenses of maintaining the electric works of the department and all other obligations and indebtedness payable out of the Power Revenue Fund.

NO PRIOR CHARGE The Board has, further, by resolution, covenanted not to consent to, nor, in so far as lies within its power, permit, the creation of any charge of any kind on the Power Revenue Fund having priority over the bonds of this issue without the consent of the holders of at least sixty per cent in aggregate principal amount of the bonds then outstanding, exclusive of any of the said bonds held by the department, given at a meeting of bondholders, provisions for the calling of which have been adopted by the Board.

ADDITIONAL INDEBTEDNESS The Board has also, by resolution, declared it to be its intention and policy not to incur any additional indebtedness payable out of the Power Revenue Fund, except with similar consent of bondholders, unless certain ratios between net income and interest charges, on the one hand, and earned surplus and total liabilities, on the other (defined in detail in the resolution, to which reference is made), are maintained.

TRANSFER OUT OF POWER REVENUE FUND The Board has also, by resolution, declared it to be its intention and policy not to consent to any transfer, under the provisions of Section 382 of the city charter, or otherwise, out of the Power Revenue Fund, unless with similar consent of bondholders, in excess, in any year, of net income, after interest and depreciation, of the Electric Works, or which will result in the earned surplus account of the department equaling less than 33 1/3% of total liabilities then outstanding payable out of the Power Revenue Fund.

GRAINS DECLINE FRACTIONALLY IN DULL TRADE

Favorable Weather Halts Advance in Corn Prices.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

When trading ended yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade wheat futures were selling a half cent a bushel below Tuesday's closing price level and corn was quoted ¾ cent a bushel lower. Activity in all the grain pits was quiet.

Of more interest to traders than the action of the market were the new reports received from Canada of an impending change in the dominion wheat board policy. It was said a government committee is studying two alternative schemes designed to bring about a big reduction in the government's holding.

Two Plans Contemplated.

One plan contemplates the gradual sale of the 200 million bushel surplus over a period of years so as not to disturb the existing world price structure, it was reported. The second plan would call for liquidation of the holdings as rapidly as possible but not at distress prices.

In neither case, it is said, would the 87½ cents a bushel minimum price guaranteed to farmers by the Bennett government be reduced. Under either program of liquidation it would appear that the government faces a loss.

Canada Checks All Markets.

The bearing of the Canadian situation on all world markets and the continued uncertainty over the government policy constitutes an effective check on speculative activity.

Wheat advanced slightly in both Liverpool and Winnipeg yesterday. Export sales of wheat by Canada were reported fair in volume.

The holders of said bonds so called for redemption are hereby notified that upon presentation on December 1, 1935, of said bonds together with interest coupons maturing on and after December 1, 1935, at the office of the Trustee, Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, 231 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, said bonds will be redeemed by payment of the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to December 1, 1935, and a redemption premium of one and one-half per centum (1½%) of such principal. Interest on said bonds shall cease from and after December 1, 1935.

CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY OF CHICAGO, Trustee.
By H. P. SMITH,
Assistant Secretary.

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION
ALL 230 NORTH MICHIGAN AVENUE BUILDING CORPORATION SIX PER CENT FIRST MORTGAGE BUILDING AND LEASEHOLD GOLD BONDS [COMMONLY KNOWN AS CARBIDE AND CARBON BUILDING BONDS.]

NOTICE has been duly given that, in accordance with the provisions of Section 4 of Article V of the Indenture of mortgage or trust deed made as of the fifteenth day of May, 1928, by 230 North Michigan Avenue Building Corporation to The Bank of America [now Central Republic Trust Company], as Trustee, securing the payment of the principal of and interest on the Six Per Cent First Mortgage Building and Leasehold Gold Bonds issued by said 230 North Michigan Avenue Building Corporation under date of the fifteenth day of May, 1928, the assign of said 230 North Michigan Avenue Building Corporation and owner of the leasehold estate and all other interests and property conveyed and mortgaged by said Indenture to said Trustee to secure the payment of the principal of and interest on said Bonds, has duly elected to prepay and redeem on January 1, 1936, all of the unmatured said Bonds then outstanding, aggregating in principal amount $2,965,000, and being Bonds Nos. 1395 to 5410, both numbers inclusive, by paying in cash the principal thereof at par and all accrued interest thereon due at the date of such payment, together with a premium of one per cent upon the principal of said Bonds so prepaid and redeemed, all of said Bonds to cease to bear interest January 1, 1936.

Said Bonds may be presented for payment on or after January 1, 1936, to Greenebaum Sons Investment Company at No. 11 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, as provided in the said Indenture of mortgage or trust deed, or, at the option of the holder of any of said Bonds, to City National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago at No. 208 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, and must be accompanied by the interest coupons maturing July 1, 1936, and all subsequent interest coupons. The interest coupons maturing January 1, 1936, should be detached and presented in the usual manner, accompanied by all necessary ownership certificates required by the Federal Income Tax Law and Regulations. Registered Bonds must be accompanied by proper instruments of transfer.

Dated November 1, 1935.

WILLIAM L. O'CONNELL,
As Receiver of Central Republic Trust Company.

——— EX-CONVICT. ———

Two years' experience in a penal institution of high national standing. Contrary to Lombroso's theories, I am minus the underslung jaw, taking ways and baby-killing ambitions. My references [jail included] describe me as young, traveled, an excellent secretary-stenographer-correspondent, and possessed of business judgment [apologies to press agents]. While the market for penal alumni is admittedly in a slump, here's an "Ex" who believes his value to an employer is enhanced BECAUSE of the experience, and, for a good judge of human nature, I am and will be a good investment. WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Distant Future

MISS WINKLE, I HOPE YOU'LL APPRECIATE THAT I AM 61 YEARS OLD, WHILE YOU ARE JUST A YOUNG GIRL!! AND YET I AM VERY MUCH IN LOVE WITH YOU!
I'M SURE THAT IF WE WERE MARRIED I COULD MAKE YOU HAPPY! WE COULD LIVE QUIETLY FOR A FEW YEARS—THEN SPEND ABOUT 5 YEARS TRAVELING! THEN WE COULD SETTLE DOWN FOR AWHILE!
IF WE GET BORED HERE WE COULD LIVE IN EUROPE AFTER THAT FOR SEVEN OR EIGHT YEARS!
-ER-JUST A MINUTE, MR. CUTTING!
HOW OLD DID YOU SAY YOU WERE?

MARINELLO—"The Preferred Training."

If You Want the Best Training

There are so many schools advertising courses in beauty culture that all of them can't be best. Which one will you select? It's a very important decision and care should be taken in the selection of the proper school. Your success depends to a large extent upon your decision.

MARINELLO'S record of 55,000 graduates in the past 33 years cannot even be approached by any other school in the world. Visit any high class beauty salon. Ask them what they think of the Marinello System. Then talk to our Representative.

NOW! Marinello Offers

Easy pay-as-you-learn plan. Complete instruments, textbooks, uniforms, and all cosmetics furnished without charge if you enroll for day or evening classes now forming!

BURNHAM'S
(for 64 years the world's largest beauty school)
Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan, with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.
Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

...."Send Us a DeLEE Graduate"

Every day shop owners are offering good paying positions to DeLEE graduates. We have been having more calls for operators than we have graduates. Think what that means to YOU. It means that if you receive your beauty culture and hairdressing training at DeLEE you will qualify for one of these good paying, pleasant positions. It won't take long, either, because the DeLEE individual, personalized method of instruction makes learning easy.

ETHIOPIAN FORCES HURL ITALIANS BACK IN BATTLES ON SOUTHERN FRONTIER—Italian troops shown building roads as they advanced on Makale on the northern front in Ethiopia. The war's spotlight shifted to the southern front yesterday, with the defenders reporting victories over the invaders. The reports said the Ethiopians killed more than 150 Somalis when they ambushed a train of 72 Italian trucks. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

SANTA FE'S DIESEL-ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE CATCHES FIRE IN NEW MEXICO ON TEST RUN—The two unit Super-Chief, which left here at 7 p. m. Tuesday on speed run to Los Angeles. Proceeding west of Gallup, N. M., yesterday, the forward locomotive caught fire and was disabled. Two railroad officials were slightly injured. The train backed up to Gallup and then proceeded under steam power. (Story on page 1.)

KILLED—Sadie Mitkowski, struck down by auto after starting for home with youthful escort. (Story on page 3.)
